'NORTH UNITS IN SOUTH'

. . . McNamara: 'More Flagrant'

Washington (AP) — Heavy Communist casualties in South Viet Nam have forced North Viet Nam to start sending regular army units into battle there, Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said Monday.

McNamara reported in a nationally televised news conference this new turn in what he called "progressively more flagrant and unconstrained" aggression by North Viet Nam.

Evidence gathered in the last month, McNamara said, has confirmed the presence in a central highlands province of a battalion of the regular North Vietnamese army.

McNamara said, "There is no military requirement for the use of nuclear weapons in the current situation."

He added that no useful purpose can be served by "speculation on remote contingencies" in which such weapons might be brought into play.

This did not alter a disclosure over the weekend that the U.S. government is retaining the option to use nuclear weapons in North Viet Nam in the proper circumstances—perhaps, for example, if Communist China should enter the war on a mass scale.

McNamara discussed the situation against a background of nearly three months of almost daily U.S. and South Vietnamese air bombing of highways, railroads, bridges and other targets on the North Vietnamese routes used to infiltrate men and arms into South Viet Nam.

"The carefully controlled air strikes will continue as necessary to impede the infiltration and to persuade the North Vietnamese leadership that their aggression against the south must stop," McNamara said.

Red Morale Hurt

The defense secretary said the air attacks have wrecked 24 bridges, have slowed the infiltration and "significantly and adversely affected the morale of the Viet Cong troops in the south."

But he said "we have not stopped" the infiltration" and we surely have not isolated the battlefield"

McNamara said recent captures indicate that about 75% of the Communists infiltrated into South Viet Nam during 1964 were born in North Viet Nam.

"Many of the recent captives are young draftees called into infiltration units that marched south through Laos in units 500-600 strong," McNamara said.

Drying Up

He declared it is clear that the North Vietnamese Communists are determined to keep up support of the insurgency in the south "despite the drying up of the supply of former southerners who were ordered north" after the partition of the country in 1954

"The latest step is the covert infiltration of a regular combat unit of the North Vietnamese army into South Viet Nam," McNamara said.

He said the unit has been identified as the 2nd Battalion of the 101st Regiment, 325th Division, of the Peoples Army of North Viet Nam.

In the past 4½ years, McNamara said, the Communists have lost 89,000 killed in South Viet Nam.

With that, plus the expansion of the Viet Cong forces in the south, you can see the heavy drain upon the filler resources in the north and the reason why they have to go to their regular military units to continue the supply of men," McNamara said.

'They Need Them'

"The supply is absolutely essential to them if they are to offset the continuing casualties." McNamara added.

He said infiltration last year probably totaled at least 20 000 men and acknowledged that "our original estimates were low" for last year and the year before

The South Vietnamese government forces "are suffering casualties at rates higher than we have ever experienced in our history," he said. He did not give the figures on this but cited it as evidence of South Vietnamese courage and determination.

On weapons and equipment, McNamara said the great bulk of the guns and ammunition used by the Viet Cong now come from Communist China via North Viet Nam.

$250,000 In U.S. Aid Set For Lincoln

Washington (UPI) — Federal departments Monday notified Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., of plans to spend more than $250,000 on training and education projects at Lincoln, Neb

The Departments of Labor and of Health, Education and Welfare will sponsor two manpower development and training projects in the Lincoln Public Schools.

An 18-week session will train 100 persons to be retail clerks, at a cost of $146,500.

A six-week course will provide nurses' training for 120 unemployed or under-employed persons at a cost of $45,075.

A $60,130 office of education grant to the State Education Department is earmarked for training teachers in the education of handicapped children.

Regarding the announcement, Don McKenzie, in charge of manpower development and training in the State said

"These projects have been given federal approval, but as yet our office has not beer notified that the funds are available."

He said the project will start from four to six weeks after the funding has been completed by the federal government

Don Sherrill, director of special education for the State Department of Education, was unavailable for comment on the some $60,000 grant earmarked for training teachers in the education of the handicapped.

Steel Offers Pay Boost If Union Stalls Strike

Pittsburgh (AP)—Top union and industry negotiators proposed Monday to head off Saturday's scheduled steel strike by exchanging a four-month postponement for a temporary pay raise of 11.5 cents an hour

"I'm very optimistic," said United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald after working out the proposed agreement in a private meeting with chief industry negotiator R. Conrad Cooper.

Ratification of the agreement by the union's wage policy committee at a meeting scheduled for Wednesday was reported a virtual certainty McDonald said he would urge approval

"This is not, however, a final figure for a settlement," McDonald said, in emphasizing the union still wants 17.9 cents an hour in increased wages Steelworkers now make about $4 40 an hour

If no final settlement is reached by Aug 1, McDonald said either side could terminate the temporary agreement on a 30-day notice.

"This means that, if the union and the companies are not able to reach final agreement, a strike or lock-out could occur on Aug. 31," McDonald said.

Any final settlement reached during the four-month postponement would not be retroactive. The union dropped this demand in exchange for the flat 11.5 cent offer, sources said.

Federal Help

Chief federal mediator William E. Simkin helped work out the compromise proposal

If a final settlement is reached, the nearly 500,000 steelworkers would receive the money set aside for them at the rate of 11.5 cents an hour per man.

McDonald also outlined other union contract demands that must be met in any final settlement.

"They include greatly increased pensions, early retirement, improved insurance and total job security," he said

McDonald said the proposal he reached with Cooper has been approved by union Secretary-Treasurer I. W Abel, McDonald's opponent for the union presidency, as well as by the chairmen of the union negotiating committees for the 11 major companies involved in the negotiations.

McDonald gave the details of the agreement only after reports had leaked out. He said he would have preferred to keep the terms of the proposal secret until Wednesday's wage policy committee meeting.

McDonald said he decided to release the full details to avoid any chance of a misunderstanding that might prejudice approval by the committee.

Student Arrested In Artwork Theft

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

University of Nebraska student Melvin Richard Hayward, 24, of 1619 E, was arrested by the Lincoln FBI office here Monday in connection with the August, 1962, theft of a Benjamin West painting, 'The Golden Age," from the NU Morrill Hall former art gallery.

The warrant for Hayward's arrest was issued by the U.S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., last Wednesday following an indictment by a federal grand jury there.

The indictment, according to Charles H. De Ford, special agent in charge of the Omaha Division of the FBI, charged that "Hayward (1) did transport or cause to be transported the painting "Golden Age," valued at more than $5,000, from Lincoln, Nebraska, to the district of Baltimore and (2) that he received, concealed or stored this painting knowing same to have been stolen in violation of U.S. Code, Title 18 ,Sections 2314 and 2315."

Arraigned

Hayward was arraigned Monday afternoon before U.S Commissioner C. M. Pierson who set bond at $3,000 at the recommendation of the Baltimore prosecution. A preliminary hearing on Hayward's removal to Baltimore was set tentatively for Friday.

The accused student is classified at the University as a sophomore majoring in history. At the time the painting was reported missing, Aug 25, 1962, Hayward was taking extension courses at NU while stationed at Lincoln Air Force Base.

West's "Golden Age," an early American major work painted in 1777 and insured for $6,500 was not recovered until almost a year after the theft. A Baltimore art dealer received an anonymous phone call of an offer to sell the painting for what he called a "suspiciously low price—$750.

The next morning, July 26, 1963, the dealer heard a knock on his door. When he opened it, the "Golden Age" painting fell in. He turned it over to FBI agents.

A hospital attendant, Charles August Wenige of Baltimore, was arrested by the FBI a few days later on charges of interstate transportation of stolen property. Federal charges filed against Wenige were later dismissed in favor of state charges of larceny and possession of stolen goods.

Found Guilty

Wenige was found guilty in a Maryland court, Sept. 15, 1964.

Another painting, "Doune Castle," by Jasper Francis, valued at $500, which was discovered missing at the same time as the West art piece, was recovered through Wenige's attorney at the time of his arrest.

The FBI office said that it could not officially say whether Wenige got the two paintings directly from the accused Hayward.

Hayward was originally from a town outside Baltimore, according to FBI reports.

A painting stolen Sept. 17, 1961, and valued at more than $2,000 was returned to the University galleries late in August, 1963, with a Baltimore postmark and a fictitious return address. This returned work is "Italian Landscape" by George Inness.

Death Penalty Bill Killed 5-1; Spending Ceiling Plan Fails

A bill to abolish the death penalty in Nebraska was killed Monday on a 5-1 vote of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee.

The group at the same executive session came within one vote of introducing a new bill proposing a constitutional amendment to limit state spending to 1¼% of the total assessed tangible property valuation in the state.

The vote to introduce was 4-3, but five votes were needed. One committee member was absent and the issue could be raised in committee again at a scheduled session Tuesday.

The vote on the constitutional amendment proposal followed a supporting appearance before the committee of Philip Anderson, a Crete businessman and head of a recently formed "Citizens Voice for Sensible Spending."

Anderson said the state spending limitation idea is part of a budding nationwide movement. He said Nebraska backers have been working on the idea for a couple of years.

He said the constitutional limitation on spending represents a "sensible solution" to the tug of war between government and individual liberty

The only opposition testimony came from Sen. Kenneth Bowen of Red Cloud, speaker of the Legislature and member of the Judiciary Committee.

He said that as much as anybody, he favors limited state spending. But "instead of putting roadblocks into the constitution," the Legislature should "live up to our responsibilities."

He pointed that the property is steadily losing its position as a basis for measuring ability to pay.

Would Cut Back

Under Anderson's proposal, in the event the Legislature overspent, the governor would cut back appropriations on a pro-rated basis. The constitutional limit could be exceeded on a four-fifths vote of the Legislature and approval of the governor to meet emergencies.

Bowen said the effect of the amendment would be for the Legislature to pass appropriations bills freely, knowing the governor would be doing the cutting back.

The bill to abolish capital punishment, LB466, encountered the same fate that befell a similar measure two years ago—death in committee. Similar bills actually have showed up every two years for years The cold reception accorded them in recent sessions has been blamed on the Charles Starkweather killing spree in 1958 and the sharp memory of it. Starkweather died in the electric chair

Opposed by Morrison

LB466 received a three hour hearing two weeks ago, highlighted by a supporting appearance by Gov. Frank Morrison, who termed the death penalty "nothing more than legalized murder "

The bill was introduced by Lincoln Sen. John Knight

The committee Monday heard and advanced an unopposed bill, LB866, revising provisions for assessments and bond payments for paving, curbing and guttering for second class cities and villages

In espousing the constitutional limitation on spending, Anderson calculated that present spending approximates 1.15 to 1.17% of assessed tangible property valuation. He contended that assessed value as a yardstick, while not perfect, is "the best index of the need for government services that we have."

He cited Ohio and Wisconsin as states suffering ill effects from inflated state budgets.

Committee Favors Public Power Consolidation On Wholesale Level

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Public Works Committee Monday night decided to place major emphasis in its study of proposed public power reorganization plans on a bill which would accomplish consolidation at the wholesale level.

Major attention will be placed upon LB764, a proposal to consolidate under one board of directors the generation and transmission activities of Loup River Public Power District, Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District and Consumers Public Power District.

Following an informal 2½-hour session Monday night, the committee authorized Chairman Cecil Craft of North Platte and Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth to confer with the attorney general to determine legal problems involved in wholesale consolidation.

'See How Far'

"We will try to meet with the attorney general Tuesday to see how far we can go in reorganization," Craft said.

Not only will LB764 be discussed, Craft noted, but also "less drastic proposals along the same line."

Band Indentures

Involved in the legal discussions, Craft said, will be bond indentures of the districts involved, their operating agreements and all other contracts and commitments.

LB764 provides that the wholesale operations of Loup Platte and Consumers would be consolidated under a single nine-member board. The new board would govern the transmission grid system throughout the state, except for the area served by the Omaha Public Power District.

The measure would continue OPPD and Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District without change.

Supported

LB764 is supported by most rural electric districts and Consumers. A majority if municipal utility representatives who testified at a public hearing on the bill also endorsed the proposal.

The bill is opposed by Loup and Platte.

Among other reorganization proposals before the committee are measures to divide the state into six integrated power districts; merge Loup and Platte, which today contractually form the Nebraska Public Power System, and form an integrated Southeast Nebraska Public Power District in five counties.

Craft said the committee will continue its power deliberations Wednesday following its scheduled public hearings.

U.S. Sea Force Near Dominican Republic

Santo Domingo (AP)—The U S Navy late Monday posted the carrier Boxer and 1,500 Marines off the Dominican Republic where military leaders battled for power with planes and guns Army rebels gave weapons to thousands of civilians to help their revolt

The State Department in Washington said the Boxer and other U.S. warships were in the vicinity of the strife-torn country to evacuate Americans if it becomes necessary. There are about 2,300 Americans and their dependents in the country.

The ships were understood to be operating just out of sight of Santo Domingo where army rebels put weapons in the hands of thousands of civilians to support a revolt staged to bring exiled ex-President Juan D. Bosch back to power

Junta Ousted

The rebels overthrew a U.S-supported civilian junta Sunday, but military leaders then split over a new government for the Caribbean nation — still striving for stable rule after the 1961 upheaval that ended the Trujillo dictatorship.

Santo Domingo was quiet Monday night after a day of repeated strafings by air force pilots opposed to the return of Bosch. Military patrols ranged the streets.

The Roman Catholic Church and a group of foreign diplomats were reported to have issued appeals for an end to the fighting.

Severo Nabbed

Angel Severo Cabral, former diplomat and political leader, was arrested on charges of broadcasting from a transmitter in his home that the army rebels were under the direction of Communits Cuba, the Soviet Union and Red China.

One factor that led to the overthrow of Bosch in 1963 was a charge that Communists had infiltrated his administration.

Late in the day, air force pilots opposed to Bosch's return here from Puerto Rico strafed the transmitter of Radio Santo Domingo outside the city just after provisional President Rafael Molina Urena, a Bosch lieutenant, broadcast an appeal for unity. The station went off the air.

12 Killed

Twelve persons, including a 6-year-old girl, were reported killed during the day in attacks by planes and in a gun fight across a bridge. A rocket- firing plane shot a hole in a wall of the presidential palace.

The United States moved warships close to the Dominican coast in November 1961 during the political upheaval that followed the overthrow of the Trujillo dynasty. Secretary of State Dean Rusk said at the time the Unied States was prepared to send in troops if the then president, Balaguer, asked for help to prevent restoration of a Trujillo dictatorship. They were not needed.

Steel Offers Pay Boost If Union Stalls Strike

Pittsburgh (AP)—Top union and industry negotiators proposed Monday to head off Saturday's scheduled steel strike by exchanging a four-month postponement for a temporary pay raise of 11.5 cents an hour.

Student Arrested In Artwork Theft

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON

University of Nebraska student Melvin Richard Hayward, 24, of 1619 E, was arrested by the Lincoln FBI office here Monday in connection with the August, 1962, theft of a Benjamin West painting, "The Golden Age," from the NU Morrill Hall former art gallery.

The warrant for Hayward's arrest was issued by the U.S. District Court in Baltimore, Md., last Wednesday following an indictment by a federal grand jury there.

The indictment, according to Charles H. De Ford, special agent in charge of the Omaha Division of the FBI, charged that "Hayward (1) did transport or cause to be transported the painting "Golden Age," valued at more than $5,000, from Lincoln, Nebraska, to the district of Baltimore and (2) that he received, concealed or stored this painting knowing same to have been stolen in violation of U.S. Code, Title 18 ,Sections 2314 and 2315."

Arraigned

Hayward was arraigned Monday afternoon before U.S. Commissioner C. M. Pierson who set bond at $3,000 at the recommendation of the Baltimore prosecution. A preliminary hearing on Hayward's removal to Baltimore was set tentatively for Friday.

The accused student is classified at the University as a sophomore majoring in history. At the time the painting was reported missing, Aug. 25, 1962, Hayward was taking extension courses at NU while stationed at Lincoln Air Force Base.

West's "Golden Age," an early American major work painted in 1777 and insured for $6,500 was not recovered until almost a year after the theft. A Baltimore art dealer received an anonymous phone call of an offer to sell the painting for what he called a "suspiciously low price—$750.

The next morning, July 26, 1963, the dealer heard a knock on his door. When he opened it, the "Golden Age" painting fell in. He turned it over to FBI agents.

A hospital attendant, Charles August Wenige of Baltimore, was arrested by the FBI a few days later on charges of interstate transportation of stolen property. Federal charges filed against Wenige were later dismissed in favor of state charges of larceny and possession of stolen goods.

Found Guilty

Wenige was found guilty in a Maryland court, Sept. 15, 1964.

Another painting, "Doune Castle," by Jasper Francis, valued at $500, which was discovered missing at the same time as the West art piece, was recovered through Wenige's attorney at the time of his arrest.

The FBI office said that it could not officially say whether Wenige got the two paintings directly from the accused Hayward.

Hayward was originally from a town outside Baltimore, according to FBI reports.

A painting stolen Sept. 17, 1961, and valued at more than $2,000 was returned to the University galleries late in August, 1963, with a Baltimore postmark and a fictitious return address. This returned work is "Italian Landscape" by George Inness.

Death Penalty Bill Killed 5-1; Spending Ceiling Plan Fails

A bill to abolish the death penalty in Nebraska was killed Monday on a 5-1 vote of the Legislature's Judiciary Committee.

The group at the same executive session came within one vote of introducing a new bill proposing a constitutional amendment to limit state spending to 1¼% of the total assessed tangible property valuation in the state.

The vote to introduce was 4-3, but five votes were needed. One committee member was absent and the issue could be raised in committee again at a scheduled session Tuesday.

The vote on the constitutional amendment proposal followed a supporting appearance before the committee of Philip Anderson, a Crete businessman and head of a recently formed "Citizens Voice for Sensible Spending."

Following an informal 2½-hour session Monday night, the committee authorized Chairman Cecil Craft of North Platte and Sen. Arnold Ruhnke of Plymouth to confer with the attorney general to determine legal problems involved in wholesale consolidation.

'See How Far'

"We will try to meet with the attorney general Tuesday to see how far we can go in reorganization," Craft said.

Not only will LB764 be discussed, Craft noted, but also "less drastic proposals along the same line."

Band Indentures

Involved in the legal discussions, Craft said, will be bond indentures of the districts involved, their operating agreements and all other contracts and commitments.

LB764 provides that the wholesale operations of Loup Platte and Consumers would be consolidated under a single nine-member board. The new board would govern the transmission grid system throughout the state, except for the area served by the Omaha Public Power District.

The measure would continue OPPD and Central Nebraska Public Power and Irrigation District without change.

Supported

LB764 is supported by most rural electric districts and Consumers. A majority if municipal utility representatives who testified at a public hearing on the bill also endorsed the proposal.

The bill is opposed by Loup and Platte.

Among other reorganization proposals before the committee are measures to divide the state into six integrated power districts; merge Loup and Platte, which today contractually form the Nebraska Public Power System, and form an integrated Southeast Nebraska Public Power District in five counties.

Craft said the committee will continue its power deliberations Wednesday following its scheduled public hearings.

$250,000 In U.S. Aid Set For Lincoln

Washington (UPI) — Federal departments Monday notified Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., of plans to spend more than $250,000 on training and education projects at Lincoln, Neb.

The Departments of Labor and of Health, Education and Welfare will sponsor two manpower development and training projects in the Lincoln Public Schools.

An 18-week session will train 100 persons to be retail clerks, at a cost of $146,500.

A six-week course will provide nurses' training for 120 unemployed or under-employed persons at a cost of $45,075.

A $60,130 office of education grant to the State Education Department is earmarked for training teachers in the education of handicapped children.

Regarding the announcement, Don McKenzie, in charge of manpower development and training in the State said:

"These projects have been given federal approval, but as yet our office has not beer notified that the funds are available."

He said the project will start from four to six weeks after the funding has been completed by the federal government.

Don Sherrill, director of special education for the State Department of Education, was unavailable for comment on the some $60,000 grant earmarked for training teachers in the education of the handicapped.

Key Parts Of Louisiana Subversive Law Voided

. . . 'ABSTENTION DOCTRINE' SUSPENDED; HIGH BENCH WADES DEEPLY INTO CIVIL RIGHTS FIELD

Washington (AP) The Supreme Court declared unconstitutional Monday key sections of a Louisiana law requiring the registration of subversive and Communist-front organizations

The effect of the court's 5-2 decision is to clear the way for a civil rights group to resume its campaign of registering Negro voters in the state. The group claimed the laws were used to harass people advocating civil rights for Negroes.

In its first sitting after an Easter recess, the court waded deeply into the civil rights field, deciding also to —reverse convictions of 29 freedom riders arrested in 1961 in Jackson, Miss., during a protest against racial segregation in interstate bus and train facilities One of the 29 is James Farmer, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality.

—upset the convictions on unlawful assembly charges of three people who tried to use a bus depot in Ocala Fla., in June 1961

Record Stale

But, the tribunal said, the record is too stale for it to rule on the government's effort to force registration as Communist fronts of the American Committee for the Protection of Foreign Born and the Veterans of the Abraham Lincoln Brigade.

Speaking for the majority in the Louisiana case, Justice William J. Brennan found the state's subversive activities and Communist-control law so sweeping, and review of convictions under it in state courts so cumbersome, that the constitutional right to free expression is impaired.

And, Brennan said, repeated announcements by state officials that the Southern Conference Educational Fund Inc. is a subversive or Communist-front organization frightened off potential members and contributors. The fund was prosecuted under the statute and appealed to the high court

In addition Louisiana and the fund are locked in litigation on several fronts in state courts

Traditionally, the Supreme Court is reluctant to become involved until the conclusion of state court proceedings But the court Monday suspended its "abstention doctrine" as being inappropriate when statues are justifiably attacked on their face as abridging free expression "

"Appelants' allegations and offers of proof outline the chilling effect on free expression of prosecutions initiated and threatened in this case," Brennan said.

In a strongly worded dissent, Justice John M. Harlan asserted the court is tinkering with the federal-state court relationship and said:

"For me such a paralyzing of state criminal processes cannot be justified by any of the considerations which the court's opinion advances in its support.

Testing

"High as the premium placed on First Amendment rights may be, I do not think that the federal Constitution prevents a state from testing their availability through the medium of criminal proceedings, subject of course to the (Supreme) Court's ultimate review."

Justice Tom C. Clark joined with Harlan. Justices Hugo L. Black and Potter Stewart took no part in the case.

The court relied on two amendments to the Constitution—the first and the 14th—in voiding sections of the law that made felonies of failure of members of subversive and Communist-front organizations to register, and assisting such organizations.

The First Amendment prohibits restraint of free speech, the 14th prohibits actions that impinge on a citizen's rights without due process of law

Burden On State

Applying an earlier decision to the Louisiana case, the court said "Where the transcendent value of speech is involved, due process certainly requires . that the state bear the burden of persuasion to show that the appellants engaged in criminal speech."

The definition of a Communist-front or subversive organization in the law also was found wanting by the court, because "it was unduly vague, uncertain and broad."

The Louisiana case was brought to the Supreme Court by the fund, and by its executive director, James A. Dombrowski, and two New Orleans attorneys; Benjamin Smith, fund treasurer; and Bruce Waltzer, who had been indicted under various sections of the statute.

India Alerts Forces

New Delhi (AP)—India declared Monday that tank-led Pakistani infantrymen attacked south across the west Indian frontier in fresh, large-scale thrusts India's armed forces were alerted

Defense Minister Y. B. Chavan announced in parliament at noon that a battle launched in the morning was still going on in the barren Rann of Kutch. Six hours later, a spokesman said fighting was continuing. He said Indian casualties were "considerably less than company strength (about 125 men) and Pakistan's were higher."

It appeared that danger of escalation to a larger conflict rapidly was increasing and that the United States and Britain had failed in their attempts to win a cease-fire.

Tanks, Brigade

Chavan told parliament Pakistani tanks and an infantry brigade of about 3,000 fighting men—had attacked an Indian position at Biar-Bet, six miles south of what India says is the international frontier Biar-Bet is a position taken by Indian troops after falling back in a battle Saturday.

Both nations were reported moving larger forces into the area.

India charges Pakistan started mobilizing all its armed forces Saturday and calling reservists to active duty

Pakistan says it had to act last Saturday in retaliation against repeated firing on Pakistani positions by Indian forces.

Chavan said India's forces now have been put on alert and that this "necessitated certain moves plus stoppage of leave and recall of personnel on leave."

This appeared to be near mobilization in fact, if not in name

India Warned By Pakistan

Karachi, Pakistan (AP)—President Mohammed Ayub Khan of Pakistan warned India Monday of the grave consequences if it should fail to "understand the language of reason and continue to pursue a policy of browbeating its neighbor "

Ayub told a public reception in Dacca that India had carried out aggressive activities against Pakistan under various pretexts

In government circles here both hostile neighbors were reported using tanks and artillery Monday in the Rann of Kutch

A foreign office spokesman said two brigades of Indian infantrymen and paratroops, totaling about 18,000 men, were deployed inside the 3,500 square miles fo Kutch which Pakistan claims

HOT RANN OF KUTCH LOOKS WORTHLESS

New Delhi, India (AP) — At first glance the Rann of Kutch doesn't seem worth fighting for.

This latest battleground between India and Pakistan looks as barren as the moon and for a fighting man, it's just as inhospitable.

95 Degrees Moderate

At the moment, a small army patrol in the Rann of Kutch kicks up a dust storm that can be seen for miles. Temperatures are moderate for the Indian subcontinent—only up around 95 degrees Fahrenheit or so

But the boiling sun is a killer in the barren area and Indian and Pakistani fighting men now scrapping there couldn't fight under worse combat conditions.

In a month or so the monsoon — seasonal rains — will start, and high winds off the Arabian Sea will hurl huge waves of salt water over the Rann of Kutch, flooding it four feet deep in many places.

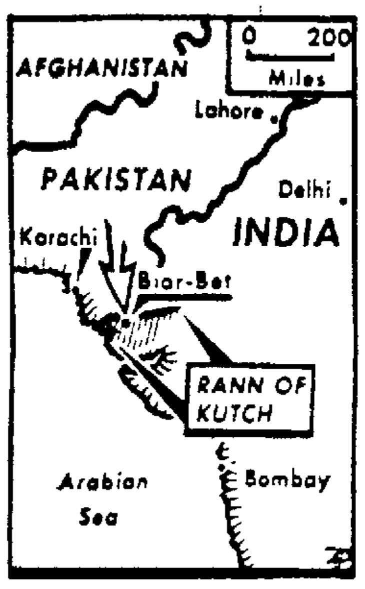
Then, like it or not, both sides will have to halt ground operations

Recent Scene

India and Pakistan have been fighting border quarrels ever since they achieved independence with the partition of British India in 1947, but only recently has the focus shifted to the Rann of Kutch. There are several likely reasons

First, recent explorations hinted there might be oil reserves beneath the sand and marshes—and neither Pakistan nor India now has enough oil

Second, India has announced plans to construct a major naval base at Kandla on the north shore of the Gulf of Kutch. This would put Indian warships close to Karachi, Pakistan's major seaport.



KUTCH . . . located.

But for the present there is no sure indication of who started what in the Rann of Kutch.

India recognizes the old, pre-independence Kutch-Sind frontier, declaring 45 miles of it demarcated on the ground and the remaining 270 miles on maps One Pakistani argument has been that the area is an inland sea, since it is flooded about six months of the year, and thus should be divided down the middle by the two nations

Flood Surges Over Levees In Two Cities

Rock Island, Ill. (AP)—Surging flood waters of the swollen Mississippi River roared over and through levees in Burlington, Iowa, and Rock Island, Ill, late Monday and churned into industrial areas and rich farm lands

Water poured through ruptures in a 4½-mile levee into 3,200 acres of good farm land north of Burlington. Some 400 National Guardmen who had been working on the dike were ordered off.

Coast Guard boats were ordered to the area from Clinton, Iowa

Some 150 families have farms in the affected area, but most had moved equipment and livestock to higher ground earlier

Officials said the largest of several breaks in the levee was 150 to 200 feet long

Highway 99 was closed from Burlington to a point 2½ miles north of the city. The city of Burlington was not endangered

In Rock Island, a small levee protecting an industrial area, the equivalent of one block wide and one mile long, buckled late Monday. The water churned to the rear of the J. E. Case Co. on the city's northwest side.

Officials said a new problem arose in Rock Island, a city of 51,000 on the northwestern edge of Illinois near Iowa when storm drains began backing up over the city

Court To Review Cox's Junking Of Major Counts

. . . IN RIGHTS TRIO'S MURDER

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed Monday to review the dismissal by a federal judge of major charges in the killing of three civil rights workers in Philadelphia, Miss

U.S. District Judge Harold Cox in Jackson, Miss., dismissed a felony indictment against 17 defendants. He also dismissed three of four counts of a misdemeanor indictment against 14 of the 17 men.

The rights workers were Andrew Goodman and Michael Schwerner, both white New Yorkers, and James Chaney, a Negro of Meridian, Miss They were shot the night of June 21, 1964 Their bodies were found under an earthen dam near Philadelphia Aug. 4, 1964

No Anti-U.S. Offense

In dismissing the felony indictment, Cox said it did not state an offense against the United States and his court therefore had no jurisdiction. The 17 had been accused under this indictment of conspiring to use violence to deny the rights of the three workers by killing them

The felony charge carried a possible penalty of 10 years in prison and $5,000 fine. The misdemeanor charge could carry a maximum penalty of one year's imprisonment and $1,000 fine.

Appealing directly to the Supreme Court, the Justice Department asked a quick ruling that the conspiracy charge could be prosecuted under a statute passed in 1870 The department also said Cox's dismissal of the misdemeanor counts was erroneous

Normal Procedure

Counsel for the 17 defendants opposed speeded-up action by the high tribunal and said the case should have been taken first to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans The Supreme Court on March 15,1965 denied the Justice Department request for quick action This left normal court procedure in effect, with Monday's announcement the first step taken under that procedure

The Supreme Court, in announcing it wou'' rule in the case, allotted two hours for argument.

The announcement did not say when the argument would be heard, and, under the tribunal's present schedule the case would not be called before the fall term, beginning Oct. 4.

Conserving Of Natural Resources Is Advocated

. . . Morrison's War On Waste Proposal Applauded

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Sioux City—A declaration of war against waste of natural resources was proposed here Monday at the 12th National Watershed Congress by keynote speaker Nebraska Gov. Frank Morrison.

Gov Morrison drew resounding applause from the nation's watershed leaders representing 38 states, Canada, South America and South Africa for his defense of conservation.

Proposed cuts of near $100 million now being considered by the federal government for the Agricultural Conservation Program caused Gov. Morrison to make this comment: "The proposed cut of 40% in ACP funds would be a damaging blow and would come at a time when we are already short of funds to conserve natural resources."

Morrison said he had personally discussed the problem with President Johnson wherein he feared the $6 000 that would have to be raised on the average by each Nebraska local district to match administration funds for technical assistance might seriously affect conservation work

"I'm not very optimistic on this proposal and I view it as a serious retraction to our soil and water program " said Morrison

Morrison told reporters covering the conference "There are many areas where a budget could be trimmed before cutting conservation expenditure I'd look at our foreign aid program first "

Nebraskans played a big part in the opening session of the congress as Milton H. Fricke of Papillion, chairman of the National Water Resources Committee moderated a national panel on land treatment phases of watershed development

"Collectively all watershed programs have the greatest potential for wildlife enhancement of any program in the United States," said Russell Stuart, North Dakota game commissioner

Stuart told watershed leaders that with limited financial resources available for fish and wildlife management it is imperative that game commissions work closely with agriculture in practices that preserve and enhance wildlife environment

An advance check of the national watershed committee report to be revealed Tuesday on watershed planning indicated more state participation with state appropriations in resource development viewed as investments rather than expenditures

Meeting Slated At Ord Friday To Explain Acts

Sen Rudolph Kokes of Ord reported Monday that an informational meeting would be held at Ord High School Friday explaining the Vocational Education Act of 1963, the Area Redevelopment Act, and the Manpower Development and Training Act

State education and labor officials will present the information to local school officials and county and city leaders in attendance, he said

Rep. Callan Fights Cut In SCS Budget

Washington (UPI) — Farmers and ranchers now share almost equally with the federal government the cost of on-the-land conservation, Rep Clair Callan, D-Neb., said Monday

He testified before the House agriculture appropriations subcommittee in opposition to the administration's proposed $120 million cut in the Soil Conservation Service's (SCS) budget Most of the reduction, $100 million would be in the Agricultural Conservation Program's (ACP) fund through which the federal government shares with farmers of the cost of applying conservation practices on the land.

The remaining $20 million would be offset by payments from farmers and soil and water conservation districts for the technical help they receive from SCS

Callan said the average ACP contract in the Great Plains conservation program shows federal contributions of $2 651 including $1 975 cost-sharing and $676 as the cost of technicians

The landowners's $1 241 share of practice cost and $1 390 "income loss' add up to a total contribution from that source of $2,631 Callan said

Prof. Charles Adams of the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture judged the annual curing contest.

Unitarians OK Budget, Pick New Officers

A $32,038 budget was approved by the congregation of the Unitarian Church, 6300 A, at its annual meeting night.

The congregation elected Dudley Bailey, Clifford Fall, and Mrs. Kay Hinkley to three-year terms on the Board of Trustees. Mrs. Helen Cowles was elected to a two-year term.

Officers of the board of trustees were elected for the new year at a meeting of the board following the congregational gathering.

W. Earl Dyer Jr., was re-elected president of the board. Serving with Dyer during the new year are: Mrs. Joyce Scholz, vice president, Mrs. Helen Cowles, secretary; Jerome Kromberg, re-elected treasurer; and Larry Brown, re-elected assistant treasurer.

In other elections, Fall and Mrs. Mary Fran Roberts were named to the committee on committees which serves as a nominating board for the church.

State Retarded Children's Group Elects McElravy

Norfolk (AP) — A. E. McElravy of Lincoln was named president of the Nebraska State Association for Retarded Children.

The association announced that it was meeting next year in Fremont and the following year in Lincoln.

The association called on the legislature to restore the full amount of appropriations asked for the Beatrice State Home.

K Of C Business Sessions Follow Award Ceremony

Columbus (AP)—Business sessions were held Monday at the 61st annual convention of the Knights of Columbus.

More than 200 were on hand for the opening Sunday. The banquet speaker was the supreme knight of the Knights of Columbus, John McDevitt of New Haven, Conn.

Archbishop Gerald T. Bergan of Omaha and Lt. Gov. Phil Sorensen also were among those attending.

Ray Burbach of Lincoln, the state deputy, presented two awards. District 12, made up of councils at North Platte, Broken Bow and Valentine, received the district of the year award, and the North Platte council was named council of the year.

Lawrence Receives Award

New York—ABC news political editor William H. Lawrence, veteran White House correspondent, Monday received a 1964 George Foster Peabody Broadcasting Award in recognition of his outstanding reportorial work including his political coverage during the 1964 campaign and national election.

Lawrence

The Peabody awards administered by the Henry W. Grady School of Journalism, University of Georgia, were presented at a luncheon meeting of Broadcast Pioneers in New York City.

Lawrence, regarded by many as the "most knowlegeable reporter" covering the President, has had more terms at the White House than any chief executive, having begun with the Franklin D. Roosevelt administration.

Born in Lincoln, Neb., in 1916, Lawrence was a product of the Lincoln school system and attended the University of Nebraska. He began his journalism career with The Lincoln Star in 1932. Later he worked for the Associated Press, Omaha World Herald and United Press. In April, 1941, he joined the New York Times staff, serving in the Washinggton bureau, as a war correspondent in both World War II and the Korean War, and later covering the White House.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Lawrence, live at 3009 Walnut Court, Lincoln.

Big Springs Man Accident Victim

Big Springs (AP) — A Big Springs man, Joe Burke, about 50, died Monday when he was thrown from a farm tractor while plowing in a field about five miles southeast of Big Springs.

Authorities said Burke was working on the Harold McGreer farm when the tractor he was operating went into a drainage ditch. Burke was thrown from the tractor.

At Opposite End

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If you have started the work week a little disgruntled take solace in the fact that you have a lot of friends. Following a series of beautiful weekdays in which fishing, golfing, tennis, etc would have been ideal, the weekend displayed the worst of nature. It was a weekend of cloudy skies, rain and cool temperatures, adding nothing at all to the pleasure of any outdoor activities.

Mississippi Floods

The bad weekend weather cycle is one it is hoped we get off of in a hurry. The weather, however, isn't a cause for great concern at the moment for us here in Nebraska Along the Mississippi River valley, it is another story as the water there is threatening thousands of homes and businesses through Iowa, Missouri and Illinois. Already damage has run into the millions and the floods have claimed many lives. All the resources at the command of flood-threatened communities have been invoked in a massive attempt to hold the Mississippi in check. Every able-bodied man and woman, it seems, has been pressed into action along the dikes and levees set up to control the water.

It will be another day or two before the results of this tremendous struggle are known for sure. By then, the Mississippi will be running from seven to eight feet above flood stage, covering the lowlands that lie along it and pounding the levees frantically constructed against it.

One can look at the Mississippi at such a time as this and contemplate his own good fortune but such dreaming is a little misleading. The Mississippi for most of its days is a tremendous asset, providing water for navigation, irrigation, drinking, recreation, commercial fishing, etc.

In short, the Mississippi is a valuable natural resource and what ought to interest us the most is its conservation. Answers to the flood now spreading through the Mississippi valley will be sought in the weeks and months ahead. Men will busy themselves gathering the facts of nature in regard to this disaster. They will want to know the many contributing factors to the flood, the full extent of damages done and the possibilities there are of preventing another such thing in the future. They will be concerning themselves with the facts of this great river with an eye toward taming her, toward retaining all her assets but eliminating her infrequent liabilities.

We may not have a Mississippi River but we have a great many natural resources with which to concern ourselves. Because we are not along the eastern border of Iowa and Missouri or the western side of Illinois, we are not apart from the problem that faces this area and the rest of the nation clear to the headwaters of this great river. Every state in the Union has problems that are uniquely its own and Nebraska is no exception. Our streams are not the mightiest in the land but they can be devastating, too, when the elements combine against the best interest of man. Nebraska is a long way yet from being home free when it comes to floods.

The Elkhorn, the Platte and the Blue Rivers, just to name a few streams, are usually placid but they can reach an awesome fury when taxed beyond their capacity to carry the water fed into them We will watch more than one flood over much of Nebraska's rich land before finding any security in our own conservation efforts.

And beyond the matter of floods are the many other matters of conservation that should be of constant concern to us. The fact is that water should be of prime concern to us at all times. In floods we have an abundance, too much water, but a shortage of water would be an even more serious problem.

Using Up Our Reserve

We are depleting at a constant rate the water reserves that lie beneath the surface of the earth. Generations not far off in Nebraska could end up shaking their heads at the folly of those today who milk the earth for more of her resources than she can spare. A flood often bears testimony to the inertia and inability of mankind but the depletion of our natural resources bears witness to mankind's folly. When water is used without regard to its total supply, when timber lands are cut without replacement and when other resources are used indiscriminately, it marks humanity as very shortsighted.

As our neighbors to the east fight their battle against the Mississippi, we offer them every encouragement and help we can. At the same time, we can contemplate the fact that much remains to be done in our own backyard when it comes to control and utilization of our natural resources.

Black Cloud On Horizon

A black cloud will be settled over the economy of the nation, in all likelihood, for the rest of this week. It will be in the form of the threatened strike of the United Steelworkers of America against the big steel industry.

It should be understood by all that a strike, especially one of this size, would be a big blow to the economy, regardless of its justification or lack of it. The steel industry has sales of around $15 billion a year and directly and indirectly provides jobs for 6 million American workers.

Major industry strikes have always been a hard blow to the economy. The 1963 financial loses ranged from $190 million to more than $300 million.

The big 1959 strike of 119 days cost $70 million a week in lost wages—money that was never really recouped. Another $300 million in production went down the drain.

The nation has survived and will continue to survive the strikes that come along as a result of labor-management deadlocks. But the losses that are sustained through these strikes are not imaginary.

They are real losses that mean fewer goods and services for the American people, a drag on the U.S. standard of living. President Johnson could invoke the Taft-Hartley law in the current steel crisis and thus hold off a strike for at least 80 days.

The difficulty with this is that it can also serve to harden the respective positions of opposing forces. Labor and management must, in the end, find the solution themselves in light of their own and the national welfare. There would be no winners in any walkout of American steelworkers.

Livestock Price Hearings

The National Commission on Food Marketing has completed hearings at Cheyenne, Wyoming, into livestock marketing practices and prices. Now it has set up shop in Fort Worth, Texas, continuing its inquiry.

It is hoped that the findings of the commission will result in better prices for the live stock producer. But up to now the commission has heard little but confusion. Short cutting practices by the chain stores are the villain in some quarters. In another quarter "the top" is blamed for the poor prices, but no one has identified the top. Still another quarter is blaming the dispersion of markets, claiming there are three terminal markets and 200 major auction houses.

It is just another case of no one attacking the central trouble, but each partisan attempting to emphasize a side part of it. If the commission gets anything out of the hearings it will have to shave out the partisanship and then do its own work. It will have to realize that confusion is often the most effective defense.

One thing, no one currently is laying poor livestock prices to foreign imports. This was a very popular reason a year or so ago. It is always good to make an outsider the villain and especially effective when the producers are willing to believe it.

Certainly in this grain and livestock region poor prices are of great concern. It brings to mind the one great flaw. The producer is in the weakest position and for that reason he comes out on the short end of the price stick. He needs studies and hearings much less than he needs a better marketing structure, one that will permit him to demand a fair price and one that will give him clear directives on supply control. Ultimately he will have to do this himself.

National Library Week

National Library Week opened Sunday, as usual, with a great big "Ssssh." This is the universal call of librarians. It is because they do not wish to break the silence because persons nearby are reading, meditating and learning.

That's the reason a newspaper has to intrude. Librarians can't bring themselves to do it, even when it is in their own interest.

A library is really a wonderful thing. It is a repository of written learning, made available on an easy lending basis to all people. It is the great fountain head for the education of everyone in a year of this earth when it is essential to be sophisticated even in order to know what is going on.

Yet most people who use libraries are more interested in the popular fiction department.

The municipal library levy is never subject to controversy unless someone wishes it raised. In most towns its levy is microscopic, somewhere below the provision for the municipal band and nowadays much below the community recreation levy.

Lincoln has an excellent library facility that was a gift of a public spirited woman and the library has a good deal of patronage. But it is a safe guess that hardly anyone but the librarian and his aides really know what is in it.

Good books, it has been said, are the means by which we are all permitted to associate with great minds. They allow us to sit alone with the leaders of the earth and join in their undivided attention. This is a great privilege and a wonderful reward. And we make the least of it We wish it were different But we are aware that a different condition is wholly up to the community, and each individual member of it.

Southerner Calls Klan "Rednecks"

WASHINGTON — Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., offered the resolution to investigate the Ku Klux Klan, which the House Un-American activities committee approved 9-to-0 behind closed doors. However, it was young Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., who started the ball rolling at a previous closed-door meeting.

Weltner said there were Klan "Rednecks" in all parts of the country, not just the South.

"As a Southerner, I am tired of hearing the South used as a common denominator for this sort of thing," he added. "At least 90 per cent of all Southerners are opposed to the Klan and all it stands for, as I am. These good people should not be castigated for the misdeeds of a minority."

If the committee does a good job, it will stiffen the morale of decent-thinking people all over the country to speak out against the Klan and other hate groups in every community afflicted with them, declared Weltner.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., the committee chairman, agreed that no punches should be pulled, saying: "This investigation will go into every phase of Ku Klux Klan acitivity. At the same time, the committee will not be diverted from its operations against the communists. I want to investigate all un-American groups that are endangering our freedom."

Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind., a congressional veteran and chairman of the House Democratic Steering committee, claims that the Democratic party has never enjoyed such esprit de corps in Congress as in this session.

"The chief reason," he says, "is President Johnson, who has a close working relationship with individual members and more all-around know-how about legislating than any President before him. This is a contagious attribute that reaches down to the grass roots of our party on the Hill and elsewhere."

At the last closed-door meeting of Madden's steering committee, 18 Democatic congressmen representing all part of the country agreed to contact every Democrat in their areas, urging them to support the federal aid to education bill. It passed by a big majority.

Speaker John McCormack made this request of Southern Democrats opposed to the measure: "Please be on the floor to help us defeat crippling amendments offered by the other party, President Jonson wants the bill to pass with as little change as possible. If you feel like you must vote against the final bill on the roll call, do so, but please help us to stop amendments that would cut the bill."

Asians See Us Not As We See Ourselves

WASHINGTON — Henry Cabot Lodge on his mission to Asia has a difficult if not all but impossible task. That is to recruit help for America's war effort in South Viet Nam.

In Australia and New Zealand, the white countries, he will get encouragement and possibly something more concrete. But this seems likely to be the beginning and the end of his success. For the grim fact is that, thanks to the coincidence of two circumstances, American friends and allies in Asia are hard to find.

Alongside these two major developments the dis-inviting of President Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India is a minor symptom. It is important, particularly with respect to Shastri, because it involves face, prestige, at a time when the prime minister was establishing his own authority as the successor to Nehru. But with the extensive aid program financed in large part by Washington this hurt may be forgotten

The long-term consequences of America's failure to achieve any realistic adjustment to the existence of Red China is what sets this country apart from most of Asia. In one way or another the Asian nations have accepted the fact of a vast change in the Asian power structure. Even India, while still suffering from the shock of the border attack of two and a half years ago, has a clear view of the Chinese colossus. Despite their war a Chinese diplomatic mission is in New Delhi and an Indian mission in Peking.

The end result of America's China policy, or lack of it, coincides with the war in Viet Nam. Theoretically, there should be understanding, particularly in India, for America's Vietnamese position. But except for the client states of South Korea and Nationalist China, almost wholly dependent on American aid, support is nil.

If masses of American ground troops are sent into South Viet Nam they will in Asia be seen as white men shooting at men of color. If nuclear weapons are finally used on China this will be the second time that the leading Western power has turned the ultimate weapon against Asiatics.

It is against the long record of miscalculation and error on China that the easy assurances of Viet Nam policy makers and their echoes —China is no threat, China will stand aside—must be examined. That record begins with the happy augury of the use of America's share of the Boxer rebellion indemnity for the education of Chinese students in this country. But along with this went the overly hopeful view of the missionaries and the sentimentalized China of "The Good Earth."

The most conspicuous miscalculation came when Gen. Douglas MacArthur assured President Truman on the basis of his own intelligence reports that Chinese troops in mass would not enter the Korean war. One of the worst debacles in America's military history resulted.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

Now that the fields are dry, the hum of the tractor is very obvious and it sounds every bit as good as the hum of the first honeybee in the spring. Today The Farmer has been using the tandem disk in one of the fields that was dry enough to work.

After a winter that has been free of riding the tractor, The Farmer finds the first two or three days very wearisome when he returns to the field.

Sixteen years ago The Farmer put a picket fence around the front yard. Through the years I have painted the wooden pickets and enjoyed the quaint white fence around our bungalow. Time has a way of bringing change and I began to look for an easier way, as I no longer have the hours of leisure and we have no need for a fence. We have no poultry to keep out of the yard, nor young children to keep in, so we decided to eliminate the fence.

Last spring we started a privet hedge outside the fence This spring the bushes are growing vigorously. We hope they will soon make a solid barrier that will not require so much attention. I have been advised that trimming a hedge also requires much time. It all seems to boil down to one fact. There is no way to eliminate work.

With the removal of the fence, there came an enlargement of the yard, especially to the west where it slopes to meet a row of young juniper trees. A new yard meant a new seeding of blue grass. After The Farmer disked and harrowed the land, we seeded it and are now tending it with guarded care until the tiny seeds sprout.

Each night I turn the sprinkler on and fill my time moving the hose from place to place. The evenings have been so nice, I find I enjoy my time outside and look forward to my small task.

I was somewhat amused by an article in a leading magazine giving grooming hints for hand care. According to the beauty tips given, one should always wear rubber gloves for dishwashing, and other "wet work." Cotton gloves are an absolute "must" for protecting the hands and nails while dusting, making beds and "pick-up" work. These household duties were listed as "manicure wreckers." To me they would be better classified as "home wreckers."

My pick-up work includes picking up needles, pins and scraps of sewing thread. If I wore cotton gloves while attempting to pick up these small articles, I fear I would become greatly agitated. When I am agitated, I frown. Frowning makes the wrinkle lines deeper. Therefore, I would have to read another good grooming article telling me ways to eliminate wrinkles. While so occupied, I would forget about getting dinner.

The Farmer, seeing nothing to eat after a long morning in the field, would not be consoled by the fact that I had cotton gloves on my hands.

I think that I shall eliminate the chain reaction that would most certainly occur and go about my work as I have always done.

The sky is never the same, In spring, it is soft and billowy like a mass of white feather pillows airing in the sunlight Sometimes it is clashing, with dark brooding storm clouds. Other times it is as blue as a forget-me-not. But the sky is always there—infinite and permanent, curving over our farm as it has been doing for years.

Sometimes the wonders of the sky are good to contemplate in our age of troubles and misunderstanding. The permanence of this cover that wraps the world in a protective shield is the same sky that has protected mankind for ages. Men have lifted their eyes to it for peace, and I lift mine and wait for spring. I know that the earth has turned toward spring and soon the sky will be rainbow-hued . . . a most delightful time for looking toward the heavens.

All Or Nothing

Lincoln, Neb.

With Colorado and Iowa adopting daylight savings time on Sunday, April 25, and the southwestern counties of Perkins, Chase and Dundy taking matters into their own hands, the time is now for the governor and the Legislature to take action and decide whether or not Nebraska wants to adopt daylight savings time. The time for procrastination and passing of the buck is over.

In my opinion, this issue should be decided by the people of Nebraska in a referendum vote. Either we take it on a statewide basis or not at all. Local option is no good, and it is high time the politicians start moving and quit trying to buy votes and go with the winner.

Wasted Water

Lincoln, Neb.

I get riled up about this matter every year, but usually later in the summer. It seems like a small thing, and perhaps it has got all out of proportion in my thinking. But I remember the dry years of the 'thirties, and anyone who lived — or existed may be a better word—during those difficult times know the importance of water and what its conservation could mean to us.

This year of 1965 has given us indications already that it may be a dry year. It is yet early but sprinklers are going up and down nearly every street. And through nothing but negligence, a great deal of this water goes down the pavement and into the storm sewers with no benefit at all to the home owner.

This bothers me, since the compounded total of such water amounts to a very great deal. And it would be such a simple thing for the property owner to do something about it, and to take full advantage of the water he is paying for at the same time.

How They Dress

Lincoln, Neb.

This is the time of year when one can look out any time of the day, and there are scenes galore. Some of those among the feminine sex still realize that there is a moral standard that should be adhered to and that there is no better looking lady than those who observe such a standard and dress as a lady should.

But the other group seems to do its best to carry on and dress in a manner that is a disgrace to all womankind. I do not know whom they think they are fooling or what good such indecent attire and actions are doing them.

I can't blame all parents for this situation, but some of them are to blame, I am sure. There are too many teenage boys who are bad characters, too.

I hope they will all come to their senses.

Parents Wanted

Lincoln, Neb.

All parents in Nebraska should answer these questions: Could you love a child not of your own race, grow and rejoice in the achievements of a handicapped child? Could you help and be proud of a retarded child, no matter how slight his achievements, supply the security so desperately needed by an emotionally disturbed child? Could you be a foster parent?

At present the Foster Care Unit of the State Division of Child Welfare has 370 children under its supervision. Nearly half of these are members of minority races, Negro, Indian, Mexican, Asian and mixtures. The other half are physically handicapped, mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed, or older children. These are the children the private agencies don't want. They are beautiful children. Surely there must be people who want them — want them, not tolerate them, not put up with their deficienceis, not gloss over their problems, but want them for the satisfaction that goes with being the special parents of a "special child" for life.

The Nebraska Foster Parents Club is interested in finding foster and adoptive homes for these children. We have a new brochure explaining the program, available by writing to: Foster Parents Club, 1810 Brower Rd., Lincoln.

Firearms Control

Lincoln, Neb.

Senator Thomas J. Dodd has presented a bill, supposedly to be used to regulate firearms control. I am a Nebraska sportsman and I believe this bill would be a great detriment to my freedom.

Many of us believe this to be news of importance and interest to Nebraskans, since it poses a threat to our right to keep and bear arms. It can be seen that any confirmed criminal would not be affected by such regulations but that, instead, it would put more good people at his mercy.

In short, the Mississippi is a valuable natural resource and what ought to interest us the most is its conservation. Answers to the flood now spreading through the Mississippi valley will be sought in the weeks and months ahead. Men will busy themselves gathering the facts of nature in regard to this disaster. They will want to know the many contributing factors to the flood, the full extent of damages done and the possibilities there are of preventing another such thing in the future. They will be concerning themselves with the facts of this great river with an eye toward taming her, toward retaining all her assets but eliminating her infrequent liabilities.

We may not have a Mississippi River but we have a great many natural resources with which to concern ourselves. Because we are not along the eastern border of Iowa and Missouri or the western side of Illinois, we are not apart from the problem that faces this area and the rest of the nation clear to the headwaters of this great river. Every state in the Union has problems that are uniquely its own and Nebraska is no exception. Our streams are not the mightiest in the land but they can be devastating, too, when the elements combine against the best interest of man. Nebraska is a long way yet from being home free when it comes to floods.

The Elkhorn, the Platte and the Blue Rivers, just to name a few streams, are usually placid but they can reach an awesome fury when taxed beyond their capacity to carry the water fed into them. We will watch more than one flood over much of Nebraska's rich land before finding any security in our own conservation efforts.

And beyond the matter of floods are the many other matters of conservation that should be of constant concern to us. The fact is that water should be of prime concern to us at all times. In floods we have an abundance, too much water, but a shortage of water would be an even more serious problem.

We are depleting at a constant rate the water reserves that lie beneath the surface of the earth. Generations not far off in Nebraska could end up shaking their heads at the folly of those today who milk the earth for more of her resources than she can spare. A flood often bears testimony to the inertia and inability of mankind but the depletion of our natural resources bears witness to mankind's folly. When water is used without regard to its total supply, when timber lands are cut without replacement and when other resources are used indiscriminately, it marks humanity as very shortsighted.

Using Up Our Reserve

As our neighbors to the east fight their battle against the Mississippi, we offer them every encouragement and help we can. At the same time, we can contemplate the fact that much remains to be done in our own backyard when it comes to control and utilization of our natural resources.

Black Cloud On Horizon

A black cloud will be settled over the economy of the nation, in all likelihood, for the rest of this week. It will be in the form of the threatened strike of the United Steelworkers of America against the big steel industry.

It should be understood by all that a strike, especially one of this size, would be a big blow to the economy, regardless of its justification or lack of it. The steel industry has sales of around $15 billion a year and directly and indirectly provides jobs for 6 million American workers.

Major industry strikes have always been a hard blow to the economy. The 1963 financial loses ranged from $190 million to more than $300 million.

The big 1959 strike of 119 days cost $70 million a week in lost wages—money that was never really recouped. Another $300 million in production went down the drain.

The nation has survived and will continue to survive the strikes that come along as a result of labor-management deadlocks. But the losses that are sustained through these strikes are not imaginary.

They are real losses that mean fewer goods and services for the American people, a drag on the U.S. standard of living. President Johnson could invoke the Taft-Hartley law in the current steel crisis and thus hold off a strike for at least 80 days.

The difficulty with this is that it can also serve to harden the respective positions of opposing forces. Labor and management must, in the end, find the solution themselves in light of their own and the national welfare. There would be no winners in any walkout of American steelworkers.

Livestock Price Hearings

The National Commission on Food Marketing has completed hearings at Cheyenne, Wyoming, into livestock marketing practices and prices. Now it has set up shop in Fort Worth, Texas, continuing its inquiry.

It is hoped that the findings of the commission will result in better prices for the live stock producer. But up to now the commission has heard little but confusion. Short cutting practices by the chain stores are the villain in some quarters. In another quarter "the top" is blamed for the poor prices, but no one has identified the top. Still another quarter is blaming the dispersion of markets, claiming there are three terminal markets and 200 major auction houses.

It is just another case of no one attacking the central trouble, but each partisan attempting to emphasize a side part of it. If the commission gets anything out of the hearings it will have to shave out the partisanship and then do its own work. It will have to realize that confusion is often the most effective defense.

One thing, no one currently is laying poor livestock prices to foreign imports. This was a very popular reason a year or so ago. It is always good to make an outsider the villain and especially effective when the producers are willing to believe it.

Certainly in this grain and livestock region poor prices are of great concern. It brings to mind the one great flaw. The producer is in the weakest position and for that reason he comes out on the short end of the price stick. He needs studies and hearings much less than he needs a better marketing structure, one that will permit him to demand a fair price and one that will give him clear directives on supply control. Ultimately he will have to do this himself.

National Library Week

National Library Week opened Sunday, as usual, with a great big "Ssssh." This is the universal call of librarians. It is because they do not wish to break the silence because persons nearby are reading, meditating and learning.

That's the reason a newspaper has to intrude. Librarians can't bring themselves to do it, even when it is in their own interest.

A library is really a wonderful thing. It is a repository of written learning, made available on an easy lending basis to all people. It is the great fountain head for the education of everyone in a year of this earth when it is essential to be sophisticated even in order to know what is going on.

Yet most people who use libraries are more interested in the popular fiction department.

The municipal library levy is never subject to controversy unless someone wishes it raised. In most towns its levy is microscopic, somewhere below the provision for the municipal band and nowadays much below the community recreation levy.

Lincoln has an excellent library facility that was a gift of a public spirited woman and the library has a good deal of patronage. But it is a safe guess that hardly anyone but the librarian and his aides really know what is in it.

Good books, it has been said, are the means by which we are all permitted to associate with great minds. They allow us to sit alone with the leaders of the earth and join in their undivided attention. This is a great privilege and a wonderful reward. And we make the least of it. We wish it were different. But we are aware that a different condition is wholly up to the community, and each individual member of it.

Southerner Calls Klan "Rednecks"

WASHINGTON — Rep. Joe R. Pool, D-Tex., offered the resolution to investigate the Ku Klux Klan, which the House Un-American activities committee approved 9-to-0 behind closed doors. However, it was young Rep. Charles L. Weltner, D-Ga., who started the ball rolling at a previous closed-door meeting.

Weltner said there were Klan "Rednecks" in all parts of the country, not just the South.

"As a Southerner, I am tired of hearing the South used as a common denominator for this sort of thing," he added. "At least 90 per cent of all Southerners are opposed to the Klan and all it stands for, as I am. These good people should not be castigated for the misdeeds of a minority."

If the committee does a good job, it will stiffen the morale of decent-thinking people all over the country to speak out against the Klan and other hate groups in every community afflicted with them, declared Weltner.

Rep. Edwin E. Willis, D-La., the committee chairman, agreed that no punches should be pulled, saying: "This investigation will go into every phase of Ku Klux Klan acitivity. At the same time, the committee will not be diverted from its operations against the communists. I want to investigate all un-American groups that are endangering our freedom."

Rep. Ray Madden, D-Ind., a congressional veteran and chairman of the House Democratic Steering committee, claims that the Democratic party has never enjoyed such esprit de corps in Congress as in this session.

"The chief reason," he says, "is President Johnson, who has a close working relationship with individual members and more all-around know-how about legislating than any President before him. This is a contagious attribute that reaches down to the grass roots of our party on the Hill and elsewhere."

At the last closed-door meeting of Madden's steering committee, 18 Democatic congressmen representing all part of the country agreed to contact every Democrat in their areas, urging them to support the federal aid to education bill. It passed by a big majority.

Speaker John McCormack made this request of Southern Democrats opposed to the measure: "Please be on the floor to help us defeat crippling amendments offered by the other party, President Jonson wants the bill to pass with as little change as possible. If you feel like you must vote against the final bill on the roll call, do so, but please help us to stop amendments that would cut the bill."

Asians See Us Not As We See Ourselves

WASHINGTON — Henry Cabot Lodge on his mission to Asia has a difficult if not all but impossible task. That is to recruit help for America's war effort in South Viet Nam.

In Australia and New Zealand, the white countries, he will get encouragement and possibly something more concrete. But this seems likely to be the beginning and the end of his success. For the grim fact is that, thanks to the coincidence of two circumstances, American friends and allies in Asia are hard to find.

Alongside these two major developments the dis-inviting of President Ayub Khan of Pakistan and Prime Minister Lal Bahadur Shastri of India is a minor symptom. It is important, particularly with respect to Shastri, because it involves face, prestige, at a time when the prime minister was establishing his own authority as the successor to Nehru. But with the extensive aid program financed in large part by Washington this hurt may be forgotten.

The long-term consequences of America's failure to achieve any realistic adjustment to the existence of Red China is what sets this country apart from most of Asia. In one way or another the Asian nations have accepted the fact of a vast change in the Asian power structure. Even India, while still suffering from the shock of the border attack of two and a half years ago, has a clear view of the Chinese colossus. Despite their war a Chinese diplomatic mission is in New Delhi and an Indian mission in Peking.

The end result of America's China policy, or lack of it, coincides with the war in Viet Nam. Theoretically, there should be understanding, particularly in India, for America's Vietnamese position. But except for the client states of South Korea and Nationalist China, almost wholly dependent on American aid, support is nil.

If masses or American ground troops are sent into South Viet Nam they will in Asia be seen as white men shooting at men of color. If nuclear weapons are finally used on China this will be the second time that the leading Western power has turned the ultimate weapon against Asiatics.

It is against the long record of miscalculation and error on China that the easy assurances of Viet Nam policy makers and their echoes —China is no threat, China will stand aside—must be examined. That record begins with the happy augury of the use of America's share of the Boxer rebellion indemnity for the education of Chinese students in this country. But along with this went the overly hopeful view of the missionaries and the sentimentalized China of "The Good Earth."

The most conspicuous miscalculation came when Gen. Douglas MacArthur assured President Truman on the basis of his own intelligence reports that Chinese troops in mass would not enter the Korean war. One of the worst debacles in America's military history resulted.

LA VERNA HASSLER

Patchwork Prairie Country

Now that the fields are dry, the hum of the tractor is very obvious and it sounds every bit as good as the hum of the first honeybee in the spring. Today The Farmer has been using the tandem disk in one of the fields that was dry enough to work.

After a winter that has been free of riding the tractor, The Farmer finds the first two or three days very wearisome when he returns to the field.

Sixteen years ago The Farmer put a picket fence around the front yard. Through the years I have painted the wooden pickets and enjoyed the quaint white fence around our bungalow. Time has a way of bringing change and I began to look for an easier way, as I no longer have the hours of leisure and we have no need for a fence. We have no poultry to keep out of the yard, nor young children to keep in, so we decided to eliminate the fence.

Last spring we started a privet hedge outside the fence This spring the bushes are growing vigorously. We hope they will soon make a solid barrier that will not require so much attention. I have been advised that trimming a hedge also requires much time. It all seems to boil down to one fact. There is no way to eliminate work.

With the removal of the fence, there came an enlargement of the yard, especially to the west where it slopes to meet a row of young juniper trees. A new yard meant a new seeding of blue grass. Aft r The Farmer disked and harrowed the land, we seeded it and are now tending it with guarded care until the tiny seeds sprout.

Each night I turn the sprinkler on and fill my time moving the hose from place to place. The evenings have been so nice, I find I enjoy my time outside and look forward to my small task.

I was somewhat amused by an article in a leading magazine giving grooming hints for hand care. According to the beauty tips given, one should always wear rubber gloves for dishwashing. and other "wet work." Cotton gloves are an absolute "must" for protecting the hands and nails while dusting, making beds and "pick-up" work. These household duties were listed as "manicure wreckers." To me they would be better classified as "home wreckers."

My pick-up work includes picking up needles, pins and scraps of sewing thread. If I wore cotton gloves while attempting to pick up these small articles, I fear I would become greatly agitated. When I am agitated, I frown. Frowning makes the wrinkle lines deeper. Therefore, I would have to read another good grooming article telling me ways to eliminate wrinkles. While so occupied, I would forget about getting dinner.

The Farmer, seeing nothing to eat after a long morning in the field, would not be consoled by the fact that I had cotton gloves on my hands.

I think that I shall eliminate the chain reaction that would most certainly occur and go about my work as I have always done.

The sky is never the same. In spring, it is soft and billowy like a mass of white feather pillows airing in the sunlight. Sometimes it is clashing, with dark brooding storm clouds. Other times it is as blue as a forget-me-not. But the sky is always there—infinite and permanent, curving over our farm as it has been doing for years.

Sometimes the wonders of the sky are good to contemplate in our age of troubles and misunderstanding. The permanence of this cover that wraps the world in a protective shield is the same sky that has protected mankind for ages. Men have lifted their eyes to it for peace, and I lift mine and wait for spring. I know that the earth has turned toward spring and soon the sky will be rainbow-hued . . . a most delightful time for looking toward the heavens.

All Or Nothing

Lincoln, Neb.

With Colorado and Iowa adopting daylight savings time on Sunday, April 25, and the southwestern counties of Perkins, Chase and Dundy taking matters into their own hands, the time is now for the governor and the Legislature to take action and decide whether or not Nebraska wants to adopt daylight savings time. The time for procrastination and passing of the buck is over.

In my opinion, this issue should be decided by the people of Nebraska in a referendum vote. Either we take it on a statewide basis or not at all. Local option is no good, and it is high time the politicians start moving and quit trying to buy votes and go with the winner.

Wasted Water

Lincoln, Neb.

I get riled up about this matter every year, but usually later in the summer. It seems like a small thing, and perhaps it has got all out of proportion in my thinking. But I remember the dry years of the 'thirties, and anyone who lived — or existed may be a better word—during those difficult times know the importance of water and what its conservation could mean to us.

This year of 1965 has given us indications already that it may be a dry year. It is yet early but sprinklers are going up and down nearly every street. And through nothing but negligence, a great deal of this water goes down the pavement and into the storm sewers with no benefit at all to the home owner.

This bothers me, since the compounded total of such water amounts to a very great deal. And it would be such a simple thing for the property owner to do something about it, and to take full advantage of the water he is paying for at the same time.

How They Dress

Lincoln, Neb.

This is the time of year when one can look out any time of the day, and there are scenes galore. Some of those among the feminine sex still realize that there is a moral standard that should be adhered to and that there is no better looking lady than those who observe such a standard and dress as a lady should.

But the other group seems to do its best to carry on and dress in a manner that is a disgrace to all womankind. I do not know whom they think they are fooling or what good such indecent attire and actions are doing them.

I can't blame all parents for this situation, but some of them are to blame, I am sure. There are too many teenage boys who are bad characters, too.

I hope they will all come to their senses.

Lincoln, Neb.

All parents in Nebraska should answer these questions: Could you love a child not of your own race, grow and rejoice in the achievements of a handicapped child? Could you help and be proud of a retarded child, no matter how slight his achievements, supply the security so desperately needed by an emotionally disturbed child? Could you be a foster parent?

At present the Foster Care Unit of the State Division of Child Welfare has 370 children under its supervision. Nearly half of these are members of minority races, Negro, Indian, Mexican, Asian and mixtures. The other half are physically handicapped, mentally retarded, emotionally disturbed, or older children. These are the children the private agencies don't want. They are beautiful children. Surely there must be people who want them — want them, not tolerate them, not put up with their deficienceis, not gloss over their problems, but want them for the satisfaction that goes with being the special parents of a "special child" for life.

The Nebraska Foster Parents Club is interested in finding foster and adoptive homes for these children. We have a new brochure explaining the program, available by writing to: Foster Parents Club, 1810 Brower Rd., Lincoln.

Firearms Control

Lincoln, Neb.

Senator Thomas J. Dodd has presented a bill, supposedly to be used to regulate firearms control. I am a Nebraska sportsman and I believe this bill would be a great detriment to my freedom.

Many of us believe this to be news of importance and interest to Nebraskans, since it poses a threat to our right to keep and bear arms. It can be seen that any confirmed criminal would not be affected by such regulations but that, instead, it would put more good people at his mercy.

Jet Travel One Of Greatest Experiences Available To Modern Man

By ROBERT PETERSON

The young fellow with a crew cut next to me on the jet to Palm Beach, Fla. last night was a salesman for a dress manufacturer. He said he left New York on Sunday evenings, flew to three cities during an average week and then flew home for the weekend before taking off again.

When I asked how he liked jets he shrugged. "They're okay, but they haven't improved on them much since I was in college." Then he adjusted a pillow behind his back and began reading a magazine.

He didn't so much as glance out the window as this multi-ton mechanical monster with 125 people aboard roared down the runway and sped upwards into space.

It seems incredible that anyone can be blase about jet travel. To me it's the greatest experience available to modern man. If I had the time and means I think I'd spend a week every month just jetting around the world savoring and trying to fully appreciate this miracle which has come to pass.

Youngsters who have grown up with jets find them commonplace. But impressionable souls past 40 who can remember the horse and buggy days never find jet travel anything but miraculous.

The small fry may think horse and buggies went out with the Industrial Revolution. But horse-drawn vehicles were a popular means of transportation in small towns and rural communities only 40 years ago. The automobile had made its appearance, but horses were important for those occasions when the car wasn't functioning or the roads were rivers of mud.

My first flight in an early commercial airliner was rough and frightening. There was even a thunderstorm which had most of the passengers terrified. But with the advent of jets and the new ability of aircraft to soar above the turbulence of cloud banks and pressure pockets, air travel has become the most comfortable form of transportation.

There's exhilaration in simply gazing out of the window into the infinity of space. There's a thrill in looking down on the globe from a new, wide-angle perspective. There's adventure in contemplating how unbelieving Abraham Lincoln would have been had someone told him that in less than a century travelers would be whisked effortlessly through the skies at speeds of 10 miles a minute.

Even the food aloft has some rare and special quality. Air veterans may occasionally complain of the food, but I've never had a poor meal on a plane. Maybe the altitude dulls my sense of discrimination, but the hors d'oeuvres are always tempting, the meats are delicious, the vegetables are well-cooked, the salads are crisp, the desserts are succulent and the coffee is a heady delight.

When I read recently that three-quarters of all elders have never flown, I found myself wishing I could treat everyone of these folks to a modern jet flight. Those who depart this planet without having experienced air travel have missed one of the great adventures of all time.

If you would like a booklet "Trips to Include in Retirement Travels" write to Robert Peterson, "Life Begins at Forty," c/o The Lincoln Star enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope and ten cents to cover handling costs.

Why does the chef de Cuisine at Maxim's cook with gas?

He cooks with gas because he needs the kind of control only gas can give you. You get the exact cooking temperature you want because you have hundreds of heats to choose from on a gas range, not just five or six. And you get that exact temperature right then and there. Turn a burner on a gas range up, down, on or off and it goes up, down, on or off. Instantly. This kind of perfect control is why the great chefs appreciate gas ranges. And why you'll feel the same way. Live modern for less . . . with gas.

Even the food aloft has some rare and special quality. Air veterans may occasionally complain of the food, but I've never had a poor meal on a plane. Maybe the altitude dulls my sense of discrimination, but the hors d'oeuvres are always tempting, the meats are delicious, the vegetables are well-cooked, the salads are crisp, the desserts are succulent and the coffee is a heady delight.

When I read recently that three-quarters of all elders have never flown, I found myself wishing I could treat everyone of these folks to a modern jet flight. Those who depart this planet without having experienced air travel have missed one of the great adventures of all time.

Why does the chef de Cuisine at Maxim's cook with gas?

He cooks with gas because he needs the kind of control only gas can give you. You get the exact cooking temperature you want because you have hundreds of heats to choose from on a gas range, not just five or six. And you get that exact temperature right then and there. Turn a burner on a gas range up, down, on or off and it goes up, down, on or off. Instantly. This kind of perfect control is why the great chefs appreciate gas ranges. And why you'll feel the same way. Live modern for less . . . .with gas.

Christian Retirement Homes, Inc., Gets Special Permit For Complex

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Christian Retirement Homes, Inc., was granted a special permit Monday by the City Council to construct and operate a nursing home and retirement apartment complex on O St. between 63rd and 66th.

The non-profit organization, incorporated by ministers representing 36 Lincoln churches, had previously announced plans to start construction of the first stage —a $1 million building containing retirement apartments and nursing beds—this summer if the city gives its approval.

The complex will eventually include three buildings with 115 apartments and 151 nursing beds.

Also requested by the corporation is a change of zone for the property from A-1 and A-2 single family to D multiple dwelling.

Necessary for Financing

Attorney Don Marti said the zoning change is necessary to obtain financing for the project.

During a lengthy discussion, several council members appeared reluctant to approve the change of zone, which comes up as an ordinane on first readingg next week, and indicated they would recommend that Christian Retirement Homes attempt to find other financing not requiring a zoning change before final council action on the request is taken.

Marti told the council that other suitable D multiple zoned areas in the city are not available and that the proposed O St. location, if zoned D multiple, could act as a "buffer zone" between surrounding areas zoned commercial and residential.

The council also approved a request for a special permit by Americana Nursing Homes Inc., to build a nursing home in the vicinity of Normal and Cotner Blvds.

The cost of the first wing of this proposed home is estimated at $500,000.

Report Asked

The council heard a request by member Lloyd Hinkley for a complete report by the mayor on any progress in finding a use for the Lincoln Air Force Base facilities.

Parks and Recreation Director James Ager reported that the Children's Zoo will open officially sometime in June.

Slate Hearing On Liquor Policy

The City Council has set next Monday at 1:30 p.m. as the date for public hearing on its newly amended liquor and beer policy resolution.

The resolution, not yet officially passed by the council, will allow not more than three package liquor licenses and three off-sale beer licenses in each of the city's previously approved out-lying commercial areas.

The resolution retains the old limit on the total number of premises having retail beer licenses in the city (58, of which not more than 40 will be licenses for retailing beer for consumption on the premises), and licenses for retailing liquor in the original package only (31).

Affected Areas

Areas affected by the new policy are: Havelock: Gateway area, between N and R, 56th and 63rd: 48th, from O to Vine, and O, 46th to 56th: South St., 10th to 17th: High St., 10th to 14th, High to Calvert: West O, U.S. 6 cut-off to Burlington Ave.: Cornhusker Highway (within city limits), 14th to 73rd: and No. 27th, Vine to Holdrege.

Any reference to "major shopping centers" has been deleted from the amended resolution.

The exclusion of University Place and College View from the approved areas was amended to read, "because of the location of the church-affiliated colleges of Nebraska Wesleyan and Union College in those areas."

The council voted to approve applications to transfer off-sale beer licenses by Ken and O. W. Kimmel from 101 No. 27th to 1236 South and by James and Maxine Dunbar from 2365 O to 332 No. 48th.

Also approved were requests by A-Go-Go Liquor Co. for a package liquor license at 839½ No. 27th: William J. and Henrietta Haberlan for an on-and-off sale beer license at 308 So. 11th and Vernon J. and Rose Lee Hennessey for an off-sale beer license at 2365 O.

Abstained

Council member Mrs. Helen Boosalis said she abstained from the voting on the Hennessey and Dunbar requests because the new policy resolution has not been formally passed.

All of Monday's requests were approved without a negative vote.

Next Monday was also set as the date of hearing for the application of Earl Diamond for an off-sale beer license at 2619 Holdrege.

City Council Seeks Legal Opinion In Auction Incident

An opinion by the city legal department on the city's right to license auctioneers of real estate was requested by the City Council Monday.

The request stems from an incident in which city police stopped real estate brokers Stanley Portsche and Ira Youngberg from auctioning real estate owned by Real Estate Traders, Inc.

Portsche, Youngberg and Real Estate Traders subsequently filed claims, against the city, alleging false arrest, loss of commission and loss of expenses.

Claims Denied

The claims were denied by the council.

No charges have been filed against the men in connection with the incident.

In a letter to the council, attorneys for Real Estate Traders said that state law specifically includes the auctioning of real estate with the licensed activities of a real estate broker.

The letter asked for a clarification of whether the city ordinance requiring the licensing of auctioneers of real estate "exceeds the powers conferred by state law and city charter."

In requesting a report on the matter by the legal department, Councilman Lloyd Hinkley said that Portsche has been subject to unfair criticism because of the incident.

Legislative Issues Discussed At Dinner For Congressmen

Washington (AP) — Legislative issues were discussed Monday night at the annual dinner given by the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce in honor of the state's congressional delegation.

The dinner also was attended by other Nebraskans now in Washington.

Earl Luff, Lincoln, president of the state chamber, presided. He congratulated Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., on receiving the 1965 award of the American Good Government Society Sunday night.

Hruska, responding, said he hoped the visiting Nebraska businessmen would make their voices heard for the principles in which they believe — not negatively—but in positive assertion of the right of business to compete on equal terms in a free society without government interference.

Hruska said some of the things he sees as possible current threat to business include the package and labeling bill, minimum wage extension, double pay for overtime, extension of wage and hour coverage and a 35-hour work week.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis predicted Congress will repeal wartime excise taxes on jewelry, furs, cosmetics and luggage, including ladies' handbags, and repeal or modify some other excise taxes.

Rep. Dave Martin, noting a drive to repeal the right-to-work section of that Taft-Hartley Labor Law, said he does not favor repeal. He said states should have the right to determine whether they will have right-to-work laws.

Hearings on the issue are to be held next month by the House Labor Committee of which he is a member, he said. If this session of Congress lasts long enough after July 1, he said, it appears the section might be repealed.

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., outlined his efforts to advance Nebraska's agricultural and industrial development, said he is making every effort to keep open the Lincoln Veterans Administration Hospital and to have some use made of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Among those here with the Chamber group were Frank P. Fogarty, vice president of the Omaha Chamber and president of Meredith Broadcasting Co.; Louis Somberg, president of the Omaha Chamber; Tom Pansing, president of the Lincoln Chamber; George Mechling and Lewis Harris of Lincoln; James F. Olson of Omaha; Paul K. Ely of North Platte and W. W. Marshall Jr., of Grand Island.

Slate Hearing On Liquor Policy

The City Council has set next Monday at 1:30 p.m. as the date for public hearing on its newly amended liquor and beer policy resolution.

The resolution, not yet officially passed by the council, will allow not more than three package liquor licenses and three off-sale beer licenses in each of the city's previously approved out-lying commercial areas.

The resolution retains the old limit on the total number of premises having retail beer licenses in the city (58, of which not more than 40 will be licenses for retailing beer for consumption on the premises), and licenses for retailing liquor in the original package only (31).

Affected Areas

Areas affected by the new policy are: Havelock; Gateway area, between N and R, 56th and 63rd; 48th, from O to Vine, and O, 46th to 56th; South St., 10th to 17th; High St., 10th to 14th, High to Calvert; West O, U.S. 6 cut-off to Burlington Ave.; Cornhusker Highway (within city limits), 14th to 73rd; and No. 27th, Vine to Holdrege.

Any reference to "major shopping centers" has been deleted from the amended resolution.

The exclusion of University Place and College View from the approved areas was amended to read, "because of the location of the church-affiliated colleges of Nebraska Wesleyan and Union College in those areas."

The council voted to approve applications to transfer off-sale beer licenses by Ken and O. W .Kimmel from 101 No. 27th to 1236 South and by James and Maxine Dunbar from 2365 O to 332 No. 48th.

Also approved were requests by A-Go-Go Liquor Co. for a package liquor license at 839½ No. 27th; William J. and Henrietta Haberlan for an on-and-off sale beer license at 308 So. 11th and Vernon J. and Rose Lee Hennessey for an off-sale beer license at 2365 O.

Abstained

Council member Mrs. Helen Boosalis said she abstained from the voting on the Hennessey and Dunbar requests because the new policy resolution has not been formally passed.

All of Monday's requests were approved without a negative vote.

Next Monday was also set as the date of hearing for the application of Earl Diamond for an off-sale beer license at 2619 Holdrege.

Legislative Issues Discussed At Dinner For Congressmen

Washington (AP) — Legislative issues were discussed Monday night at the annual dinner given by the Nebraska Chamber of Commerce in honor of the state's congressional delegation.

The dinner also was attended by other Nebraskans now in Washington.

Earl Luff, Lincoln, president of the state chamber, presided. He congratulated Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb., on receiving the 1965 award of the American Good Government Society Sunday night.

Hruska, responding, said he hoped the visiting Nebraska businessmen would make their voices heard for the principles in which they believe — not negatively—but in positive assertion of the right of business to compete on equal terms in a free society without government interference.

Hruska said some of the things he sees as possible current threat to business include the package and labeling bill, minimum wage extension, double pay for overtime, extension of wage and hour coverage and a 35-hour work week.

Sen. Carl T. Curtis predicted Congress will repeal wartime excise taxes on jewelry, furs, cosmetics and luggage, including ladies' handbags, and repeal or modify some other excise taxes.

Rep. Dave Martin, noting a drive to repeal the right-to-work section of that Taft-Hartley Labor Law, said he does not favor repeal. He said states should have the right to determine whether they will have right-to-work laws.

Hearings on the issue are to be held next month by the House Labor Committee of which he is a member, he said. If this session of Congress lasts long enough after July 1, he said, it appears the section might be repealed.

Rep. Clair Callan, D-Neb., outlined his efforts to advance Nebraska's agricultural and industrial development, said he is making every effort to keep open the Lincoln Veterans Administration Hospital and to have some use made of the Lincoln Air Force Base.

Among those here with the Chamber group were Frank P. Fogarty, vice president of the Omaha Chamber and president of Meredith Broadcasting Co.; Louis Somberg, president of the Omaha Chamber; Tom Pansing, president of the Lincoln Chamber; George Mechling and Lewis Harris of Lincoln; James E. Olson of Omaha; Paul K. Ely of North Platte and W. W. Marshall Jr., of Grand Island.

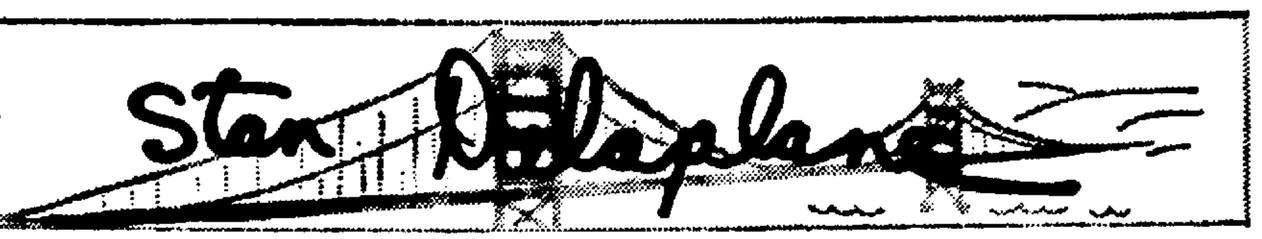
POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane



The world is changing shape these days. (But aren't we all?) Science has figured out that the world is now pear-shaped. Not round like you and I learned in third grade.

Nobody has really proved the world looks like a pear. But important scientists say so. And we take their word for it.

Not everybody. The International Flat Earth Research Society says flatly that the earth is more like a pancake.

A long time ago, Galileo came out in favor of a round and moving world.

People in those good old days did not take such statements without question.

They put Galileo on a rack and stretched him a mite.

They asked: "What say now, Galileo?"

Since he was getting an inch taller by the minute—a most painful way to grow—Galileo recanted. Backed off and said the world was flat and stood still.

You ask what about space flights?

The Flat Earth Research Society has an answer: "Such astronauts land back on a horizontal piece of earth after circuiting what might be described as a sort of saucer."

This is the mailman's perspective of life.

A few years ago, Richard Murphy was Assistant Postmaster General. In order to show that he was with the job, he took a sack and delivered letters one day.

He walked 10 miles. Delivered bills. Delivered those "Occupant" things. Stuffed mail boxes with second class letters with the flap tucked in. The ones that say: "Dear Sir: At last you have the opportunity to . . ."

TV men and newspaper reporters followed him around. They photographed him in the act. Fore and aft.

Instead of making mailmen happy, it made them mad.

They pointed out that Washington is flat as the Flat Earth Society says the world is. That Murphy took an easy route.

So the whole idea — (ah, good intentions!)—was a bust

Murphy went back to his office. Probably wondering what all the shooting was about.

The Flat Earth Research Society does not care what the astronauts do. Nor what they think.

If astronauts want to go round and round the saucer and think they are going round the world, OK.

The Society just puts out bulletins on what really happened. They are content to wait until people wake up. See how foolish they have been.

In later years—about the year I was in third grade—the world was rounded off by science.

I was taught that the world looked something like an orange.

Now we find it is not like an orange. It is like a pear. It bulges around the equator. But don't we all?

Matches U.S. Average'

The Health Insurance Institute of New York reported Monday that the percentage of Nebraskans with health insurance matches the national average.

The institute said 77% of the state's employed are covered by some form of health insurance to cover the costs of hospital and medical care.

If you've been sitting tight waiting for just your kind of car, with just your kind of power, at just your kind of price—wait no longer!

Chevrolet. It's a bigger, more beautiful car this year. Which is why that handsome silhouette could be mistaken for cars costing a thousand—even two thousand—dollars more. And when you slip inside and see its fine interiors, it's easy to make the same mistake twice.

Chevelle. This one's got lively looks, spirited power, a softer ride—and a remarkable amount of room atop a highly maneuverable wheelbase. Beginning to see why it's today's favorite mid-size car? A visit to your Chevrolet dealer's will show you conclusively.

Chevy II. No car so trim looking has a right to be so thrifty. But saving money is its specialty. So you get things like an exhaust system that keeps lasting and lasting. A Delcotron generator that helps keep the battery young. And brakes that keep adjusting themselves.

Corvair. It's the reason drivers who always ducked twisting roads and roller-coaster hills now seek them out. Ask any '65 Corvair owner how it feels to drive a car with such easy steering, tenacious traction and responsive rear-engine power. And be ready to do lots of listening.

REALITY
has its bright moments in suburbia

Recently there were brief stirrings of warm breezes, and although they didn't remain with us on a permanent basis, they did create some anticipation. They brought dreams of relaxing at pool side; of weekends spent at summer cottages, and of summer vacations.

Reality has its bright moments, too, as we discovered on a trek through the suburban areas this morning where we discovered that Fiene Heights residents are busy with a variety of activities.

FIENE HEIGHTS

While most of the children are counting the days until school is out, 3-year old Diane Bartlett is awaiting the day when her mother will return from the hospital. And while she is waiting, Diane enjoys the company of her grandmother, Mrs. H. E. Warner of Albion. Mrs. Warner will spend five weeks at the home of Lt. and Mrs. Les Bartlett.

Mrs. John F. Zimmer is involved in the matters surrounding the upcoming Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Mrs. Jay Cees convention. We were pleased to hear that Mrs. Zimmer is co-chairman for the Mrs. Jay Cees activities and certainly explains her reasons for being deeply involved and interested in the plans and preparations for this coming event.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Riddle left last Thursday for Denver, Colo. where they visited with their daughter, Miss Kaye Riddle, a nurse at the General Rose Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Riddle returned home again on Tuesday.

Mrs. Fred Sherman of Loup City arrived last Saturday for a two-day visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Sherman.

Now for something of interest to the friendly Fiene Boulevard neighborhood. You will all be excited to hear that Mr. and Mrs. James A. Mulder are new neighbors on your street since last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Mulder formerly resided at 1910 Pawnee, and they have three children, Roxy Ann, a freshman at Hastings College; Dan, a senior at Southeast High School and the youngest family member is Jay.

Let us now move on to Kessler Heights for a look at their past weekend activities. Out-of-town trips and guests seem to be the news in that area.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

It was off to Humboldt last Saturday, for Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sramcik. The couple visited in Humboldt with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Marburgers. The twosome returned to Lincoln again on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Clark and their son Jim enjoyed the weekend visit made by the fourth member of the Clark family. We are speaking of Miss Janet Clark, a student nurse who is presently assigned to duties at the Hastings hospital. Janet arrived on Friday with one of her classmates and the two returned to Hastings last Sunday.

TEA
honors state auxiliary

Entertaining the members of the Nebraska Dental Auxiliary, who are in Lincoln for their annual spring meeting in conjuction with the State Dental Society convention, was Mrs. Earl Lampshire who was hostess at tea Monday afternoon at her home.

The auxiliary will meet for luncheon, Tuesday noon, at the University Club, after which new officers will be elected and installed.

WINS
speech competition

Named winner of the annual Council 5, Toastmistress Clubs, speech competition on Sunday at the Hotel Cornhusker was Mrs. Henry Holst of the Lincoln Club.

Mrs. Bryan Stromer of Lincoln, served as chairman for the speech contest which highlighted the all-day meeting of the council, composed of eight toastmistress clubs in Nebraska and western Iowa.

Mrs. Holst will represent the council at the organization's North Central regional competition, to be held May 22 and 23, at Milwaukee.

TALK
around the town

It has been a profitable morning news-wise. That isn't to say that there is anything particularly exciting going on today—or even tomorrow. But we like what we see for the weekend.

Perhaps we should say a hearty 'thank you' to the University of Nebraska for its Master Program planned for next week at the Nebraska Center. We hasten to add that we aren't nearly so interested in the program as we are some of the Masters since some of the weekend activity revolves around them.

There will be many who will remember 'Tim' Corey who is a Sig Alpha at Nebraska and who played Varsity football here numerous years ago. And the Pi Beta Phi alumnae will remember the oh-so-lovely Mrs. Corey (Constance Lyford of Nebraska City). Well, Mr. Corey, who really is Harold H. Corey, is to be one of the Masters and will be accompanied to Lincoln by Mrs. Corey.

You doubtless already know that Mr. Corey is chairman of the board of the Hormel Packing Co., Austin, Minn., and has served the company as president—the first non-member of the Hormel family to hold that position.

Next Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau will be a dinner host and hostess at the Lincoln Country Club in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Corey. A small group of guests has been invited.

Two more Masters—Gene Robb (Delta Upsilon at Nebraska) publisher of the Albany, N.Y. newspapers, and William McCleery, playright, magazine editor and such and things—will be the incentive for some entertaining on Sunday evening, also.

Mr. Robb and Mr. McCleery will he honored by Mr. and Mrs. Elwood N. Thompson who have planned a 5 o'clock to 7 o'clock party at their home. The guest list will include a small group of old friends of Mr. Robb and Mr. McCleery.

Then we learned that Mrs. William Farnsworth of Santa Barbara, Calif., who has been spending the past week as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Frank Boehmer, leaves today to return to her home.

B, PW
Elects

More than 200 delegates representing the 40 Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Nebraska attended the organization's annual convention at Grand Island last weekend.

Mrs. Fran Johnson of Grand Island was elected new president of the state federation, and other new officers will be Mrs. Morean Aldritt, Hastings, first vice president; Mrs. Ramona Freeman, Chappell, second vice president; Mrs. Margaret Hart, Omaha, third vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Develyn, Gering, treasurer; and Mrs. Erma Harvey, North Platte, recording secretary.

New directors named were Miss Delores Nolte, Kearney; Mrs. Ruth Rouse, Fairbury; Mrs. Stella Young, David City; Mrs. Cecilia Gies, York; Mrs. Margene Shuck, Superior; and Mrs. Selma Hammond, Kimball.

Mrs. Martha Rohrick, past state president of the federation, was honored as the 1965 Woman of Achievement.

Mrs. William Grossman was named president of the Zonta Club of Lincoln, Saturday afternoon at a luncheon-meeting of the organization held at the Hotel Cornhusker.

Also elected to office were Miss Eileen Motz, vice president; Mrs. Margaret Diamond, secretary; and Mrs. Robert Suter, treasurer.

Miss Velma McKenzie was elected to the board succeeding Mrs. E. G. Dittmer. Continuing on the board for the second year of her term of office will be Mrs. Jack K. Sittner.

The new officers will be formally installed Monday night by Mrs. Esther Westman of St. Paul, Minn., district governor, at a combined meeting of the Lincoln, Omaha and Council Bluffs clubs in Omaha.

Alumnae Club

Alumnae of Alpha Omicron Pi sorority will entertain at a 10:30 o'clock brunch next Saturday morning at the Hotel Lincoln. Honored guests will be the seniors of the collegiate chapter at the University of Nebraska.

REALITY

has its bright moments in suburbia

Recently there were brief stirrings of warm breezes, and although they didn't remain with us on a permanent basis, they did create some anticipation. They brought dreams of relaxing at pool side; of weekends spent at summer cottages, and of summer vacations.

Reality has its bright moments, too, as we discovered on a trek through the suburban areas this morning where we discovered that Fiene Heights residents are busy with a variety of activities.

FIENE HEIGHTS

While most of the children are counting the days until school is out, 3-year old Diane Bartlett is awaiting the day when her mother will return from the hospital. And while she is waiting, Diane enjoys the company of her grandmother, Mrs. H. E. Warner of Albion. Mrs. Warner will spend five weeks at the home of Lt. and Mrs. Les Bartlett.

Mrs. John F. Zimmer is involved in the matters surrounding the upcoming Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Mrs. Jay Cees convention. We were pleased to hear that Mrs. Zimmer is co-chairman for the Mrs. Jay Cees activities and certainly explains her reasons for being deeply involved and interested in the plans and preparations for this coming event.

Mr. and Mrs. R. N. Riddle left last Thursday for Denver, Colo. where they visited with their daughter, Miss Kaye Riddle, a nurse at the General Rose Memorial Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Riddle returned home again on Tuesday.

Mrs. Fred Sherman of Loup City arrived last Saturday for a two-day visit with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Sherman.

Now for something of interest to the friendly Fiene Boulevard neighborhood. You will all be excited to hear that Mr. and Mrs. James A. Mulder are new neighbors on your street since last Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Mulder formerly resided at 1910 Pawnee, and they have three children, Roxy Ann, a freshman at Hastings College; Dan, a senior at Southeast High School and the youngest family member is Jay.

Let us now move on to Kessler Heights for a look at their past weekend activities. Out-of-town trips and guests seem to be the news in that area.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

It was off to Humboldt last Saturday, for Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Sramcik. The couple visited in Humboldt with Mr. and Mrs. Willard Marburgers. The twosome returned to Lincoln again on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Clark and their son Jim enjoyed the weekend visit made by the fourth member of the Clark family. We are speaking of Miss Janet Clark, a student nurse who is presently assigned to duties at the Hastings hospital. Janet arrived on Friday with one of her classmates and the two returned to Hastings last Sunday.

TEA

honors state auxiliary

Entertaining the members of the Nebraska Dental Auxiliary, who are in Lincoln for their annual spring meeting in conjuction with the State Dental Society convention, was Mrs. Earl Lampshire who was hostess at tea Monday afternoon at her home.

The auxiliary will meet for luncheon, Tuesday noon, at the University Club, after which new officers will be elected and installed.

WINS

speech competition

Named winner of the annual Council 5, Toastmistress Clubs, speech competition on Sunday at the Hotel Cornhusker was Mrs. Henry Holst of the Lincoln Club.

Mrs. Bryan Stromer of Lincoln, served as chairman for the speech contest which highlighted the all-day meeting of the council, composed of eight toastmistress clubs in Nebraska and western Iowa.

Mrs. Holst will represent the council at the organization's North Central regional competition, to be held May 22 and 23, at Milwaukee.

TALK

around the town

It has been a profitable morning newswise. That isn't to say that there is anything particularly exciting going on today—or even tomorrow. But we like what we see for the weekend.

Perhaps we should say a hearty 'thank you' to the University of Nebraska for its Master Program planned for next week at the Nebraska Center. We hasten to add that we aren't nearly so interested in the program as we are some of the Masters since some of the weekend activity revolves around them.

There will be many who will remember 'Tim' Corey who is a Sig Alpha at Nebraska and who played Varsity football here numerous years ago. And the Pi Beta Phi alumnae will remember the oh-so-lovely Mrs. Corey (Constance Lyford of Nebraska City). Well, Mr. Corey, who really is Harold H. Corey, is to be one of the Masters and will be accompanied to Lincoln by Mrs. Corey.

You doubtless already know that Mr. Corey is chairman of the board of the Hormel Packing Co., Austin, Minn., and has served the company as president—the first non-member of the Hormel family to hold that position.

Next Sunday evening Mr. and Mrs. Alfred DuTeau will be a dinner host and hostess at the Lincoln Country Club in courtesy to Mr. and Mrs. Corey. A small group of guests has been invited.

Two more Masters—Gene Robb (Delta Upsilon at Nebraska) publisher of the Albany, N.Y. newspapers, and William McCleery, playright, magazine editor and such and things—will be the incentive for some entertaining on Sunday evening, also.

Mr. Robb and Mr. McCleery will he honored by Mr. and Mrs. Elwood N. Thompson who have planned a 5 o'clock to 7 o'clock party at their home. The guest list will include a small group of old friends of Mr. Robb and Mr. McCleery.

Then we learned that Mrs. William Farnsworth of Santa Barbara· Calif., who has been spending the past week as the guest of her mother, Mrs. Frank Boehmer, leaves today to return to her home.

B, PW

Elects

More than 200 delegates representing the 40 Business and Professional Women's Clubs in Nebraska attended the organization's annual convention at Grand Island last weekend.

Mrs. Fran Johnson of Grand Island was elected new president of the state federation, and other new officers will be Mrs. Morean Aldritt, Hastings, first vice president; Mrs. Ramona Freeman, Chappell, second vice president; Mrs. Margaret Hart, Omaha, third vice president; Mrs. Dorothy Develyn, Gering, treasurer; and Mrs. Erma Harvey, North Platte, recording secretary.

New directors named were Miss Delores Nolte, Kearney; Mrs. Ruth Rouse, Fairbury; Mrs. Stella Young, David City; Mrs. Cecilia Gies, York; Mrs. Margene Shuck, Superior; and Mrs. Selma Hammond, Kimball.

Mrs. Martha Rohrick, past state president of the federation, was honored as the 1965 Woman of Achievement.

ABBY

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Do you think a woman has to get all dressed up just to go marketing? My husband and I always do our week's shopping together on Saturday afternoon. I am a rather large woman and when I dress up I wear a foundation garment, but I never bother to put one on just to spend an hour or two in my own neighborhood shopping center. I just throw on any old housedress that's handy.

Last Saturday my husband blew his top and said he wasn't going to be seen with me if I went like that. We had a few words and I gave him my shopping list and he went alone. Do you see anything wrong with a woman dressed the way I was just to go marketing in her own neighborhood? If someone I knew saw me that way I'm sure they'd think nothing of it

"COMFORTABLE"

DEAR COMFORTABLE: The opinion of your husband is far more important than the opinion of chance acquaintances. Furthermore, a sturdy foundation is essential in all marriages, and a wise wife won't mind struggling into one to please her husband.

DEAR ABBY: You are a hypocrite! In one column you tell teen-agers to grow up before they get married. And then you turn around and write a column congratulating women on being the youngest grandmothers you can find.

Tell me, what kind of "honor" is it to have a baby at 13 or 14?

I wonder how the average mother would feel if her 14-year-old daughter came home and said, "Mom, Im pregnant." Would Mom say, "It's okay, dear, now I can enter Dear Abby's Youngest Granny contest!"?

MOTHER AT 29 (and that was soon enough)

DEAR ABBY: A woman asked me over morning coffee if the Swede I was married to was "cold." I was taken aback and replied only "No." Abby, my Swede is anything but "cold." He is over fifty now and there were times when I had wished he were older. Where do people get the mistaken idea that Swedes are "cold"?

A SWEDE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: It is probably a rumor started by a Norwegian.

DEAR ABBY: Please print this for the benefit of "TENNESSEE HUNTER" and all other hunters who somehow manage to rationalize their urge to kill: When they provide deer with guns and ammunition, and teach them how to use them in self-defense, I will go hunting. Thank you.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1♣	Pass	1♥	1♠
3♣	3♠	4♣	Pass
5♣

Opening lead — three of spades.

Errors of omission can be just as expensive in the play of the cards as errors of commission.

Let's say that you have the South hand and West leads a spade, which you ruff. Prospects of making the contract are very good, since you can make eleven tricks after drawing trumps, if it turns out that the hearts are divided 3-3 or, failing that, that East has the ace of diamonds.

But if your thinking stops there, you haven't carried it far enough. There is still another possibility of making the contract, even if the hearts are not divided 3-3 and West has the ace of diamonds.

This possibility costs nothing to investigate and greatly increases the chances of making the contract.

After ruffing the spade, you draw two rounds of trumps, play a heart to the queen, ruff another spade, play a heart to the king, and then ruff dummy's last spade.

These preparations, which do not (in and of themselves) gain any tricks, are made in order to cover the possibility that the hearts are divided 4-2 or 5-1— with West having the heart length.

When you now play a heart to the ace and it turns out that East has no more hearts, you have a right to congratulate yourself on having been smart enough to clear the dummy of spades. These preparatory moves now assure the contract, regardless of where the ace of diamonds is located.

You play the seven of hearts from dummy and, instead of ruffing it, discard a diamond. West wins with the jack but now finds himself so placed that he must return a spade, giving you a ruff and discard, or else a diamond, which makes your king a trick.

As a result you make the contract. The underlying principle is that you should not be willing to settle for just a good chance to make the contract without first looking for a still better chance.

TOTAL SAVINGS PROGRAM

The last time Mary took her husband grocery shopping at Hinky Dinky, he wandered over to the sporting goods store and bought himself a box of new golf balls. Actually, the golf balls were like a free gift because he bought them with the savings Mary made on her groceries.

If, like most families, you have to watch your pennies, then you'll enjoy savings up to $200 every year. Hinky Dinky's TOTAL SAVINGS PROGRAM has brought an entire new level of low cost selling to town.

Our everyday low prices remain low seven days a week. We do not place heavy emphasis on just a few specials, because everything is at a low price. Everything is top quality. This is possible because we have stripped away unnecessary costs. We have marshalled all of the cost saving ability of our smart, alert buyers, our tremendous buying power, our efficient store operation toward one goal . . . lowering the price you pay for food. Better join the "Thrifty Ones" the ever-growing number of folks who shop at Hinky Dinky.

Pay Raise Nixed For Liquor Unit

Nebraska's Legislature in a late change of heart refused Monday to approve $2,000-a-year salary increases for members of the State Liquor Control Commission

The salary bill, LB700, received only 21 approving votes and 26 opposition votes on final reading after having successfully hurdled all earlier barriers to final enactment.

Introduced by Sen Dale Payne of Papillion the bill would have increased the salary of the three commissioners from $7 000 to $9 000 per year It also would have required the Legislature to confirm appointments made by the governor to the commission and would have permitted the commission to set the salary of the commission secretary now set by law at $7 000 per year

Lawmakers similarly balked last week at final passage of a bill increasing the pay of the governor and other top elected state officials, but reconsidered later and passed a toned down version of the bill in a form that left unchanged the $18 000 salary of the governor and provided for more modest increases for other state officials

Only one bill previously had failed of passage in its showdown, that being LB86, abolishing the tax on household goods and personal effects

While rejecting the pay raise for liquor commissioners legislators Monday endorsed other salary related bills

They approved 40-9 a bill giving the State Supreme Court the authority to fix—without limit—the salaries of the clerk and reporter

And they approved 29-19 a bill authorizing the governor to set—without limit—the salaries of department heads, including the agriculture director, labor commissioner, state engineer, water resources director, insurance director, motor vehicles director, public welfare director, institutions director and welfare director

At present salaries of these officials are written into law.

The Legislature continues to exercise a measure of indirect salary control however, because it appropriates the money out of which salaries are paid

Measure Directing 'Liberal' Tax Exemptions Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Revenue Committee Monday advanced to the floor a bill which would direct administrators and the courts to make a "liberal" construction of the law in determining tax exemption.

The measure, LB872, sponsored by the Salaries and Claims Committee, had originally called for a "strict" construction of tax exemption statues.

Amended by the committee, it won 5-2 approval.

Also advanced, each on a 7-0 count, were three bills which raise the mill levy ceiling on first class cities from 20 to 25 mills, and on second class cities and villages from 25 to 30 mills.

The measures, LB255, LB260 and LB261, were introduced by Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington.

In other action, Sen Terry Carpenter's income tax bill came within one vote of being advanced to the floor for debate.

The proposal, LB141, would enact an income tax levy on individuals and corporations totaling 4% of the amount they pay in federal income taxes. Carpenter has estimated it would raise about $25 million.

One Short

LB141 won four votes to advance, one short of the necessary committee majority.

An effort to move LB849, a so-called fair trade practices bill which would prohibit below-cost selling of cigarettes, failed on a 4-1 vote. The measure was sponsored by the Salaries and Claims Committee.

Re-advanced to the floor following a public hearing was Legislative Resolution 17 which, in its amended form, would provide for an audit of the state general fund, miscellaneous cash fund and unobligated cash funds as of June 30, 1963. Vote was 6-1.

Returned

The resolution had earlier been sent to the floor for discussion, but was returned to the committee for a hearing.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, chief sponsor, said the proposal is "not intended to cast doubts on any existing state agencies" but would provide the Legislature with undetermined information. There was no opposing testimony.

The committee agreed to sponsor a new bill which would appropriate up to $32,500 to pay for the audit.

Also Advanced

Also advanced, on a 5-1 vote, was LB676, an amended Burbach bill to require the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, in setting the state levy, to take into account the unexpended surplus in the general fund, miscellaneous cash fund and unobligated cash funds.

Killed on a 7-0 vote was LB883, which would include state school lands in county reappraisals and provide that values determined in the reappraisals be used for school land rentals.

The measure, sponsored by the Salaries and Claims Committee, faced constitutional questions, Burbach said. No one opposed it at the public hearing.

3 New Bills

Also axed on a 6-1 vote was LB411, signed by Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte, which would repeal statutes providing that the State Board of Equalization and Assessment allow a cushion of 3% to 5% in setting the state property tax levy.

The committee agreed to sponsor three additional new bills which would provide an appeal procedure from the state tax commissioner's assessment rulings on tangible property; correct a procedural error in LB84, already enacted; harmonize penalty provisions in LB83, and LB84, already enacted.

Bill To Curb Industrial Thefts Wins 8 To 0 Committee Okay

A bill designed to curb research thievery by making it a felony to steal industrial secrets won 8-0 approval Monday from the Legislature's Banking Committee.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, introducer of LB867, led a parade of six witnesses in support of the measure and there was no oposition.

Witnesses included representatives of Associated Industries of Nebraska, State Chamber of Commerce, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Cyanamid Co., Harris Laboratories of Lincoln and the state Agriculture Department.

Few companies in the history of commerce and industry have been victimized by research pirates as has American Cyanamid, J. R. Proffitt, manager of Cyanamid's crystal plant in South Sioux City and branch plants at Laurel, Wisner and Clearwater, told the committee.

The thefts, he explained, took place from Cyanamid's subsidiary, Lederle Laboratories, at Pearl River, N. Y. Cultures of antibiotics and production information were stolen and these were used by foreign firms to produce drugs marketed in competition with Cyanamid's own products, which were developed at a cost of millions of dollars in research, he said.

"These thefts threatened not only private enterprise research activity, but the jobs of thousands of production workers," he said.

What happened in New York "could just as well happen in Lincoln or Omaha or any of several score Nebraska communities in which industrial or agricultural research activities are conducted," he said.

Proffitt said LB867 will encourage research oriented companies to locate and expand in Nebraska.

He said Cyanamid, whose Nebraska plants blend and package chemical fertilizers, plans to establish another plant in northeastern Nebraska and still another in north central Nebraska.

Floyd A. Krelle of Omaha, commander of VFW Post 181, also recalled the Lederle thefts in reporting that the state VFW and national VFW are on record as urging laws to deter research piracy.

AGRESEARCH CHANGE IS OPPOSED

Morris Dillon, president of the Platte Valley Alfalfa Growers Association, disclosed Monday that the Organization has passed a resolution opposing removal of the state program of agricultural research into new uses for farm products away from the State Department of Agriculture.

The change in administration is proposed in LB807, a bill given public hearing Thursday before the Legislature's Agricultural Committee.

Measure Directing 'Liberal' Tax Exemptions Advanced

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

The Legislature's Revenue Committee Monday advanced to the floor a bill which would direct administrators and the courts to make a "liberal" construction of the law in determining tax exemption.

The measure, LB872, sponsored by the Salaries and Claims Committee, had originally called for a "strict" construction of tax exemption statues.

Amended by the committee, it won 5-2 approval.

Also advanced, each on a 7-0 count, were three bills which raise the mill levy ceiling on first class cities from 20 to 25 mills, and on second class cities and villages from 25 to 30 mills.

The measures, LB255, LB260 and LB261, were introduced by Sen. Albert Kjar of Lexington.

In other action, Sen Terry Carpenter's income tax bill came within one vote of being advanced to the floor for debate.

The proposal, LB141, would enact an income tax levy on individuals and corporations totaling 4% of the amount they pay in federal income taxes. Carpenter has estimated it would raise about $25 million.

One Short

LB141 won four votes to advance, one short of the necessary committee majority.

An effort to move LB849, a so-called fair trade practices bill which would prohibit below-cost selling of cigarettes, failed on a 4-1 vote. The measure was sponsored by the Salaries and Claims Committee.

Re-advanced to the floor following a public hearing was Legislative Resolution 17 which, in its amended form, would provide for an audit of the state general fund, miscellaneous cash fund and unobligated cash funds as of June 30, 1963. Vote was 6-1.

Returned

The resolution had earlier been sent to the floor for discussion, but was returned to the committee for a hearing.

Sen. Jules Burbach of Crofton, chief sponsor, said the proposal is "not intended to cast doubts on any existing state agencies" but would provide the Legislature with undetermined information. There was no opposing testimony.

The committee agreed to sponsor a new bill whicn would appropriate up to $32,500 to pay for the audit.

Also Advanced

Also advanced, on a 5-1 vote, was LB676, an amended Burbach bill to require the State Board of Equalization and Assessment, in setting the state levy, to take into account the unexpended surplus in the general fund, miscellaneous cash fund and unobligated cash funds.

Killed on a 7-0 vote was LB883, which would include state school lands in county reappraisals and provide that values determined in the reappraisals be used for school land rentals.

The measure, sponsored by the Salaries and Claims Committee, faced constitutional questions, Burbach said. No one opposed it at the public hearing.

3 New Bills

Also axed on a 6-1 vote was LB411, signed by Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte, which would repeal statutes providing that the State Board of Equalization and Assessment allow a cushion of 3% to 5% in setting the state property tax levy.

The committee agreed to sponsor three additional new bills which would provide an appeal procedure from the state tax commissioner's assessment rulings on tangible property; correct a procedural error in LB84, already enacted; harmonize penalty provisions in LB83, and LB84, already enacted.

Bill To Curb Industrial Thefts Wins 8 To 0 Committee Okay

A bill designed to curb research thievery by making it a felony to steal industrial secrets won 8-0 approval Monday from the Legislature's Banking Committee.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, introducer of LB867, led a parade of six witnesses in support of the measure and there was no oposition.

Witnesses included representatives of Associated Industries of Nebraska, State Chamber of Commerce, Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Cyanamid Co., Harris Laboratories of Lincoln and the state Agriculture Department.

Few companies in the history of commerce and industry have been victimized by research pirates as has American Cyanamid, J. R. Proffitt, manager of Cyanamid's crystal plant in South Sioux City and branch plants at Laurel, Wisner and Clearwater, told the committee.

The thefts, he explained, took place from Cyanamid's subsidiary, Lederle Laboratories, at Pearl River, N. Y. Cultures of antibiotics and production information were stolen and these were used by foreign firms to produce drugs marketed in competition with Cyanamid's own products, which were developed at a cost of millions of dollars in research, he said.

"These thefts threatened not only private enterprise research activity, but the jobs of thousands of production workers," he said.

What happened in New York "could just as well happen in Lincoln or Omaha or any of several score Nebraska communities in which industrial or agricultural research activities are conducted," he said.

Proffitt said LB867 will encourage research oriented companies to locate and expand in Nebraska.

He said Cyanamid, whose Nebraska plants blend and package chemical fertilizers, plans to establish another plant in northeastern Nebraska and still another in north central Nebraska.

Floyd A. Krelle of Omaha, commander of VFW Post 181, also recalled the Lederle thefts in reporting that the state VFW and national VFW are on record as urging laws to deter research piracy.

AGRESEARCH CHANGE IS OPPOSED

Morris Dillon, president of the Platte Valley Alfalfa Growers Association, disclosed Monday that the Organization has passed a resolution opposing removal of the state program of agricultural research into new uses for farm products away from the State Department of Agriculture.

The change in administration is proposed in LB807, a bill given public hearing Thursday before the Legislature's Agricultural Committee.

City-Rural School Confederation In Hastings Area Aired In Unicam

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

A bill for confederation of city and rural school districts in the Hastings area was explained Monday to the Legislature's Education Committee

Under LB452, introduced by Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, the City of Hastings would maintain junior and senior high schools to serve the entire area.

The rural districts would share the cost of operating the secondary grades but would retain operation of their own elementary grades.

Sen. Marvel said the plan is an earnest attempt between local rural and urban interests to find a solution to an intricate and complex problem.

Dr Richard Short, Hastings superintendent, said the bill would provide an "in-between" solution to the existing alternatives in school district reorganization.

Spokesman for farm, business and education interests in the Hastings area appeared in support of the measure.

Only opposition came from the Nebraska School Improvement Association. Its executive secretary, S. H. Brauer Jr., said the group agreed with the objective of the plan, but questioned its mechanics and urged an "interim study" by the Legislature.

Also heard and held by the committee was a similar reorganization plan in the form of LB688 presented by Beatrice area farmers and city residents.

The bill would provide for merger of Class I and Class II districts with large Class III districts for the operation of a joint high school district with the rural districts maintaining its own elementary schools.

The districts would have a joint board for secondary education with the provision that the city and rural districts would be separately assessed on the basis of over-all per pupil costs

The Beatrice bill with its two-level assessment plan differed from the Hastings bill which contained one assessment figure.

Rural and city support for the bill praised lay and educator participation in its development and the only opposition came from the NSIA.

Also heard by the committee was LB472, introduced by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, proposing a state aid to education plan.

Each public school district would levy a minimum property tax levy for its class and then would be eligible for state aid on a per pupil basis from state appropriations

Supporters for the measure said it would overcome inequities in educational opportunities for Nebraska children and provide a revenue source other than local property taxes.

It was supported by the Nebraska State Education Commission, State Education Department, Nebraska School Boards Association, Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Sidney, Holdrege and Waverly public schools.

Opposition came from the Nebraska School Improvement Association which charged state aid would lead to "state control over schools" and would "create greater tax disparity than now exists."

Meet On Rural Development Control Slated

A meeting will be held in the State Capitol Tuesday to determine if any legislation is needed to control rural development on the outskirts of Nebraska's cities

State Sanitation Engineer T. A Filipi, who called the meeting at the request of State Sens Ira Paine of Grand Island and S H. Brauer Sr. of Norfolk, said health reasons make it mandatory uncontrolled development not be allowed to continue

Filipi said rural area developments which do not conform to good regulations regarding water works, waste disposal and housing present health hazards

Omaha and Lincoln health and planning officials, the League of Nebraska Municipalities, the Water Pollution Control Federation and the American Water Works Association, among others, have been asked to attend the meeting which begins at 1:30 p.m. in Filipi's office.

Soviet U.N. Tirade Labeled 'Baseless'

United Nations N.Y. (AP)—The United States accused the Soviet Union Monday night of virtually torpedoing any chances for meaningful disarmament debate in the United Nations by making "baseless attacks" on U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson made the accusation on the opening day of debate in the 114-nation commission

Nikolai T. Fedorenko, the chief Soviet delegate, devoted most of his morning and afternoon speech to a blistering attack on U.S. foreign policy, particularly in Viet Nam.

He described the atom bombing of the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II as an experiment of the Pentagon, and said tests of new weapons were being contemplated in a Southeast Asian country—an obvious reference to Viet Nam.

Federenko declared that U S Defense Secretary Robert S McNamara had made clear at a news conference in Washington that he has "reserved the right to unleash nuclear war in Viet Nam" and "this is fraught with serious consequences for mankind"

At his news conference McNamara said there was no military requirement for use of nuclear weapons in the current situation in Viet Nam and that no useful purpose could be served by speculation on remote circumstances in which nuclear weapons might be used.

Stevenson told the commission that in an afternoon speech lasting 53 minutes, Fedorenko devoted only 36 seconds to disarmament.

"If this day's work is what the Soviet Union had in mind when he called this meeting our worst fears would be confirmed that little will be accomplished here." Stevenson added

Beatrice Utilities Jobs Step Nearer

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice—Two major utilities projects were approved and pushed a step nearer reality as part of the City Council's long-range improvement plan

Scheduled for bid openings May 24 are materials for a five million-gallon underground water storage tank and substantial portions of a 34.5-KV ring bust system. Estimates on the two, which had gone through several months of preliminary steps, are respectively $440,000 and $387,200.

The concrete storage tank supplementing an upright facility now under construction, will be at 4th and Grant The ring bus eventually will encircle much of the city to provide additional power transmitted more efficiently.

Cutoff Date

In other action, the council set May 3 as a cutoff date for paving petitions which can expect to result in completed projects this year Public Works Manager Joe Pleis explained that the deadline should eliminate winter work stoppages which have been troublesome in other years.

Sixteen districts involving 90 blocks are now anticipated for bid-letting by July, according to consulting engineer Dean Connett of Lincoln. The work itself is due for completion by October.

A 52-yar-old businessman, Eldon M Gerdes, was appointed third ward councilman for the next two years. The garage owner fills the vacancy created when Russell Arthur refused the seat he had won by write-in vote.

The council promised to look into a complaint filed by 21 persons objecting to the condition of a house at 812½ Grant, a rental property owned by Ralph Sathoff. Mrs Alfred Rasmussen, delegation spokesman, described the house as "not fit for human habitation"

Other action

—Referred to Board of Public Works three bids on sanitary sewer district 139 (Prairie Lane Addition) Meints Brothers Construction Co of Beatrice apparent low with $28 810

—Named Paul Kolkkowski acting council president in the event the mayor and president are absent

—Received report from Councilman Robert [illegible] that a bond ordinance to implement the recently approved off-street parking will be ready for enactment this week

—Granted permit to John Wolken for trailer court three spaces in 1000 block of West Court A petition objecting had stated [illegible] that the area is zoned residential —Approved promotion of Harold Forke to captain of Fire Department and Leland G. [illegible] and Gerald Hulsey to fireman first class

—Approved appointment of Gene Parks to Police Department

—Approved appointment of Don Beach to Planning and Zoning Commission, replacing F. Warner Smith who had resigned. The term expires in July 1966.

—Approved plans for sanitary sewer districts [illegible] between 16th and 17th and High and Grant and voted to advertise for bids

—Suspended rules and enacted on three readings water main district 80 (between Front and Second, Florence and Granville)

The rural districts would share the cost of operating the secondary grades but would retain operation of their own elementary grades.

Sen. Marvel said the plan is an earnest attempt between local rural and urban interests to find a solution to an intricate and complex problem.

Dr. Richard Short, Hastings superintendent, said the bill would provide an "in-between" solution to the existing alternatives in school district reorganization.

Spokesman for farm, business and education interests in the Hastings area appeared in support of the measure.

Only opposition came from the Nebraska School Improvement Association. Its executive secretary, S. H. Brauer Jr., said the group agreed with the objective of the plan, but questioned its mechanics and urged an "interim study" by the Legislature.

Also heard and held by the committee was a similar reorganization plan in the form of LB688 presented by Beatrice area farmers and city residents.

The bill would provide for merger of Class I and Class II districts with large Class III districts for the operation of a joint high school district with the rural districts maintaining its own elementary schools.

The districts would have a joint board for secondary education with the provision that the city and rural districts would be separately assessed on the basis of over-all per pupil costs.

The Beatrice bill with its two-level assessment plan differed from the Hastings bill which contained one assessment figure.

Rural and city support for the bill praised lay and educator participation in its development and the only opposition came from the NSIA.

Also heard by the committee was LB472, introduced by Sen. Jerome Warner of Waverly, proposing a state aid to education plan.

Each public school district would levy a minimum property tax levy for its class and then would be eligible for state aid on a per pupil basis from state appropriations.

Supporters for the measure said it would overcome inequities in educational opportunities for Nebraska children and provide a revenue source other than local property taxes.

It was supported by the Nebraska State Education Commission, State Education Department, Nebraska School Boards Association, Nebraska Congress of Parents and Teachers, and the Sidney, Holdrege and Waverly public schools.

Opposition came from the Nebraska School Improvement Association which charged state aid would lead to "state control over schools" and would "create greater tax disparity than now exists."

Meet On Rural Development Control Slated

A meeting will be held in the State Capitol Tuesday to determine if any legislation is needed to control rural development on the outskirts of Nebraska's cities.

State Sanitation Engineer T. A. Filipi, who called the meeting at the request of State Sens. Ira Paine of Grand Island and S. H. Brauer Sr. of Norfolk, said health reasons make it mandatory uncontrolled development not be allowed to continue.

Filipi said rural area developments which do not conform to good regulations regarding water works, waste disposal and housing present health hazards.

Omaha and Lincoln health and planning officials, the League of Nebraska Municipalities, the Water Pollution Control Federation and the American Water Works Association, among others, have been asked to attend the meeting which begins at 1:30 p.m. in Filipi's office.

CREDIT CARD DRAWBACK

Ayleen Foley, 24, was hired by the Bank of America to live for one month without spending coins or bills—all she can do is charge things with her credit card. One thing it won't operate, she found out, is a San Francisco parking meter.

Soviet U.N. Tirade Labeled 'Baseless'

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The United States accused the Soviet Union Monday night of virtually torpedoing any chances for meaningful disarmament debate in the United Nations by making "baseless attacks" on U.S. policy in Viet Nam.

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson made the accusation on the opening day of debate in the 114-nation commission.

Nikolai T. Fedorenko, the chief Soviet delegate, devoted most of his morning and afternoon speech to a blistering attack on U.S. foreign policy, particularly in Viet Nam.

He described the atom bombing of the Japanese cities of Hiroshima and Nagasaki in World War II as an experiment of the Pentagon, and said tests of new weapons were being contemplated in a Southeast Asian country—an obvious reference to Viet Nam.

Federenko declared that U.S. Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara had made clear at a news conference in Washington that he has "reserved the right to unleash nuclear war in Viet Nam" and "this is fraught with serious consequences for mankind."

At his news conference McNamara said there was no military requirement for use of nuclear weapons in the current situation in Viet Nam and that no useful purpose could be served by speculation on remote circumstances in which nuclear weapons might be used.

Stevenson told the commission that in an afternoon speech lasting 53 minutes, Fedorenko devoted only 36 seconds to disarmament.

"If this day's work is what the Soviet Union had in mind when he called this meeting our worst fears would be confirmed that little will be accomplished here," Stevenson added.

Beatrice Utilities Jobs Step Nearer

Southeast Nebraska Bureau

Beatrice—Two major utilities projects were approved and pushed a step nearer reality as part of the City Council's long-range improvement plan.

Scheduled for bid openings May 24 are materials for a five million-gallon underground water storage tank and substantial portions of a 34.5-KV ring bust system. Estimates on the two, which had gone through several months of preliminary steps, are respectively $440,000 and $387,200.

The concrete storage tank supplementing an upright facility now under construction, will be at 4th and Grant. The ring bus eventually will encircle much of the city to provide additional power transmitted more efficiently.

Cutoff Date

In other action, the council set May 3 as a cutoff date for paving petitions which can expect to result in completed projects this year. Public Works Manager Joe Pleis explained that the deadline should eliminate winter work stoppages which have been troublesome in other years.

Sixteen districts involving 90 blocks are now anticipated for bid-letting by July, according to consulting engineer Dean Connett of Lincoln. The work itself is due for completion by October.

A 52-yar-old businessman, Eldon M. Gerdes, was appointed third ward councilman for the next two years. The garage owner fills the vacancy created when Russell Arthur refused the seat he had won by write-in vote.

The council promised to look into a complaint filed by 21 persons objecting to the condition of a house at 812½ Grant, a rental property owned by Ralph Sathoff. Mrs. Alfred Rasmussen, delegation spokesman, described the house as "not fit for human habitation."

Other action:

—Referred to Board of Public Works three bids on sanitary sewer district 139 (Prairie Lane Addition), Meints Brothers Construction Co. of Beatrice apparent low with $28,810.

—Named Paul Kollekowski acting council president in the event the mayor and president are absent.

—Received report from Councilman Robert LaCroix that a bond ordinance to implement the recently approved off-street parking will be ready for enactment this week.

—Granted permit to John Wolken for trailer court (three space) in 1000 block of West Court. A petition objecting had stated erroneously that the area is zoned residential.

—Approved promotion of Harold Forke to captain of Fire Department, and Leland G. Gerwick and Gerald Hulsey to firemen first class.

—Approved appointment of Gene Parks to Police Department.

—Approved appointment of Don Beach to Planning and Zoning Commission, replacing F. Warner Smith, who had resigned. The term expires in July 1966.

—Approved plans for sanitary sewer districts 136 (between 16th and 17th, and High and Grant) and voted to advertise for bids.

Services Set For Mrs. Wood's Kin

Services will be held Wednesday in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, for Robert McCollister, 78, of Cedar Rapids, father of Mrs Maynard Wood of Lincoln.

Mr. McCollister was a retired insurance executive.

Survivors are daughters, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. Richard Bausch of Cedar Rapids, seven grandchildren and one great-granddaughter.

Lauterbach Dies At Bowling Alley

Donald C. Lauterbach, 43, Lincoln, died Monday night at Hollywood Bowl 920 No. 48th.

Mr. Lauterbach was an active member of Masonic Lodge 300, Scottish Rite, Sesostris Temple and the Elks. He was a veteran of World War II and was a member of American Legion Post 3 and VFW No. 131.

He is survived by his widow, Nelda M.; a daughter, Donna, and a son, Kenneth.

Death was attributed to a heart attack.

Checking The Facts

A Fairbury reader writes, "taking offense" to the Sport Signals column concerning the Kansas City Athletes in the April 18 editions.

"I think you slanted the article somewhat to try to make your point," writes Mike Elgert. "I would like to point out a few facts that you seemed to overlook in your article.

"In reference to the A's attendance thus far this season, I feel you should have mentioned that opening night with the temperature 46 degrees, the A's drew better than 18,000 fans to see the A's and the Tigers.

"The following evening in Los Angeles, the Angels' home opener with the Yankees drew only 11,000 fans. I'm sure you'll agree the weather was somewhat nicer in Los Angeles than it was in Kansas City."

COMMENT—Regarding the facts, the Angels' home opener which drew 11,000 was with Cleveland, not the Yankees. With the Yankees in town the next night, the Angels drew 24,637 despite 46 degree weather also. The next night, the Yankees and Angels attracted 17,097 for a two-game total of 41,734. The Yankees and A's drew only 26,077 in Kansas City for three games, the lowest total since the A's moved to K.C. in 1955.

Comparing The Braves

"In regard to the Milwaukee home opener that drew 35,000, I feel you forgot to print all the facts," Elgert continues. "A Milwaukee sports organization calling themselves 'Teams Inc.' bought out every seat in County Stadium.

"They then passed out the tickets absolutely free. Won't you admit that it would be hard for the most provoked Braves fan to pass up the opening game when he can get in for nothing. If you will check attendance figures you will note that the Braves drew a mere 3,000 paid fans the following day. Quite a change in attendance."

COMMENT—Elgert is right that Teams Inc. bought out the ball park, but rather than passing out the tickets absolutely free, the organization on a healthy selling campaign and most of the 35,000 fans in the park for the opener had paid for their tickets. The next game that drew only 3,000 fans was played in 38 degree weather and fans woke up in Milwaukee that morning to snow.

Likes Baseball In K.C.

"Personally, I like professional baseball in Kansas City and would like to see it stay there. I wish more people shared my views," the reader continues. "Bloomington, Chicago, St. Louis and Houston are quite a bit farther away than Kansas City. I hope the A's stick it out for quite a while."

COMMENT—"This writer also likes the idea of having major league baseball as close as Kansas City, but it becomes more apparent each day that Kansas City is not as enthused about it as are people in Fairbury any other distant points. One of the best bets of the year is that the A's will be in Milwaukee by the spring of 1967.

Elgert concludes with, "As a sincere sports fan, I would like to compliment The Star on its sports coverage. It's tops. But please don't knock the A's so much."

Big Ten Schools Top Prep Relays

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Big Ten Conference schools have taken over the top spots in all three relay events scheduled for the state track meet.

Grand Island, although filing to improve on its 1:31.1 clocking, retains the lead in the 880 relay over Omaha Tech, which also failed to improve on its 1:31.8 time last week.

Bridgeport	8:31.2	Scottsbluff	8:39.2

Kearney went around Omaha Central despite the fact that the Eagles improved their mark to 3:28.2. Joe Greeno's foursome zipped to a 3:27.9 at the Hastings meet, given opposition by Grand Island with a 3:30.3 effort.

Hastings replaces Omaha Westside (8:25.4) as the two-mile leader. The Tigers won handily at the Central Nebraska meet in 8:22.4.

Both Kearney and Central rank in the top four in all three relay events.

In addition to leading the mile event the Bearcats rank third in the 880 and fourth in the two-mile.

Central is fourth in the 880, second in the mile and third in the two-mile.

DERBY TRIAL SET TODAY

Bold Lad Gets AnotherChance

. . . TO WIN FAVORITE'S ROLE

The hard-hitting son of Bold Ruler from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable opposes Darby Dan Farm's Bugler and five lightly regarded 3-year-olds in the one mile derby trial at Churchill Downs.

Bold Lad's performance will determine whether he'll go to the post Saturday as the Derby favorite or just another hopeful among the 12 or more seeking the major share of the $125,000-added purse. As of Monday he was the co-choice at 2-1 with Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Lucky Debonair, winner of the Santa Anita Derby and Keeneland's Blue Grass Stakes.

The trial was interjected into Bold Lad's pre-Derby program after he disappointed trainer Bill Winfrey with a tiring third place finish back of Isidor Bieber's Flag Raiser and Mrs. Ben Cohen's Hail To All in the recent Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

Bill Hartack, who has visited tri e Bold circle four times in six Derbies, will be astride Bold Lad for the first time.

Hartack, who won the 1964 Derby with Northern Dancer, got the mount on the Wheatley Star when Braulio Baeza was called on to fill his contract by riding Bugler and Manuel Ycaza chose to pilot the stretch running Hail To All.

Bold Lad will pack top weight of 122 pounds in the $15,000-added Trial and give six to Bugler, P. L. Grissom's Carpenter's Rule, Mrs. Janet Stokely's Apple Core, One Afternoon from the Triple R. Stable, and At First Blush from the Tumblewood Stable. He gives eight pounds to Floyd Stark's Leonine.

Bugler, rated a good, useful horse by trainer Jimmy Conway, is the only one of the Trial field figured to give Bold Lad a serious argument. Bugler goes into the prep with a string of three straight victories, including a neck verdict over Lucky Debonair in the seven furlongs of the Forerunner Purse at Keeneland.

Carpenter's Rule won one division of the California Derby trial at Golden Gate Fields but failed in the California Derby itself.

"I am afraid we are in over our heads," said veteran Trainer Frank Childs as he dropped the name of Carpenter's Rule into the entry box Monday. "But Mr. Grissom wants to run him and if he shows enough Tuesday he'll be back for the big one on Saturday." Willie Harmatz is flying in from California to ride the Grissom colt.

Meantime, gallops over the muddy downs tracks were the order of the day Monday. The result of the trial and a Wednesday workout by Louisiana Derby winner Dapper Delegate will determine the size of the field for the start of the Derby at 3:45 p.m. CST Saturday. The race, with the usual 100,000 or so fans packed in and around the sprawling downs, will be televised from 4-5 p.m. by CBS.

Entries for the Derby will be made Thursday morning on payment of $500. It will cost another $1,000 to get a horse into the post parade on the strains of My Old Kentucky Home drift over the track, located on the outskirts of this horse-conscious city.

101 Birds Bagged In First 3 Days Of Turkey Season

Nebraska spring turkey hunters bagged 101 birds during the first three days of the nine-day season, which opened Saturday, the Game Commission reports.

Faced with poor weather conditions during the opening weekend in most areas, gunners have already chalked up a creditable 13.3% success. cess.

Hunting will continue through Sunday. Hours are from one hour before sunrise to noon Central Standard Time or 11 a.m. Mountain Standard Time.

Junior Golf Needs Loan From Council

Parks and Recreation Direcotr James Ager asked the City Council Monday for a loan of approximately $14,000 to continue work on the city's junior golf course.

There is only $4,500 left to raise out of the original goal of $100,000, Ager said, but since some pledges are not due until next year, "we are about $18,000 short of actual cash to let the contract."

He said that the deadline is rapidly approaching for work to be completed and the course seeded this fall in time for operation next summer.

Council members indicated that they would grant the loan out of the city's contingency fund when the additional $4,500 is raised.

Ager promised payment of the loan next year when the pledged money is received.

The Lincoln Homebuilders Association was praised by Ager and the Council for its $35,000 contribution to the nearly-completed club house.

Busy Week Ahead For Husker Grid Hopefuls

By HAL BROWN

A busy week of head-knocking was outlined for Nebraska's 1965 football candidates as the Huskers completed the first half of spring drills Monday.

"We plan to have some contact every practice this week except Friday," head coach Bob Devaney said Monday.

Monday's session was the 10th of spring drills and by working every day except Tuesdays, the Huskers can wind up drills on schedule with the May 8 intrasquad game at the N UStadium.

"If we get rained out any days, we'll have to work them in after the intrasquad game," Devaney pointed out.

The Husker gridders returned to work Sunday with a review session despite the wet fields. "We felt we had to do something," the Husker coach observed.

All players sidelined with injuries before the Easter vacation break were back in harness for the resumption of drills with the exception of halfback Ted Vactor, whose brother was in an auto accident in Iowa, and tackle Richard Czap, who has not worked since the beginning of drills because of a pulled muscle.

Although the Huskers will have contact in every session but Friday's this week, no full-scale scrimmage is planned before Saturday.

Devaney plans to send his troops before the cameras for the third time this spring Saturday. After viewing films of the first two scrimmages during the vacation period, NU coaches divided the squad into defensive and offensive platoons for the final two weeks of practice.

"The defensive platoons will work strictly on defense this week and the offensive platoons will do nothing but work on offense," Devaney said.

SPORT SIGNALS

By Hal Brown

Sports Editor, The Star

Checking The Facts

A Fairbury reader writes, "taking offense" to the Sport Signals column concerning the Kansas City Athletes in the April 18 editions.

"I think you slanted the article somewhat to try to make your point," writes Mike Elgert. "I would like to point out a few facts that you seemed to overlook in your article.

"In reference to the A's attendance thus far this season, I feel you should have mentioned that opening night with the temperature 46 degrees, the A's drew better than 18,000 fans to see the A's and the Tigers.

"The following evening in Los Angeles, the Angels' home opener with the Yankees drew only 11,000 fans. I'm sure you'll agree the weather was somewhat nicer in Los Angeles than it was in Kansas City."

COMMENT—Regarding the facts, the Angels' home opener which drew 11,000 was with Cleveland, not the Yankees. With the Yankees in town the next night, the Angels drew 24,637 despite 46 degree weather also. The next night, the Yankees and Angels attracted 17,097 for a two-game total of 41,734. The Yankees and A's drew only 26,077 in Kansas City for three games, the lowest total since the A's moved to K.C. in 1955.

Comparing The Braves

"In regard to the Milwaukee home opener that drew 35,000, I feel you forgot to print all the facts," Elgert continues. "A Milwaukee sports organization calling themselves 'Teams Inc.' bought out every seat in County Stadium.

"They then passed out the tickets absolutely free. Won't you admit that it would be hard for the most provoked Braves fan to pass up the opening game when he can get in for nothing. If you will check attendance figures you will note that the Braves drew a mere 3,000 paid fans the following day. Quite a change in attendance."

COMMENT—Elgert is right that Teams Inc. bought out the ball park, but rather than passing out the tickets absolutely free, the organization on a healthy selling campaign and most of the 35,000 fans in the park for the opener had paid for their tickets. The next game that drew only 3,000 fans was played in 38 degree weather and fans woke up in Milwaukee that morning to snow.

Likes Baseball In K.C.

"Personally, I like professional baseball in Kansas City and would like to see it stay there. I wish more people shared my views," the reader continues. "Bloomington, Chicago, St. Louis and Houston are quite a bit farther away than Kansas City. I hope the A's stick it out for quite a while."

COMMENT—"This writer also likes the idea of having major league baseball as close as Kansas City, but it becomes more apparent each day that Kansas City is not as enthused about it as are people in Fairbury any other distant points. One of the best bets of the year is that the A's will be in Milwaukee by the spring of 1967.

Elgert concludes with, "As a sincere sports fan, I would like to compliment The Star on its sports coverage. It's tops. But please don't knock the A's so much."

Big Ten Schools Top Prep Relays

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Big Ten Conference schools have taken over the top spots in all three relay events scheduled for the state track meet.

Grand Island, although filing to improve on its 1:31.1 clocking, retains the lead in the 880 relay over Omaha Tech, which also failed to improve on its 1:31.8 time last week.

The new leaders are Kearney's mile relay team and Hastings' two-mile quartet, which chalked up season's bests at the Central Nebraska Invitational.

Kearney went around Omaha Central despite the fact that the Eagles improved their mark to 3:28.2. Joe Greeno's foursome zipped to a 3:27.9 at the Hastings meet, given opposition by Grand Island with a 3:30.3 effort.

Hastings replaces Omaha Westside (8:25.4) as the two-mile leader. The Tigers won handily at the Central Nebraska meet in 8:22.4.

Both Kearney and Central rank in the top four in all three relay events.

In addition to leading the mile event the Bearcats rank third in the 880 and fourth in the two-mile.

Central is fourth in the 880, second in the mile and third in the two-mile.

DERBY TRIAL SET TODAY

Bold Lad Gets AnotherChance

... TO WIN FAVORITE'S ROLE

The hard-hitting son of Bold Ruler from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Wheatley Stable opposes Darby Dan Farm's Bugler and five lightly regarded 3-year-olds in the one mile derby trial at Churchill Downs.

Bold Lad's performance will determine whether he'll go to the post Saturday as the Derby favorite or just another hopeful among the 12 or more seeking the major share of the $125,000-added purse. As of Monday he was the co-choice at 2-1 with Mrs. Ada L. Rice's Lucky Debonair, winner of the Santa Anita Derby and Keeneland's Blue Grass Stakes.

The trial was interjected into Bold Lad's pre-Derby program after he disappointed trainer Bill Winfrey with a tiring third place finish back of Isidor Bieber's Flag Raiser and Mrs. Ben Cohen's Hail To All in the recent Wood Memorial at Aqueduct.

Bill Hartack, who has visited tri e Bold circle four times in six Derbies, will be astride Bold Lad for the first time.

Hartack, who won the 1964 Derby with Northern Dancer, got the mount on the Wheatley Star when Braulio Baeza was called on to fill his contract by riding Bugler and Manuel Ycaza chose to pilot the stretch running Hail To All.

Bold Lad will pack top weight of 122 pounds in the $15,000-added Trial and give six to Bugler, P. L. Grissom's Carpenter's Rule, Mrs. Janet Stokely's Apple Core, One Afternoon from the Triple R. Stable, and At First Blush from the Tumblewood Stable. He gives eight pounds to Floyd Stark's Leonine.

Bugler, rated a good, useful horse by trainer Jimmy Conway, is the only one of the Trial field figured to give Bold Lad a serious argument. Bugler goes into the prep with a string of three straight victories, including a neck verdict over Lucky Debonair in the seven furlongs of the Forerunner Purse at Keeneland.

Carpenter's Rule won one division of the California Derby trial at Golden Gate Fields but failed in the California Derby itself.

"I am afraid we are in over our heads," said veteran Trainer Frank Childs as he dropped the name of Carpenter's Rule into the entry box Monday. "But Mr. Grissom wants to run him and if he shows enough Tuesday he'll be back for the big one on Saturday." Willie Harmatz is flying in from California to ride the Grissom colt.

Meantime, gallops over the muddy downs tracks were the order of the day Monday. The result of the trial and a Wednesday workout by Louisiana Derby winner Dapper Delegate will determine the size of the field for the start of the Derby at 3:45 p.m. CST Saturday. The race, with the usual 100,000 or so fans packed in and around the sprawling downs, will be televised from 4-5 p.m. by CBS.

Entries for the Derby will be made Thursday morning on payment of $500. It will cost another $1,000 to get a horse into the post parade on the strains of My Old Kentucky Home drift over the track, located on the outskirts of this horse-conscious city.

101 Birds Bagged In First 3 Days Of Turkey Season

Nebraska spring turkey hunters bagged 101 birds during the first three days of the nine-day season, which opened Saturday, the Game Commission reports.

Faced with poor weather conditions during the opening weekend in most areas, gunners have already chalked up a creditable 13.3% success. cess.

Hunting will continue through Sunday. Hours are from one hour before sunrise to noon Central Standard Time or 11 a.m. Mountain Standard Time.

Junior Golf Needs Loan From Council

Parks and Recreation Direcotr James Ager asked the City Council Monday for a loan of approximately $14,000 to continue work on the city's junior golf course.

There is only $4,500 left to raise out of the original goal of $100,000, Ager said, but since some pledges are not due until next year, "we are about $18,000 short of actual cash to let the contract."

He said that the deadline is rapidly approaching for work to be completed and the course seeded this fall in time for operation next summer.

Council members indicated that they would grant the loan out of the city's contingency fund when the additional $4,500 is raised.

Ager promised payment of the loan next year when the pledged money is received.

The Lincoln Homebuilders Association was praised by Ager and the Council for its $35,000 contribution to the nearly-completed club house.

Murakami Can Return In 1966

. . . IF SF GETS HIM NOW

Osaka Japan (AP)—"I'm glad. I want to play as soon as possible" Japanese pitcher Masanori Murakami said Tuesday morning when told the San Francisco Giants have agreed to let him play where he chooses in 1966 if he reports to the Giants this season

Murakami, unable to pitch here because of an ownership dispute between the Giants and a Japanese club, said he could not comment further on the San Francisco proposal. He said a decision would have to come from the Japan Baseball Commission and the Nankai Hawks of the Japanese professional league.

Officials of the Nankai club and of the Japanese Commission said they were awaiting official notice of the offer from the American Club. The Commission scheduled a press conference later in the day

Murakami became the first Japanese national to play in the United States major leagues when he hurled as a reliever for the Giants in the latter part of 1964.

Both the Giants and the Nankai Hawks of Japan claimed his services this season Murakami, 21, declared last Wednesday that he did not intend to come to the United States to pitch for the Giants unless he gets a written guarantee that he will be returned to Japan next year

The Giants sent a telegram to Yushi Uchimura, baseball commissioner of Japan, under the signatures of President Horace Stoneham and Vice President Charles Feeney, saying

"In sptie of bad faith and unwarranted action of Nankai Hawks, because we desire not to interfere with career of player, if Masanori Murakami reports for the 1965 season, we will agree that at the end of the 1965 playing season, we will give player Murakami the right to choose where he will play in 1966.

"This choice will be player Murakami's alone to make, and if he elects to return to Japan, he will be placed on the voluntary retired list of the San Francisco Giants."

The Giants said the message was sent with the knowledge of United States baseball Commissioner Ford Frick

San Francisco has held it bought the Murakami contract from the Hawks for $10,000, and the Japanese team gave up all rights to him. Nankai holds the payment was merely a bonus for Murakami's performanc with the Giants last season.

Uchimura ruled Murakami would not play for the Hawks until the dispute is settled.

Murakami came to the United States last yyear to play in the Giants' farm system He started the season with the Fresno, Calif, club and posted an 11- 7 record primarily in relief and saved 15 other games.

He joined the Giants on Sept. 1 and appeared in nine games with a 1-0 record. He pitched 10 innings, allowed only eight hits and posted a 1.80 earned run average.

He didn't give up a run in the first eight games, but on Oct. 4, in his finnal appearance, the Chicago Cubs scored three times during the four innings he worked.

Phillies Top Koufax

Los Angeles (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies jumped on Sandy Koufax for three first inning runs, including a homer by Johnny Callison, and went on to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night

The Phillies' victories ended two long streaks by Koufax, who now has a 2-1 record. The Dodger left-hander had won six straight National League games and had not lost to Philadelphia since 1961. He had beaten them nine in a row

NAPBL Favors Baseball Revival In Nebraska, 'If'

The president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues told Gov. Frank Morrison in a letter Monday that an Association investigation produced "a very favorable" report on the prospect of reviving the old Nebraska State League

Association president Phillip Piton said revival of the all-rookie league will depend mostly on whether a new rule regarding the signing of rookies will result in more first-year baseball players.

The old State League, with teams from Grand Island, North Platte, Lexington, McCook, Kearney and Holdrege, operated from 1956 to 1960.

The Governor wrote letters to major league club owners and officials urging revival of the league after a National League field representative screened four Nebraska cities for interest in league revival.

Houston Wins Fifth In Row

Houston (AP) — The Houston Astros stretched their winning streak to five games Monday night pushing across two runs in the seventh inning and defeating Pittsburgh 2-0 behind Dave Giusti's four-hit pitching

Giusti, winning his third game without a loss, was locked in a scoreless duel with Pirates starter Bob Friend for six innings. Friend had allowed only two hits when the Astros broke through.

Singles by Jim Wynn Walt Bond and Bob Aspromonte produced the first run. Rusty Staub s long fly moved Bond over to third and he scored the second run when Bob Bailey fumbled John Bateman's grounder.

Friend's record is now 2-1.

Giusti, a 25-year-old right-hander, struck out nine and walked none

White Sox, Mets Show Most Improved Teams

. . . CHICAGO SCARING PEOPLE

New York (UPI) — Now it's the Chicago White Sox instead of the New York Yankees who are scaring people in the American League.

"They've added power," says Sam Mele of the Minnesota Twins. And all that good pitching — it's even better."

Thus, the pitch-rich Sox may be coupled with the sad sack New York Mets as baseball's most improved teams for 1965

Both have significant advances in prospect, though in the end the Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, Los Angeles Dodgers or even the Twins may climb more notches in the standings

The White Sox may have added enough to nail a pennant. The Mets aren't quite as sad as usual and just might escape from the cellar for the first time in history.

Meanwhile, back at the stadium, the Yankees aren't as scary as they used to be and will need a sustained surge of power to regain their old psychological edge.

White Sox pitching moved the erstwhile hitless wonders to second place last fall, just two games back of the Yankees

A deal with Washington for Moose Skowron in mid-1964 started the search for more power. John Romano came on from Cleveland in an off-season deal and then the White Sox grabbed outfielder Danny Cater from Philadelphia for pitcher Ray Herbert. Dany is off to a hot start at bat.

Cleveland was active in the off-season and the results have been exciting. Rocky Colavito was brought back "home" in a deal with Kansas City Chuck Hinton moved in from Washington and the Indian picked up some pitching from the Yankees in Ralph Terry and Stan Williams

The Twins scare people with their bats but that's about it They try hard and they hurt you with occasional pitching, yet there's not enough beyond the bats to hold up for a full campaign.

"We're better, I hope," Mele says, "But it's foolish to discount the Yankees this early. Cleveland has improved greatly and the White Sox are the ones to watch."

The Mets still are losers but they lose more gracefully these days. While it may cost them some popularity with the customers who'd rather see them lose by 10-8 than 2-1 the club slowly is gaining an air of respectability.

The Dodgers, sixth a year ago figure to improve merely by erasing some of last season's "off years" by several regulars. Sandy Koufax remains the enigma with an arthritic arm that threatens to shelve him at any moment.

Elsewhere in the National League, only the final standings will show who's the most improved since they're so closely bunched at the head of the pack of contenders.

But if the Mets get out of the cellar, even a pennant winner will have to share the title of "most improved" unless someone like Milwaukee or Pittsburgh sneaks in.

AAU Weightlifr Trials In Alliance

Alliance (AP) — Strong men from 13 states are eligible for the Region 6 Amateur Athletic Union Weightlifting Championships to be held in Alliance May 1

Peary Rader a former weight lifter and Olympic judge, who publishes "The Iron Man" magazine for weight lifters, will judge the event. He has estimated there may be from 40 to 70 entries including Wilbur Miller of Cimmarron, Kan, and Gary Deal of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who tied last year, with Miller taking the title because he is the lighter man Paul Wachholz of Denver and Ken McClain of Kansas City are expected to compete in the 198-lb class.

Nicklaus Leads Money Winners

Palm Beach Gardens, Fla (AP)—Jack Nicklaus heads the Professional Golfers' Association list of 10 top money winners again this week with total earnings of $42,825.

Nicklaus' No. 1 position was based on official winnings of $34 400 and unofficial money of $8,425. The PGA uses only official winnings in its rankings.

In official earnings, Doug Sanders ranked second with $33 257 and total winnings of $36,673.

Billy Casper, right behind as the richest pro with total earnings of $42,579, stood third in official money with $22,473.

Legion Baseball Field Increases

The size of Lincoln's American Legion Junior Baseball program has almost doubled for the 1965 season, Legion Post No. 3 commander John Kahler said Monday

Lincoln will field five junior teams this season, compared to three in past years Four Lincoln midget teams will be in competition All home games will be played at Sherman Field with May 30 set as the opening date

Kahler has named Bud Gibson to serve as baseball chairman for the Legion

Nicklaus Liked In Golf Tourney

. . . GAINS 2½-1 ODDS

Las Vegas, Nev (AP)—In a town where it's often necessary to put your money where your mouth is, the bookies usually speak in the clearest tones

Monday, they were singing of Jack Nicklaus, who is a 2½-1 favorite to win his third Tournament of Champions this week.

The 25-year-old Golden Bear is the heaviest favorite in memory here on the strength of his brilliant play in the Augusta Masters It will be his first start since that tournament three weeks ago.

In golf, a favorite seldom tees off at better than 4-1—as far as a bookie is concerned

Behind Nicklaus is Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper at 6-1.

Palmer hasn't won a tournament this year. But he arrived in town 10 pounds heavier, well-tanned and confident, saying , I'll win some " Palmer's victory in the Oklahoma City Open last May qualified him for the Las Vegas tournament

Gary Player, Nicklaus and Palmer's partner in golfing's Big Three, has dropped out of the tournament to be with his expectant wife. The PGA's Golfer of the Year, U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, will miss the 13th annual tournament because of a hand ailment.

A 26-man field will open play on the Desert Inn Course Thursday for $75 000 in prize money, and the groundskeepers are determined the players will have to work for their money

In past tournaments, spectators gasped as the big-time pros drove the course's greens for birdie after birdie.

"The course is tougher than it has ever been," said tournament co-ordinator Jack Walsh.

Desert Inn pro Bo Wininger has stretched the course a few hundred yards, narrowed the fairways, moved one green behind some trees, nursed the rough to eight inches, and added some new hazards It is a 36-36—72 layout

Wininger predicted that a 273, 15-under-par, will win first-place money.

Murakami Can Return In 1966

. . . IF SF GETS HIM NOW

Osaka, Japan (AP)—"I'm glad. I want to play as soon as possible," Japanese pitcher Masanori Murakami said Tuesday morning when told the San Francisco Giants have agreed to let him play where he chooses in 1966 if he reports to the Giants this season.

Murakami, unable to pitch here because of an ownership dispute between the Giants and a Japanese club, said he could not comment further on the San Francisco proposal. He said a decision would have to come from the Japan Baseball Commission and the Nankai Hawks of the Japanese professional league.

Officials of the Nankai club and of the Japanese Commission said they were awaiting official notice of the offer from the American Club. The Commission scheduled a press conference later in the day.

Murakami became the first Japanese national to play in the United States major leagues when he hurled as a reliever for the Giants in the latter part of 1964.

Both the Giants and the Nankai Hawks of Japan claimed his services this season. Murakami, 21, declared last Wednesday that he did not intend to come to the Unted States to pitch for the Giants unless he gets a written guarantee that he will be returned to Japan next year.

The Giants sent a telegram to Yushi Uchimura, baseball commissioner of Japan, under the signatures of President Horace Stoneham and Vice President Charles Feeney, saying:

"In sptie of bad faith and unwarranted action of Nankai Hawks, because we desire not to interfere with career of player, if Masanori Murakami reports for the 1965 season, we will agree that at the end of the 1965 playing season, we will give player Murakami the right to choose where he will play in 1966.

"This choice will be player Murakami's alone to make, and if he elects to return to Japan, he will be placed on the voluntary retired list of the San Francisco Giants."

The Giants said the message was sent with the knowledge of United States baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

San Francisco has held it bought the Murakami contract from the Hawks for $10,000, and the Japanese team gave up all rights to him. Nankai holds the payment was merely a bonus for Murakami's performanc with the Giants last season.

Uchimura ruled Murakami would not play for the Hawks until the dispute is settled.

Murakami came to the United States last yyear to play in the Giants' farm system. He started the season with the Fresno, Calif., club and posted an 11- 7 record primarily in relief and saved 15 other games.

He joined the Giants on Sept. 1 and appeared in nine games with a 1-0 record. He pitched 10 innings, allowed only eight hits and posted a 1.80 earned run average.

He didn't give up a run in the first eight games, but on Oct. 4, in his finnal appearance, the Chicago Cubs scored three times during the four innings he worked.

Los Angeles (AP)—The Philadelphia Phillies jumped on Sandy Koufax for three first inning runs, including a homer by Johnny Callison, and went on to defeat the Los Angeles Dodgers 4-3 Monday night.

The Phillies' victories ended two long streaks by Koufax, who now has a 2-1 record. The Dodger left-hander had won six straight National League games and had not lost to Philadelphia since 1961. He had beaten them nine in a row.

Sure beats smoking!

Here's how to enjoy it most:

1. Take a small pinch of wintergreen flavored Skoal between your thumb and forefinger.

2. Place the Skoal between cheek and upper or lower gum.

3. Tuck it in comfortably with your tongue, and just leave it there. Skoal releases its rich tobacco pleasure slowly, without chewing. Every can is dated for freshness.

How can you know till you try it?

NAPBL Favors Baseball Revival In Nebraska, 'If'

The president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues told Gov. Frank Morrison in a letter Monday that an Association investigation produced "a very favorable" report on the prospect of reviving the old Nebraska State League.

Association president Phillip Piton said revival of the all-rookie league will depend mostly on whether a new rule regarding the signing of rookies will result in more first-year baseball players.

The old State League, with teams from Grand Island, North Platte, Lexington, McCook, Kearney and Holdrege, operated from 1956 to 1960.

The Governor wrote letters to major league club owners and officials urging revival of the league after a National League field representative screened four Nebraska cities for interest in league revival.

Houston Wins Fifth In Row

Houston (AP) — The Houston Astros stretched their winning streak to five games Monday night, pushing across two runs in the seventh inning and defeating Pittsburgh 2-0 behind Dave Giusti's four-hit pitching.

Giusti, winning his third game without a loss, was locked in a scoreless duel with Pirates starter Bob Friend for six innings. Friend had allowed only two hits when the Astros broke through.

Singles by Jim Wynn, Walt Bond and Bob Aspromonte produced the first run. Rusty Staub's long fly moved Bond over to third and he scored the second run when Bob Bailey fumbled John Bateman's grounder.

Friend's record is now 2-1.

Giusti, a 25-year-old right-hander, struck out nine and walked none.

White Sox, Mets Show Most Improved Teams

. . . CHICAGO SCARING PEOPLE

New York (UPI) — Now it's the Chicago White Sox instead of the New York Yankees who are scaring people in the American League.

"They've added power," says Sam Mele of the Minnesota Twins. And all that good pitching — it's even better."

Thus, the pitch-rich Sox may be coupled with the sad sack New York Mets as baseball's most improved teams for 1965.

Both have significant advances in prospect, though in the end the Cleveland Indians, Detroit Tigers, Los Angeles Dodgers or even the Twins may climb more notches in the standings.

The White Sox may have added enough to nail a pennant. The Mets aren't quite as sad as usual and just might escape from the cellar for the first time in history.

Meanwhile, back at the stadium, the Yankees aren't as scary as they used to be and will need a sustained surge of power to regain their old psychological edge.

White Sox pitching moved the erstwhile hitless wonders to second place last fall, just two games back of the Yankees.

A deal with Washington for Moose Skowron in mid-1964 started the search for more power. John Romano came on from Cleveland in an off-season deal and then the White Sox grabbed outfielder Danny Cater from Philadelphia for pitcher Ray Herbert. Dany is off to a hot start at bat.

Cleveland was active in the off-season and the results have been exciting. Rocky Colavito was brought back "home" in a deal with Kansas City, Chuck Hinton moved in ffrom Washington and the Indian picked up some pitching from the Yankees in Ralph Terry and Stan Williams.

The Twins scare people with their bats but that's about it. They try hard and they hurt you with occasional pitching, yet there's not enough beyond the bats to hold up for a full campaign.

"We're better, I hope," Mele says, "But it's foolish to discount the Yankees this early. Cleveland has improved greatly and the White Sox are the ones to watch."

The Mets still are losers but they lose more gracefully these days. While it may cost them some popularity with the customers who'd rather see them lose by 10-8 than 2-1, the club slowly is gaining an air of respectability.

The Dodgers, sixth a year ago figure to improve merely by erasing some of last season's "off years" by several regulars. Sandy Koufax remains the enigma with an arthritic arm that threatens to shelve him at any moment.

Elsewhere in the National League, only the final standings will show who's the most improved since they're so closely bunched at the head of the pack of contenders.

But if the Mets get out of the cellar, even a pennant winner will have to share the title of "most improved" unless someone like Milwaukee or Pittsburgh sneaks in.

AAU Weightlift Trials In Alliance

Alliance (AP) — Strong men from 13 states are eligible for the Region 6 Amateur Athletic Union Weightlifting Championships to be held in Alliance May 1.

Peary Rader, a former weight lifter and Olympic judge, who publishes "The Iron Man" magazine for weight lifters, will judge the event. He has estimated there may be from 40 to 70 entries including Wilbur Miller of Cimmarron, Kan., and Gary Deal of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who tied last year, with Miller taking the title because he is the lighter man. Paul Wachholz of Denver and Ken McClain of Kansas City are expected to compete in the 198-lb class.

Nicklaus Leads Money Winners

Palm Beach Gardens, Fla. (AP)—Jack Nicklaus heads the Professional Golfers' Association list of 10 top money winners again this week with total earnings of $42,825.

Nicklaus' No. 1 position was based on official winnings of $34,400 and unofficial money of $8,425. The PGA uses only official winnings in its rankings.

In official earnings, Doug Sanders ranked second with $33,257 and total winnings of $36,673.

Iowan Takes Singles Lead In ABC Tourney

St. Paul, Minn. (AP)—Ken Roeth of Dubuque, Iowa, rolled the first 700 series in singles competition and took first place Monday in the American Bowling Congress Tournament.

The 28-year-old draftsman, competing in his first ABC meet, had games of 224, 257 and 219 to replace Dick Ude, Lincoln, Neb., and Henry Yager, Aurora, Ill., who led the singles division in a tie at 689.

NE Thinclads Whip Knights In Dual Meet

Lincoln Northeast won all but one event on the track and all but one in the field to stymie Lincoln Southeast 94-29 in a dual track meet Monday at the Northeast cinders.

The Rockets' Neal Keyser, Larry Ross and Ralph Marti led their team to victory with two wins apiece plus participation in the victorious relay teams.

Keyser won the 880-yard run (2:07.2), the broad jump (21-4½) and ran on the winning mile relay squad. Ross took the 120-yard high hurdles (:15.6), the 180-yard low hurdles and anchored the same mile relay team. Martin captured the 100-yard dash (:10.3), the 220-yard dash (:23.1) and ran on the victorious 880-yard relay team.

Jim Ludwig and Dick Stemm took Southeast honors with wins in the mile and pole vault respectively.

Legion Baseball Field Increases

The size of Lincoln's American Legion Junior Baseball program has almost doubled for the 1965 season, Legion Post No. 3 commander John Kahler said Monday.

Lincoln will field five junior teams this season, compared to three in past years. Four Lincoln midget teams will be in competition. All home games will be played at Sherman Field with May 30 set as the opening date.

Kahler has named Bud Gibson to serve as baseball chairman for the Legion.

Nicklaus Liked In Golf Tourney

. . . GAINS 2½-1 ODDS

Las Vegas, Nev. (AP)—In a town where it's often necessary to put your money where your mouth is, the bookies usually speak in the clearest tones.

Monday, they were singing of Jack Nicklaus, who is a 2½-1 favorite to win his third Tournament of Champions this week.

The 25-year-old Golden Bear is the heaviest favorite in memory here on the strength of his brilliant play in the Augusta Masters. It will be his first start since that tournament three weeks ago.

In golf, a favorite seldom tees off at better than 4-1—as far as a bookie is concerned.

Behind Nicklaus is Arnold Palmer and Billy Casper at 6-1.

Palmer hasn't won a tournament this year. But he arrived in town 10 pounds heavier, well-tanned and confident, saying "I'll win some." Palmer's victory in the Oklahoma City Open last May qualified him for the Las Vegas tournament.

Gary Player, Nicklaus and Palmer's partner in golfing's Big Three, has dropped out of the tournament to be with his expectant wife. The PGA's Golfer of the Year, U.S. Open champion Ken Venturi, will miss the 13th annual tournament because of a hand ailment.

A 26-man field will open play on the Desert Inn Course Thursday for $75,000 in prize money, and the groundskeepers are determined the players will have to work for their money.

In past tournaments, spectators gasped as the big-time pros drove the course's greens for birdie after birdie.

"The course is tougher than it has ever been," said tournament co-ordinator Jack Walsh.

Desert Inn pro Bo Wininger has stretched the course a few hundred yards, narrowed the fairways, moved one green behind some trees, nursed the rough to eight iches, and added some new hazards. It is a 36-36—72 layout.

Wininger predicted that a 273, 15-under-par, will win first-place money.

Cepeda Consistent

Ak-Sar-Ben, HBPA Reach Agreement

. . . BATTLE OVER PURSE DISTRIBUTION RESOLVED

Omaha (UPI)—A compromise agreement regarding the amount of money offered as purses to horsemen at Ak-Sar-Ben in the upcoming meeting was reached Monday.

Announcement of the settlement came from general manager Tom Brock of Ak-Sar-Ben and Glen Murphy, president of the Rocky Mountain Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

The agreement calls for 42% of the track's take from the pari-mutuel handle and breakage to be guaranteed to the horsemen as purse monies. Ak-Sar-Ben receives credit for an additional one per cent for the services it offers to the horsemen above the normal facilities.

This makes the agreement reached at 43% with Ak-Sar-Ben retaining one per cent for the benefits it provides for the horsemen. The old agreement called for 40%.

Ak-Sar-Ben, which will open its 42-day meeting on May 7, also agreed to continue these requests for the benefit of the horsemen:

—The number of horses on the grounds will be held as close as possible to 1,200 head.

—Not more than 20% of the total purse distribution will be allocated for stakes and handicaps.

—No trainer will be allowed to have more than 25 horses approved to race at one time.

—No race will be run for more than $20,000 and no horse will be eligible for these $20,000 races (Omaha Gold Cup and Ak-Sar-Ben Handicap) who has not been on the grounds for 30 days or has started twice previously at the meeting.

Brock said Ak-Sar-Ben now will have three increased financial responsibilities this spring:

The state pari-mutuel tax was increased to 4%.

The horsemen's agreement is increased from 40 to 43%.

The track's agreement with the Nebraska Thoroughbred Breeders' Association now calls for an increase of 10% to 20% of the winning purse when a Nebraska-bred horse is both conceived and foaled in the state.

Ak-Sar-Ben's announced purse distribution for 1965 was $1,400,000 which was over the 40%. The new agreement will give the horsemen $1,456,000 in purses.

Bindas Quits Hastings Job

Hastings (UPI) — Steve Bindas, coordinator of physical education for the Hastings Public Schools, announced his resignation Monday to accept a new post.

Bindas, president of the Nebraska Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, was named last year as one of the 12 outstanding leaders of physical fitness in America by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He has coached golf at the high school and won five state titles, six Big Ten titles, and four Mid-East titles.

He is a graduate of Drake Univeristy and a member of the Governors Physical Fitness Council.

Bindas took over his present post in 1949. He did not name the new post.

New Regulation Slows Boats In Certain Areas

Speed in excess of five miles per hour is prohibited and speed of all vessels must be reduced so the wash and wake will cause no discomfort, hazard, injury or damage to persons, vessels or property on all public power and irrigation canals in the state, unless otherwise posted.

Player Trying To Get Nicklaus To South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP)—Gary Player is trying to entice Jack Nicklaus to South Africa for a two weeks' holiday.

"Jack loves fishing," Player said Monday, "and a really good offer to spend several days relaxing this way would get him interested."

Player is back home in South Africa from the United States for a three-week rest on his farm. At the beginning of May he has scheduled a short tour to Japan.

Ak-Sar-Ben, HBPA Reach Agreement

. . . BATTLE OVER PURSE DISTRIBUTION RESOLVED

Omaha (UPI)—A compromise agreement regarding the amount of money offered as purses to horsemen at Ak-Sar-Ben in the upcoming meeting was reached Monday.

Announcement of the settlement came from general manager Tom Brock of Ak-Sar-Ben and Glen Murphy, president of the Rocky Mountain Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

The agreement calls for 42% of the track's take from the pari-mutuel handle and breakage to be guaranteed to the horsemen as purse monies. Ak-Sar-Ben receives credit for an additional one per cent for the services it offers to the horsemen above the normal facilities.

This makes the agreement reached at 43% with Ak-Sar-Ben retaining one per cent for the benefits it provides for the horsemen. The old agreement called for 40%.

Ak-Sar-Ben, which will open its 42-day meeting on May 7, also agreed to continue these requests for the benefit of the horsemen:

—The number of horses on the grounds will be held as close as possible to 1,200 head.

—Not more than 20% of the total purse distribution will be allocated for stakes and handicaps.

—No trainer will be allowed to have more than 25 horses approved to race at one time.

—No race will be run for more than $20,000 and no horse will be eligible for these $20,000 races (Omaha Gold Cup and Ak-Sar-Ben Handicap) who has not been on the grounds for 30 days or has started twice previously at the meeting.

Brock said Ak-Sar-Ben now will have three increased financial responsibilities this spring:

The horsemen's agreement is increased from 40 to 43%.

The track's agreement with the Nebraska Thoroughbred Breeders' Association now calls for an increase of 10% to 20% of the winning purse when a Nebraska-bred horse is both conceived and foaled in the state.

Ak-Sar-Ben's announced purse distribution for 1965 was $1,400,000 which was over the 40%. The new agreement will give the horsemen $1,456,000 in purses.

Bindas Quits Hastings Job

Bindas, president of the Nebraska Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, was named last year as one of the 12 outstanding leaders of physical fitness in America by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce.

He has coached golf at the high school and won five state titles, six Big Ten titles, and four Mid-East titles.

He is a graduate of Drake University and a member of the Governors Physical Fitness Council.

New Regulation Slows Boats In Certain Areas

A new regulation restricting the speed of boats on power and irrigation canals has been authorized by the Game Commission.

Speed in excess of five miles per hour is prohibited and speed of all vessels must be reduced so the wash and wake will cause no discomfort, hazard, injury or damage to persons, vessels or property on all public power and irrigation canals in the state, unless otherwise posted.

Player Trying To Get Nicklaus To South Africa

Johannesburg, South Africa (AP)—Gary Player is trying to entice Jack Nicklaus to South Africa for a two weeks' holiday.

"Jack loves fishing," Player said Monday, "and a really good offer to spend several days relaxing this way would get him interested."

Player is back home in South Africa from the United States for a three-week rest on his farm. At the beginning of May he has scheduled a short tour to Japan.

Unicam Bills So Far Would Spend $1.1 Million, Raise More Than That

Legislative bills already enacted by the 1965 Legislature would appropriate some $1.1 million from the tax-supported general fund

Bills passed thus far would raise $2.702.561 for the fund.

More Recent

According to the summary, some $988.454 had been appropriated from the general fund for the 1965-67 biennium by bills enacted as of that date A more recent accounting brings the total past the $1.1 million mark.

Legislative bills enacted or currently resting on the floor would cost $72.869 more than they would raise for the general fund in 1965-67, the summary stated.

Projected into the future—beyond the coming biennium—the net in general fund expenditures above revenue would amount to $1,297.024 for the composite of bills either enacted or pending on the floor.

Bills still alive in committee were not considered in the study.

According to the summary, bills enacted or on the floor would raise $4,158,462 for the general fund in the 1965-67 biennium. They would cost $4.231,331.

Funds, Special Levies

Some $10,170.374 in expenditures from cash funds and special levies is involved in the coming biennium, while $11 601.991 would be raised for those sources

Federal expenditures involved in the composite of bills would total $5.713,109 for the 1965-67 biennium.

Of the 437 bills enacted or on the floor, 127 have definite fiscal impact. An additional 31 have undeterminable fiscal impact.

Among bills enacted already are revenue measures which will raise $2.702.561 for the general fund during the coming biennium. Chief among them are $1 344.430 from the boost in the pari-mutuel horse race tax, $822.795 from the hike in the beer tax, and $473,860 from reflective motor vehicle license plate fees.

Major spending measure (from general fund monies) enacted thus far is the reflective license plates bill, which will cost $467.171.

College Of Osteopathy Recheck Bill Advances

A bill under which colleges of osteopathy which fail at an inspection could apply for reinspection after two years was advanced to the floor on an 8-0 vote of the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare Committee Monday

The measure, LB624, introduced by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, received the blessings of the State Medical Association and osteopath groups at a public hearing. No one opposed it.

The 1963 Legislature ordered inspection of Midwestern osteopath schools for accreditation but made no provision for reinspection should the colleges fail.

Inspections

The State Board of Examiners in Medicine and Surgery made the inspections and last week reported to the State Health Board that none of the five colleges inspected met minimum requirements.

The health board accepted the report, meaning graduates of the osteopath colleges do not qualify to take the examination to practice medicine in Nebraska.

Under LB624, the osteopath colleges which failed at inspection would have to receive written notice of the reasons for failure and would have the opportunity to apply for reinspection after two years The measure also reveals the requirement of graduation from approved schools to take the osteopathy examination

Regulation

In other action, the committee advanced a bill LB490 providing for the regulation and control of cleansing agents and detergents to protect underground and surface waters from pollution

The measure, introduced by Sens. Harold Stryker of Rising City and George Gerdes of Alliance, would ban sale or distribution after June 30 of detergents which do not meet certain standards of decomposibility.

Similar legislation was introduced two years ago but was killed at that time because precise information on possible detrimental effects of the detergents on health was lacking

Also Advanced

Also advanced were

LB874—revising only slightly the law detering municipal annexation of industrial areas. In advancing the bill, the committee struck a provision which would have made the law apply to Lincoln and Omaha

LB428—revising and tightening requirements and regulations of licensed optometrists and schools of optometry

MORE THAN 400 DENTISTS HERE FOR STATE MEETING

More than 400 Nebraska dentists are attending the Nebraska Dental Association meeting here through Wednesday.

This is the ninety-seventh annual convention held by the dentists and it is held in conjunction with the annual meetings of the Dental Hygienists and the Dental Assistants Associations.

Besides the several lectures, demonstrations and meetings, the association discusses such problems as fluoridation, shortages of dentists, and promotion of new techniques in dental care

Waggener President

The selection of officers for the new year placed Lincolnite Dr Donald T. Waggener in the office of president: Dr. Lyle W Furst of York, president-elect. Dr. F. J. Brown of Genoa, is the immediate past-president.

Other 1965 officers elected were Drs. Don Taylor of Alliance, vice-president; Don Edwards of Lincoln, secretary; Herb Jackson, Beatrice, treasurer, and Harold Hellweg, Lincoln, speaker of the house.

A growing issue among the dentists is the rate at which Nebraska School of Denistry students are leaving the state. To combat this problem the association created the Council on Student Placement to assist Nebraska graduates to obtain practices within the state.

Dr. Furst observed that with the decreasing number of graduates remaining in the state, a serious shortage of dentists is developing. This shortage affects the western part of the state the most at the present time.

Dr Furst said the council has shown results within the last year and he hopes the state may be able to retain more of its graduates in the future.

Dental Fraternity Elects Dr. Troia

Dr. J A. Troia of Bellevue is the new grand master of the Nebraska chapter of Delta Sigma Delta, national dental fraternity.

Serving with Dr. Troia during the new year are: Drs. T. J. Cruise of Valentine, worthymaster; Arlo Dunn of Omaha, scribe; Harry Weber of Lincoln, treasurer: Bert Dienstbier of Omaha, historian Keith Abbot of Columbus, senior page, Phil Maschka of Omaha junior page: Gordon Pejsar of Lincoln, tyler.

The membership also voted a certificate of recognition to Dr. Dunn for his meritorious service to the profession.

Statehouse Hit By Small Blaze

The fire, which was caused by sparks from a welder's torch was confined to a window drapery.

Spokesmen for the library said that fast and careful action by the Fire Department prevented damage to valuable books that were on nearby shelves.

Road Dept. Faces Dilemma

The State Department of Roads faces a dollar dilemma unless the Legislature clarifies the act increasing the gasoline tax one-half cent per gallon

That was the report of State Highway Engineer John Hossack Monday to the Highway Advisory Commission.

Hossack said the Legislature passed the bill with the emergency clause attached last month, meaning it took effect immediately.

Thus, state law provides that the department must distribute the March gas tax receipts under the new rate outlined in the bill, yet the tax was collected under the old seven cents per gallon level

Loss

Hossack said this would result in a loss to the department of between $200 000 and $250.000, and cause some project problems.

He said it was an apparent oversight on the part of the Legislature and the department. He said it was intended that the new formula take effect in April, not March.

The department's legal staff has drawn corrective legislation, and will seek to get it introduced, Hossack said.

The bill increasing the gas tax to 7½ cents stipulates that 80% of the new revenue go to incorporated cties and 20% to the counties for road improvements.

The department, however, has already obligated March tax collections under the old formula

It was also pointed out that the Legislature did not specify just how the uncommitted money in the state highway urban fund should be spent

Abolished

The $720.000 fund was abolished when the gas tax bill was passed

On another but related front, Hossack said an attorney general's opinion stating that the highway department must distribute gas tax receipts at the end of the month, not the following month could cause some bid letting problems.

Previously, the department distributed taxes collected during one month the first of the following month.

Hossack said some $2 1 million could lapse into the 1965-67 biennium if the Legislature does not see fit to clarify the distribution procedure He said this could cause some delay in early bid lettings under the 1965-67 road-building program.

3-Member Committee

The commission appointed a three-member committee to work with the Legislature in starting a comprehensive study of the state's urban streets and country roads

Members are J. R. McBride of Minden, commission chairman, Daniel Ramsey of Scottsbluff, and Kirk Mendenhall of North Platte.

The Legislature last week authorized a $300 000 study of highway needs classification and financing It will be conducted by a private engineering firm under the general supervision of a special legislative study committee

The committee will report its findings to the 1967 Legislature

Unit Urges Adding Of Six Miles

The Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission recommended Monday six miles of new highway be added to the state road system

Involved are two separate projects costing more than $350.000.

The roads are a connection from U.S. 34 to the Phillips interchange in Hamilton County, three miles; and a connection from U.S. 136 to U.S. 77 near Beatrice, three miles.

They were the first additions outside of Interstate access routes to the 9.200-mile system since 1959

Commissioner Thane Davis of Thedford opposed the Beatrice project. He said the southeast Nebraska city now has five highways leading into it, and that projects in other parts of the state are needed first.

State Engineer John Hossack said that local supporters of the Hamilton County project have offered to put up $43.000 of local federal-aid funds for the new road.

The commission decided that the state will pay only 25% of the Beatrice project.

Act NOW!

OR PAY AN EXTRA 10% ON YOUR TELEPHONE BILL PERMANENTLY!

Enacted 22 years ago as a "temporary" wartime measure, the telephone excise tax becomes a permanent part of this nation's tax structure unless it is eliminated by Congress this year. Otherwise you will pay an extra 10c on every $1.00 you spend for telephone service.

So this is it. This is your last chance to protest this tax to your Congressman. Ask for its repeal now, before Congress votes on excise taxes this spring. Remember, YOU pay the telephone tax. Your telephone company merely collects it for the federal government. Therefore, its removal would be a direct benefit to you, the telephone user.

Spend 10 minutes writing your Congressman today to SAVE 10 per cent on every telephone dollar in the future.

College Of Osteopathy Recheck Bill Advances

A bill under which colleges of osteopathy which fail at an inspection could apply for reinspection after two years was advanced to the floor on an 8-0 vote of the Legislature's Public Health and Welfare Committee Monday.

The measure, LB624, introduced by Scottsbluff Sen. Terry Carpenter, received the blessings of the State Medical Association and osteopath groups at a public hearing. No one opposed it.

The 1963 Legislature ordered inspection of Midwestern osteopath schools for accreditation but made no provision for reinspection should the colleges fail.

The State Board of Examiners in Medicine and Surgery made the inspections and last week reported to the State Health Board that none of the five colleges inspected met minimum requirements.

The health board accepted the report, meaning graduates of the osteopath colleges do not qualify to take the examination to practice medicine in Nebraska.

Under LB624, the osteopath colleges which failed at inspection would have to receive written notice of the reasons for failure and would have the opportunity to apply for reinspection after two years. The measure also repeals the requirement of graduation from approved schools to take the osteopathy examination.

Road Dept. Faces Dilemma

That was the report of State Highway Engineer John Hossack Monday to the Highway Advisory Commission.

Hossack said the Legislature passed the bill with the emergency clause attached last month, meaning it took effect immediately.

Thus, state law provides that the department must distribute the March gas tax receipts under the new rate outlined in the bill, yet the tax was collected under the old seven cents per gallon level

Abolished

The $720,000 fund was abolished when the gas tax bill was passed.

On another but related front, Hossack said an attorney general's opinion stating that the highway department must distribute gas tax receipts at the end of the month, not the following month, could cause some bid letting problems.

Previously, the department distributed taxes collected during one month the first of the following month.

Hossack said some $2.1 million could lapse into the 1965-67 biennium if the Legislature does not see fit to clarify the distribution procedure. He said this could cause some delay in early bid lettings under the 1965-67 road-building program.

3-Member Committee

The commission appointed a three-member committee to work with the Legislature in starting a comprehensive study of the state's urban streets and country roads.

Members are J. R. McBride of Minden, commission chairman, Daniel Ramsey of Scottsbluff, and Kirk Mendenhall of North Platte.

The Legislature last week authorized a $300,000 study of highway needs, classification and financing. It will be conducted by a private engineering firm, under the general supervision of a special legislative study commttee.

The committee will report its findings to the 1967 Legislature.

Unit Urges Adding Of Six Miles

The Nebraska Highway Advisory Commission recommended Monday six miles of new highway be added to the state road system.

Involved are two separate projects costing more than $350,000.

The roads are a connection from U.S. 34 to the Phillips interchange in Hamilton County, three miles; and a connection from U.S. 136 to U.S. 77 near Beatrice, three miles.

They were the first additions outside of Interstate access routes to the 9,200-mile system since 1959.

Commissioner Thane Davis of Thedford opposed the Beatrice project. He said the southeast Nebraska city now has five highways leading into it, and that projects in other parts of the state are needed first.

State Engineer John Hossack said that local supporters of the Hamilton County project have offered to put up $43,000 of local federal-aid funds for the new road.

The commission decided that the state will pay only 25% of the Beatrice project.

Asthma Formula Prescribed Most By Doctors—Available Now Without Prescription

Stops Attacks in Minutes . . . Relief Lasts for Hours!

New York, N.Y. (Special)—The asthma formula prescribed more than any other by doctors for their private patients is now available to asthma sufferers without prescription.

Medical tests proved this formula stops asthma attacks in minutes and gives hours of freedom from recurrence of painful asthma spasms.

This formula is so effective that it is the physicians' leading asthma prescription—so safe when used as directed that now it can be sold—without prescription in most states—in tiny tablets called Primatene®. These Primatene Tablets open bronchial tubes, loosen congestion, relieve taut nervous tension. All without painful injections.

Act NOW!

OR PAY AN EXTRA 10% ON YOUR TELEPHONE BILL PERMANENTLY!

Enacted 22 years ago as a "temporary" wartime measure, the telephone excise tax becomes a permanent part of this nation's tax structure unless it is eliminated by Congress this year. Otherwise you will pay an extra 10c on every $1.00 you spend for telephone service.

So this is it. This is your last chance to protest this tax to your Congressman. Ask for its repeal now, before Congress votes on excise taxes this spring. Remember, YOU pay the telephone tax. Your telephone company merely collects it for the federal government. Therefore, its removal would be a direct benefit to you, the telephone user.

Spend 10 minutes writing your Congressman today to SAVE 10 per cent on every telephone dollar in the future.

Budget Committee Criticized For 'Wheeling And Dealing'

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

A member of the Legislature's Budget Committee Monday criticized that body for what she called "much wheeling and dealing" outside the committee.

Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, a four-term lawmaker, also accused the committee of attempting to usurp the function of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

She said: "I strongly disapprove of these practices. No good can come from this type of action."

According to Mrs. Orme, the Budget Committee has made some of its key decisions outside formal committee sessions. She said this is contrary to the general rules of the Legislature.

"I think decisions should be made within the committee. There was much wheeling and dealing going on this time outside the committee," she said.

"I have attended all of the regular Budget Committee meetings, but I have not had a role in the decisions made outside the committee."

Regents' Role

On the other front, Mrs. Orme said the committee has tried to "take over" the function of the Board of Regents by tying fund recommendations to specific projects, and by building student tuition increases into the school's 1965-67 biennium budget.

"The Constitution of Nebraska states that the general government of the University of Nebraska shall be vested in a board of six regents, not the committee,' she said.

"The committee is attempting to get into the act by taking over the Board of Regents' role."

Mrs. Orme, who has served on the Budget Committee for three terms, said never before has the committee tried to exert such heavy influence on the university. She said the Board of Regents is perfectly capable of determining the wise expenditure of public funds and other public matters pertaining to the university.

The Lincoln lawmaker also disclosed that she was the lone senator to dissent from the Budget Committee's proposed six-year, $68.5 million capital construction program.

She said she intends to continue the battle for passage of LB826 despite the university's endorsement of the committee's program.

Under LB826, the university would be authorized to issue $25 million in long-term revenue bonds. The bonds would be backed directly by student tuition fees and indirectly by the Legislature for the next 20 to 25 years.

The validity of the bill has been questioned by the attorney general's office in light of the state's long-standing prohibition against debt in excess of $100,000.

Other senatorial reaction to the capital construction program, unveiled last Friday, was more mild.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha viewed it as "too high," but Sen. Albert A. Kjar of Lexington said it "appears to recognize the need for expansion."

Klaver pledged to 'do everything possible to cut these substantial increases. The only thing the Legislature can do is go over the budget point by point, item by item and slash wherever humanly possible."

North Platte Sen. Cecil J. Craft liked the "long-term" approach embodied in the committee's program.

WORD IS OUT

The word is out to San Francisco cable car crews to let the girls ride the steps, if they insist. Here Sandy Krentzman of Los Angeles insists and uses only one hand to ride the Powell Street cable car. It has been a rule that women were not allowed to stand on steps, but recently a University of California coed insisted on standing, saying no such ruling exists. Whereupon municipal railway manager Vernon W. Anderson plowed through the rule books—sure enough, no rule.

Auto Safety Checks Bill Return Nixed

The Nebraska Legislature Monday vetoed revival of a committee-killed bill which would have required annual safety inspections of motor vehicles in the state.

A motion by Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. to override the Public Works Committee and bring LB572 to the floor was rejected 15-28 after nearly an hour of oratory.

The bill, introduced by Sens. Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell. Pat Moulton of Omaha. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln and Pedersen, had been killed in committee on a 5-1 vote.

Sen. Pedersen said six per cent of all accidents in Nebraska are caused by equipment failures, and on the high speed Interstate Highway, this figure becomes 13%.

He said approximately 20 states and the District of Columbia have vehicle inspection laws; that if the states do not meet the problem, the federal government may step in, and that motorists voluntarily will not have the inspections made.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte, Public Works Committee chairman, said the inspection will cost Nebraskans about $2 million a year. He said proportionate benefits will not be realized and noted that Colorado, which has had an inspection law for years, has a 20% higher death rate per miles travelled than does Nebraska.

Sen. Whitney challenged the $2 million cost. Although garages could charge up to $2 for inspecting most cars, and up to $3 for larger vehicles, many garages would not charge more than the 25 cent fee which would go to the state, he maintained.

Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion in opposing revival, stressed that the law merely would give garages "900,000 built-in customers," required to come in and have their vehicles inspected. The 900,000 figure refers to the number of motor vehicles licensed in Nebraska.

Installation To Open Medical Session Tuesday

Omaha (AP) — The House of Delegates of the 97th annual session of the Nebraska State Medical Association organized Monday with appointment of committees and assignment of their work for the convention.

The main session will open Tuesday morning when Dr. Willis D. Wright of Omaha will be installed as president, Dr. R. E. Garlinghouse of Lincoln also will speak at the opening session.

Dr. Donovan F. Ward, of Dubuque, Iowa, president of the American Medical Association, will give the keynote talk Tuesday. A guest faculty of 21 physicians will present papers during the convention

Fifty-year pins will be presented to 18 physicians Wednesday by Dr. Wright.

Boundary Case Gets New Master

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday appointed a new master to handle a suit by Nebraska against Iowa in a controversy over their boundary line along a portion of the Missouri river.

J. Warren Madden had been named by the tribunal last February to serve as special master in the case, but he later resigned. The Supreme Court Monday named Walter L. Pope to succeed Madden. Pope is senior judge of the U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco.

The special master gathers evidence and assembles facts for a recommendation to the Supreme Court as to settlement of the dispute.

Nebraska charged in the suit, which was filed originally in the Supreme Court, that Iowa had sought to seize land for recreational development, in violation of a 1943 Iowa-Nebraska boundary compact.

Union, Cudahy Officials Adjourn Until Tuesday

Omaha (AP)—Representatives of Cudahy Packing Company and the United Packing House, Food and Allied Workers adjourned a negotiations meeting until Tuesday morning.

Neither side would make any statement at the adjournment Monday afternoon.

At issue is a work stoppage which has idled the company's Omaha plant since April 7. The union calls the stoppage a lockout, the company terms it an illegal strike.

Earlier Monday, some 500 workers, as they promised, reported for work. They were turned back by a sign at the plant which said no work was available because of strike.

Six-Year Capital Improvement Bill Sent To Unicam

The Legislature's Budget Committee, keeping a promise made Friday, delivered to the Legislature Monday the new bill setting up a six-year Capital improvement program it has recommended.

Details of the plan, calling for the expenditure of $23 million of state money for building construction in the next two years, financed by a 1.175 mill increase in the state's special building levies, were disclosed Friday. Over the six-year period, the program would involve some $68.5 million in state money.

The bill which would write the program into law became LB890.

Longtime Nebraska Educator Spencer M. Leger Dies At 77

Spencer M. Leger, 73, of 2809 Garfield, a longtime Nebraska educator, died Sunday in Omaha.

Mr. Leger, who had retired this year as superintendent at Walton, taught previously at Milford, Elmwood, Burchard, Sterling, and Avoca.

Working both as a superintendent and a coach he coached a Class C state champion baseball team and basketball team at Burchard, basketball and baseball teams at Sterling, several undefeated softball teams also at Sterling, and an undefeated girls basketball team at Milford

In 1924 he received his B.A. degree from Peru State college and his masterss degree from the University of Nebraska in 1940.

Mr. Leger was born in Garland and lived in Lincoln 11 years. He was a charter member of the American Legion, a member of Veterans of World War I, East Lincoln Lodge 210, AF&AM, Westminster Presbyterian, and the Retired Teachers Assn.

Budget Committee Criticized For 'Wheeling And Dealing'

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

A member of the Legislature's Budget Committee Monday criticized that body for what she called "much wheeling and dealing" outside the committee.

Mrs. Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln, a four-term lawmaker, also accused the committee of attempting to usurp the function of the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

She said: "I strongly disapprove of these practices. No good can come from this type of action."

According to Mrs. Orme, the Budget Committee has made some of its key decisions outside formal committee sessions. She said this is contrary to the general rules of the Legislature.

"I think decisions should be made within the committee. There was much wheeling and dealing going on this time outside the committee," she said.

"I have attended all of the regular Budget Committee meetings, but I have not had a role in the decisions made outside the committee."

Regents' Role

On the other front, Mrs. Orme said the committee has tried to "take over" the function of the Board of Regents by tying fund recommendations to specific projects, and by building student tuition increases into the school's 1965-67 biennium budget.

"The Constitution of Nebraska states that the general government of the University of Nebraska shall be vested in a board of six regents, not the committee,' she said.

"The committee is attempting to get into the act by taking over the Board of Regents' role."

Mrs. Orme, who has served on the Budget Committee for three terms, said never before has the committee tried to exert such heavy influence on the university. She said the Board of Regents is perfectly capable of determining the wise expenditure of public funds and other public matters pertaining to the university.

The Lincoln lawmaker also disclosed that she was the lone senator to dissent from the Budget Committee's proposed six-year, $68.5 million capital construction program.

She said she intends to continue the battle for passage of LB826 despite the university's endorsement of the committee's program.

Under LB826, the university would be authorized to issue $25 million in long-term revenue bonds. The bonds would be backed directly by student tuition fees and indirectly by the Legislature for the next 20 to 25 years.

The validity of the bill has been questioned by the attorney general's office in light of the state's long-standing prohibition against debt in excess of $100,000.

Other senatorial reaction to the capital construction program, unveiled last Friday, was more mild.

Sen. Sam Klaver of Omaha viewed it as "too high," but Sen. Albert A. Kjar of Lexington said it "appears to recognize the need for expansion."

Klaver pledged to 'do everything possible to cut these substantial increases. The only thing the Legislature can do is go over the budget point by point, item by item and slash wherever humanly possible."

North Platte Sen. Cecil I. Craft liked the "long-term" approach embodied in the committee's program.

Auto Safety Checks Bill Return Nixed

The Nebraska Legislature Monday vetoed revival of a committee-killed bill which would have required annual safety inspections of motor vehicles in the state.

A motion by Omaha Sen. Henry F. Pedersen Jr. to override the Public Works Committee and bring LB572 to the floor was rejected 15-28 after nearly an hour of oratory.

The bill, introduced by Sens. Ramey C. Whitney of Chappell, Pat Moulton of Omaha, Fern Hubbard Orme of Lincoln and Pedersen, had been killed in committee on a 5-1 vote.

Sen. Pedersen said six per cent of all accidents in Nebraska are caused by equipment failures, and on the high speed Interstate Highway, this figure becomes 13%.

He said approximately 20 states and the District of Columbia have vehicle inspection laws; that if the states do not meet the problem, the federal government may step in, and that motorists voluntarily will not have the inspections made.

Sen. Cecil Craft of North Platte, Public Works Committee chairman, said the inspection will cost Nebraskans about $2 million a year. He said proportionate benefits will not be realized and noted that Colorado, which has had an inspection law for years, has a 20% higher death rate per miles travelled than does Nebraska.

Sen. Whitney challenged the $2 million cost. Although garages could charge up to $2 for inspecting most cars, and up to $3 for larger vehicles, many garages would not charge more than the 25 cent fee which would go to the state, he maintained.

Sen. Dale Payne of Papillion in opposing revival, stressed that the law merely would give garages "900,000 built-in customers," required to come in and have their vehicles inspected. The 900,000 figure refers to the number of motor vehicles licensed in Nebraska.

Opticians Name Sawyer As Head

Omaha (AP)— Barnard Sawyer of Grand Island is the new president of the Nebraska Society of Dispensing Opticians.

WORD IS OUT

The word is out to San Francisco cable car crews to let the girls ride the steps, if they insist. Here Sandy Krentzman of Los Angeles insists and uses only one hand to ride the Powell Street cable car. It has been a rule that women were not allowed to stand on steps, but recently a University of California coed insisted on standing, saying no such ruling exists. Whereupon municipal railway manager Vernon W. Anderson plowed through the rule books—sure enough, no rule.

Installation To Open Medical Session Tuesday

Omaha (AP) — The House of Delegates of the 97th annual session of the Nebraska State Medical Association organized Monday with appointment of committees and assignment of their work for the convention.

The main session will open Tuesday morning when Dr. Willis D. Wright of Omaha will be installed as president, Dr. R. E. Garlinghouse of Lincoln also will speak at the opening session.

Dr. Donovan F. Ward, of Dubuque, Iowa, president of the American Medical Association, will give the keynote talk Tuesday. A guest faculty of 21 physicians will present papers during the convention

Fifty-year pins will be presented to 18 physicians Wednesday by Dr. Wright.

Boundary Case Gets New Master

Washington (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday appointed a new master to handle a suit by Nebraska against Iowa in a controversy over their boundary line along a portion of the Missouri river.

J. Warren Madden had been named by the tribunal last February to serve as special master in the case, but he later resigned. The Supreme Court Monday named Walter L. Pope to succeed Madden. Pope is senior judge of the U.S. Circuit Court in San Francisco.

The special master gathers evidence and assembles facts for a recommendation to the Supreme Court as to settlement of the dispute.

Nebraska charged in the suit, which was filed originally in the Supreme Court, that Iowa had sought to seize land for recreational development, in violation of a 1943 Iowa-Nebraska boundary compact.

Union, Cudahy Officials Adjourn Until Tuesday

Omaha (AP)—Representatives of Cudahy Packing Company and the United Packing House, Food and Allied Workers adjourned a negotiations meeting until Tuesday morning.

Neither side would make any statement at the adjournment Monday afternoon.

At issue is a work stoppage which has idled the company's Omaha plant since April 7. The union calls the stoppage a lockout, the company terms it an illegal strike.

Earlier Monday, some 500 workers, as they promised, reported for work. They were turned back by a sign at the plant which said no work was available because of strike.

Six-Year Capital Improvement Bill Sent To Unicam

The Legislature's Budget Committee, keeping a promise made Friday, delivered to the Legislature Monday the new bill setting up a six-year Capital improvement program it has recommended.

Details of the plan, calling for the expenditure of $23 million of state money for building construction in the next two years, financed by a 1.175 mill increase in the state's special building levies, were disclosed Friday. Over the six-year period, the program would involve some $68.5 million in state money.

The bill which would write the program into law became LB890.

Stock Market Closes Mixed

In the [illegible] market [illegible] issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange [illegible] 546. New highs for the year totaled [illegible] and new lows [illegible].

Trading was moderately active with volume at 5.41 million shares compared with 5.86 million Friday.

Published reports reached Wall Street to the effect that new approaches were being considered in the deadlocked steel labor negotiations and that after that an agreement had been reached on a means of averting the strike on May 1. The steel stocks staged a [illegible] rally.

Selective improvement occurred elsewhere in the list. Airlines, tobaccos and drugs were generally higher. The international oils settled backward a bit as profits were taken on their strength of last week.

Most aerospace-defense issues showed little response to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's statements in regard to the Viet Nam situation, although Boeing advanced 2⅜.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been down as much as 2.20 at noon, made a strong comeback to close with a net gain of .45 at 916.86.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .01 at 88.89.

Texas Gulf Sulphur's predicament, with suits pending by the Securities & Exchange commission and some shareholders because of alleged insider trading in its stock, continued to loom large in Wall Street. Texas Gulf was the most active stock, down 3⅜ at 64⅝ on 134,600 shares.

Chrysler was heavily traded as it went ex-rights to subscribe to its 5.6-million-share stock offering. Chrysler was credited with a gain of ⅝.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher. Volume was 2.16 million shares compared with 2.37 million Friday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Corn, Oats Climb To Season Peaks

Chicago (AP) — Two grains climbed to season highs and two slipped to season lows Monday in fairly active trading in the futures market. Soybeans finished weak after starting on a firm range.

Corn and oats posted the season peaks, wheat and rye the lows. All oats deliveries and new crop corn moved up about a cent on support credited largely to speculators. A moderate commercial demand absorbed rather light offerings in May and July corn but gains there did not exceed small fractions.

At the close, soybeans were 1¼ to 2 cents a bushel lower, May $2.95⅝-96; wheat ⅜-⅝ lower, May $1.47⅝; corn ¼-⅞ higher, May $1.33⅝-⅝; oats ⅞-1¼ higher, May 73⅞-74 cents; rye ½-⅞ lower, May $1.16⅞.

Fireman Notices Bedroom Blaze, Calls Colleagues

The blaze was discovered when a passing fireman spotted smoke coming from the house and turned in the alarm.

A cigarette which had fallen on a sofa was apparently responsible for the fire, according to spokesmen for the Fire Department.

Gallant Bobby Kennedy Thrills University Coeds

"Bobby Kennedy is going to be president someday, and he's going to be able to do it even if he does not get a single male vote."

At least that is what Capt. Charles Gorlinski, who escorted 30 University of Nebraska co-eds on a trip to Washington, D.C., to compete in the National Co-ed Drill Championship, says.

Gorlinski said his "girls," Cadence Countesses at the University of Nebraska ROTC Department who placed third in the nation in precision drill, decided to do some political sightseeing during their Easter holiday in the nation's capital.

Bobby Walks Past

The girls were talking to Nebraska Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska and Rep. Clair Callan on the steps of the Capitol. While they were talking and shaking hands, Sen. Robert Kennedy walked past them.

"You couldn't believe it," Gorlinski said. "All thirty girls just disappeared and the next thing I knew they had surrounded Bobby Kennedy.

Sens. Curtis and Hruska, a dazed look on their faces, were still holding their hands out to be shook wondering what had happened to the thirty cornfed beauties. Clair Callan was standing there laughing so hard at the whole thing that I thought he would fall down the steps.

"One of the girls, Marian Fisher, who is a real small gal, was trying to fight her way forward through the rest of the girls so that she could shake Kennedy's hand. But she didn't quite make it. Bobby finished shaking the rest of the girls' hands and started walking away.

Pathetic Yell

"About this time, little Miss Fisher, who had fought and climbed to the front of the group, let out a pathetic yell of: 'Mr. Kennedy, I missed you, I missed you; I didn't get to shake your hand.' "Bobby Kennedy turned around, started walking towards little Marian Fisher and said: 'Oh no, my dear. You are wrong. It was I who missed you. Please forgive me.' And he shook her hand."

This can reduce or even eliminate the need for cultivating because Atrazine takes care of problem weeds and grasses for you. Control lasts not just for a few weeks, but for the entire season.

The idea is to spray Atrazine right after sorghum has emerged but before weeds are 1½ inches high. Your crop will be able to go through an entire season without weed competition for moisture and soil nutrients. The result? Higher yields and more profit for you. Contact your local supplier now for Atrazine.

Stock Market Closes Mixed

New York (AP)—Hopes that a steel strike might be averted by Friday's midnight deadline accompanied Monday a stock market recovery which canceled an early loss. The list was irregular at the close.

Slight gains by the Dow Jones industrial average and Standard & Poor's 500-stock index put these indicators at record closing highs for the third straight session.

In the over-all market of 1,370 issues traded on the New York Stock Exchange, however, losers totaled 550 and gainers 546. New highs for the year totaled 132 and new lows 22.

Trading was moderately active, with volume at 5.41 million shares compared with 5.89 million Friday.

Published reports reached Wall Street to the effect that new approaches were being considered in the deadlocked steel labor negotiations and later that an agreement had been reached on a means of averting the strike on May 1. The steel stocks staged a mild rally.

Selective improvement occurred elsewhere in the list. Airlines, tobaccos and drugs were generally hgiher. The international oils settled backward a bit as profits were taken on their strength of last week.

Most aerospace defense issues showed little response to Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's statements in regard to the Viet Nam situation, although Boeing advanced 2⅜.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which had been down as much as 2.20 at noon, made a strong comeback to close with a net gain of .45 at 916.86.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .01 at 88.89.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks closed unchanged at 338.8 with industrials up 1.0 to a record high, rails up .1 and utilities off 1.1.

Texas Gulf Sulphur's predicament, with suits pending by the Securities & Exchange commission and some shareholders because of alleged insider trading in its stock, continued to loom large in Wall Street. Texas Gulf was the most active stock, down 3⅜ at 64⅛ on 134,400 shares.

Chrysler was heavily traded as it went ex-rights to subscribe to its 5.6-million-share stock offering. Chrysler was credited with a gain of ⅝.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were irregularly higher. Volume was 2.16 million shares compared with 2.37 million Friday.

Corporate bonds were mixed. U.S. government bonds were mostly unchanged.

Corn, Oats Climb To Season Peaks

Chicago (AP) — Two grains climbed to season highs and two slipped to season lows Monday in fairly active trading in the futures market. Soybeans finished weak after starting on a firm range.

Corn and oats posted the season peaks, wheat and rye the lows. All oats deliveries and new crop corn moved up about a cent on support credited largely to speculators. A moderate commercial demand absorbed rather light offerings in May and July corn but gains there did not exceed small fractions.

At the close, soybeans were ¼ to 2 cents a bushel lower, May $2.95⅝-96; wheat ⅛-⅝ lower, May $1.47⅜; corn ¼-⅞ higher, May $1.33⅝-¾; oats ⅞-1¼ higher, May 73⅞-74 cents; rye ½-⅞ lower, May $1.16⅞.

Fireman Notices Bedroom Blaze, Calls Colleagues

The blaze was discovered when a passing fireman spotted smoke coming from the house and turned in the alarm.

A cigarette which had fallen on a sofa was apparently responsible for the fire, according to spokesmen for the Fire Department.

Gallant Bobby Kennedy Thrills University Coeds

"Bobby Kennedy is going to be president someday, and he's going to be able to do it even if he does not get a single male vote."

At least that is what Capt. Charles Gorlinski, who escorted 30 University of Nebraska co-eds on a trip to Washington, D.C., to compete in the National Co-ed Drill Championship, says.

Gorlinski said his "girls," Cadence Countesses at the University of Nebraska ROTC Department who placed third in the nation in precision drill, decided to do some political sightseeing during their Easter holiday in the nation's capital.

Bobby Walks Past

The girls were talking to Nebraska Sens. Carl Curtis and Roman Hruska and Rep. Clair Callan on the steps of the Capitol. While they were talking and shaking hands, Sen. Robert Kennedy walked past them.

"You couldn't believe it," Gorlinski said. "All thirty girls just disappeared and the next thing I knew they had surrounded Bobby Kennedy.

Sens. Curtis and Hruska, a dazed look on their faces, were still holding their hands out to be shook wondering what had happened to the thirty cornfed beauties. Clair Callan was standing there laughing so hard at the whole thing that I thought he would fall down the steps.

"One of the girls, Marian Fisher, who is a real small gal, was trying to fight her way forward through the rest of the girls so that she could shake Kennedy's hand. But she didn't quite make it. Bobby finished shaking the rest of the girls' hands and started walking away.

Pathetic Yell

"About this time, little Miss Fisher, who had fought and climbed to the front of the group, let out a pathetic yell of: 'Mr. Kennedy, I missed you, I missed you; I didn't get to shake your hand.' "Bobby Kennedy turned around, started walking towards little Marian Fisher and said: 'Oh no, my dear. You are wrong. It was I who missed you. Please forgive me.' And he shook her hand."

Spray Atrazine to control weeds and grasses in sorghum.

One spray of Atrazine 80W herbicide controls most annual broadleaf weeds and grasses in sorghum for the entire season.

This can reduce or even eliminate the need for cultivating because Atrazine takes care of problem weeds and grasses for you. Control lasts not just for a few weeks, but for the entire season.

The idea is to spray Atrazine right after sorghum has emerged but before weeds are 1½ inches high. Your crop will be able to go through an entire season without weed competition for moisture and soil nutrients. The result? Higher yields and more profit for you. Contact your local supplier now for Atrazine.

3 KU KLUX KLANSMEN MAKE INNOCENT PLEA

Hayneville, Ala. (AP)—Three Ku Klux Klansmen pleaded innocent Monday to charges of premeditated murder in the killing of a Detroit woman, shot to death near here after taking part in a civil rights march

Called to trial first was Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala., youngest of the trio charged with the nightrider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a mother of five.

Wilkins will go on trial Monday in state court here.

He and the other two defendants, William Orville Eaton, 41, and Eugene Thomas, 42, both of bessemer, stood with upraised right hands and entered formal pleas before a state judge. Each will be tried separately.

Meanwhile, about 20 Negro demonstrators were injured when police broke up a street lie-in with tear gas and state tropers herded Negroes back inside a church following a march at Demopolis, Ala. None was reported seriously hurt.

Police Chief A. E. Cooper said the Negroes were injured when they were trampled by fellow marchers fleeing after the tear gas was fired. The demonstrators said they were hurt when pushed into a church by state troopers holding clubs horizontally with both hands in front of them.

Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., imperial wizard of United Klans of America Inc., sat at the counsel table with Klan attorney Matt H. Murphy Jr. of Birmingham before the proceedings began.

Murphy had a subpoena issued for President Lyndon B. Johnson and repeated his charges that the president's actions had prejudiced prospective jurors.

The subpoena, seeking to summon the president to the trial Monday, can only be served in Alabama. A Justice Department source said last week that Johnson could not be subpoenaed for the trial.

In other developments:

—Police at Parkesburg, Pa., reported rock-hurling gangs roamed the streets of the southeastern Pennsylvania community after the fatal shooting of a Negro youth. Police at nearby Coatesville said the outbreak was quelled quickly by local and state police. The dead youth was identified as Preston Ferguson, 17, of Parkesburg.

—A federal judge at Selma ruled that Sheriff James G. Clark of Selma could not be forced to testify in a Negro leader's move to have the sheriff held in contempt for allegedly interfering with Negro voter applicants.

—Boston police guarded two schools in a predominantly Negro area after a school official said it was a strange coincidence that fire broke out at one of the schools Saturday night after a huge civil rights march.

French Plane Crashes Next To East Germany

Berlin (AP)—A light French air force plane crash-landed in West Berlin near the border with Communist East Germany injuring two men, West Berlin police said.

The plane belonged to the French garrison in Berlin. Planes of this type often are used for observation flights along the border.

3 KU KLUX KLANSMEN MAKE INNOCENT PLEA

Hayneville, Ala. (AP)—Three Ku Klux Klansmen pleaded innocent Monday to charges of premeditated murder in the killing of a Detroit woman, shot to death near here after taking part in a civil rights march

Called to trial first was Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 21, of Fairfield, Ala., youngest of the trio charged with the nightrider slaying of Mrs. Viola Liuzzo, a mother of five.

Wilkins will go on trial Monday in state court here.

He and the other two defendants, William Orville Eaton, 41, and Eugene Thomas, 42, both of bessemer, stood with upraised right hands and entered formal pleas before a state judge. Each will be tried separately.

Meanwhile, about 20 Negro demonstrators were injured when police broke up a street lie-in with tear gas and state tropers herded Negroes back inside a church following a march at Demopolis, Ala. None was reported seriously hurt.

Police Chief A. E. Cooper said the Negroes were injured when they were trampled by fellow marchers fleeing after the tear gas was fired. The demonstrators said they were hurt when pushed into a church by state troopers holding clubs horizontally with both hands in front of them.

Robert M. Shelton Jr. of Tuscaloosa, Ala., imperial wizard of United Klans of America Inc., sat at the counsel table with Klan attorney Matt H. Murphy Jr. of Birmingham before the proceedings began.

Murphy had a subpoena issued for President Lyndon B. Johnson and repeated his charges that the president's actions had prejudiced prospective jurors.

The subpoena, seeking to summon the president to the trial Monday, can only be served in Alabama. A Justice Department source said last week that Johnson could not be subpoenaed for the trial.

In other developments:

—Police at Parkesburg, Pa., reported rock-hurling gangs roamed the streets of the southeastern Pennsylvania community after the fatal shooting of a Negro youth. Police at nearby Coatesville said the outbreak was quelled quickly by local and state police. The dead youth was identified as Preston Ferguson, 17, of Parkesburg.

—A federal judge at Selma ruled that Sheriff James G. Clark of Selma could not be forced to testify in a Negro leader's move to have the sheriff held in contempt for allegedly interfering with Negro voter applicants.

—Boston police guarded two schools in a predominantly Negro area after a school official said it was a strange coincidence that fire broke out at one of the schools Saturday night after a huge civil rights march.

French Plane Crashes Next To East Germany

Berlin (AP)—A light French air force plane crash-landed in West Berlin near the border with Communist East Germany, injuring two men, West Berlin police said.

The plane belonged to the French garrison in Berlin. Planes of this type often are used for observation flights along the border.

DID YOU KNOW THIS? IT'S A FACT:

On any wintry day 20-million people in the United States are suffering from a cold.

The Organization of American States comprises 21 nations of North, Central and South America and the Caribbean.

Some 97-million Americans will vacation by car in 1965. And they'll spend $23 million on trips totaling 140-billion miles.

Since 1961, 110,000 Americans have applied for service in the Peace Corps. More than 10,000 have served; 3,000 continue to volunteer each month; Peace Corpsmen and women have been sent to 46 countries; 23 other nations are on the waiting list; and the backlog of requests for volunteers from foreign governments surpasses 50,000

The Loxahatchee National Wildlife Refuge is a 228-square-mile watery wilderness southwest of Palm Beach.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
